

BIGGEST TEAM TITLE IN BADMINTON

Team India scales the peak with first ever Thomas Cup

Sen, Satwik-Chirag duo & Srikanth stun Indonesia in final

SHIVANI NAIK
MUMBAI, MAY 15

THE VAGUE whiff of a dream turned to reality as the week wore on, and India inched closer to the impossible — Thomas Cup, the ultimate team title in badminton. A dozen players in Bangkok and their coaches, there and in India, believed throughout. It's a little secret that they've known for a month now: they were going to win the Thomas Cup. This was a date with destiny, meticulously envisioned and executed by India's most underrated and talented sportspersons — the men's badminton players. Kidambi Srikanth, Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty, Lakshya Sen and HS Prannoy. They have travelled

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Kidambi Srikanth (centre) celebrates with teammates after winning his decisive Thomas Cup match against Indonesia's Jonatan Christie on Sunday. AP FULL COVERAGE, PAGE 13

‘This is the real World Cup... proud of this team win’

PULLELA GOPICHAND
SPECIAL TO THE EXPRESS

THE MOST heartening aspect of India's Thomas Cup team today was watching Chirag Shetty-Satwiksairaj Rankireddy beat Mohammad Ahsan-Kevin Sanjaya Sukamuljo. All the previous times that our boys faced

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Gautam Adani with Holcim CEO Jan Jenisch in Ahmedabad, Sunday. PTI

Biggest infra materials deal: Holcim's India biz is Adani's for $10.5 billion

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, MAY 15

THE ADANI group has acquired Zurich-based Holcim's cement business in India for $10.5 billion (about Rs 81,000 crore) in India's largest ever M&A transaction in the infrastructure and materials space.

Through its subsidiaries, Holcim holds 63.19% in Ambuja Cements Ltd and 54.53% in ACC Ltd (of which 50.05% is held through Ambuja Cements). This is the largest ever acquisition by Adani, which beat the JSW and Aditya Birla groups to the deal.

Holcim's exit from India follows several high-profile departures of multinational companies, including Ford, General Motors, Harley Davidson, MAN Truck,

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

WORLDU.S.: GUNMAN KILLS 10 IN LIVESTREAMED RACIST ATTACK*PAKISTAN: TWO SIKH BUSINESSMEN SHOT DEAD PAGE 10CONG BRAINSTORMING SESSION ENDS

Rahul admits people connect lost, Sonia announces all-India yatra

MANOJ CG
UDAIPUR, MAY 15

HAVING SUFFERED staggering election defeats since 2014 under his leadership and that of his mother Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi on Sunday admitted that the Congress's "connection" with the people is "broken", and needs to be repaired urgently.

To reestablish that connection, Sonia announced the party will undertake a Bharat yatra from October 2 this year. The party also announced a series of organisational reforms at the end of its three-day chintan

BUSINESS AS USUAL

BY UNNNY

shivir here to bring new and young faces into leadership roles. CONTINUED ON PAGE 2EXPLAINED Action remains to be seen

ADMISSION OF a "broken connection" and announcement of a Kanyakumari-to-Kashmir Yatra is acknowledgment of the need to go back to the people. But as always, the question of implementation remains.

CHINTAN SHIVIR: MORE REPORTS PAGE 5THE CITY*MERCURY INCHES TO 50 DEGREES IN SOME AREAS IN DELHI PAGE 4

‘The only way out is to fight for the cause of the people; a leader then emerges automatically’

BHUPINDER SINGH HOODA
CONGRESS LEADER PAGE 11PM VISITS LUMBINI TODAY

With Buddhist centre, India looks to bolster cultural ties to Nepal

YUBRAJ GHIMIRE & DIVYAA
KATHMANDU, NEW DELHI, MAY 15

PRIME MINISTER Narendra Modi will Monday travel to Lumbini in Nepal to participate in a ceremony to lay the foundation stone for a Buddhist cultural centre to coincide with Buddha Purnima.

Sources said PM Modi's brief visit to Lumbini — he is expected to be here between 10.30 am and 3.30 pm — is focused on bringing soft power to the centre stage of India-Nepal relations while also marking India's formal presence at the holy site that's barely 10 km away from the border.

The construction of the 'India

The site for India's Buddhist cultural centre. Yubraj Ghimire

International Centre for Buddhist Culture & Heritage' — to be undertaken by the International

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Entertainer & enigma, life was so much more than cricket for this reluctant star

PAGE 1 ANCHORSANDIP G
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

TWO DAYS before the 2009 World Cup, Andrew Symonds, after months of abstinence from the bottle, snuck out of the hotel room and drank deep into the night. The next morning, Australia's then captain Ricky Ponting confronted him and conveyed the message that he was flying back home.

Symonds was far from being hurt. "Once I had got home from England, and everything had settled down, it was a relief," he would later say. By that time, playing for his country had become a burden. "I felt like I was in a cage. Always under the microscope. I wasn't having fun anymore. I wasn't enjoying it," he had admitted.

ANDREW SYMONDS
1975-2022

However, world cricket could never get enough of the entertaining all-rounder who was the spine of the Aussie team that intimidated every side they played in the late 90s and early 2000.

Late on Saturday night, Symonds, 46, died in a car crash outside of Townsville in his home state of Queensland. He played 26 Tests and featured in 198 ODIs, scoring six centuries, while also contributing 133 wickets. The ultimate all-purpose player, the IPL champion was on the wish list of all T20 teams.

For Symonds, an unabashed hitter of the cricket ball, playing the game was all about finding joy. But somewhere in his time,

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Ride market volatility with Balanced Advantage Funds.

Give your portfolio a dynamic mix of equity and debt. Funds in the Balanced Advantage category aim to offer optimum market linked returns while helping you manage market volatility.

Diversify your investments with Balanced Advantage Funds

Contact your MFD/RIA.

BHAROSA APNO KA

An Investor Education Initiative by HDFC Mutual Fund

Visit <https://www.hdfcfund.com/information/key-know-how> to know more about the process to complete a one-time Know Your Customer (KYC) requirement to invest in Mutual Funds. Investors should only deal with registered Mutual Funds, details of which can be verified on the SEBI website (www.sebi.gov.in/intermediaries.html). For any queries, complaints & grievance redressal, investors may reach out to the AMCs and/or Investor Relations Officers. Additionally, investors may also lodge complaints on <https://scores.gov.in> if they are unsatisfied with the resolutions given by AMCs. SCORES portal facilitates investors to lodge complaint online with SEBI and subsequently view its status.

Mutual Fund investments are subject to market risks, read all scheme related documents carefully.

FROM PAGE ONE

Thomas Cup

to different outposts of the world, collecting experiences like globe-trotters collect magnets for the fridge door. Thomas Cup 2022 was within reach. They knew, they said as much, they hoped the country would believe, they didn't mind if it didn't. They were due this date — no matter what others reckoned.

On Sunday, India invited history for an elegant cup of tea, demolishing Thomas Cup royalty, Indonesia 3-0 in the finals. Denying them their 15th crown, while winning their first ever. Against all expectations. The reason why India's badminton fraternity read the tea leaves right was because it has closely watched and shepherded India's bunch of excellently proficient singles players, and built from scratch the doubles pairing of Chirag and Satwik.

There are parallels in India's sporting history. India's myriad gold-winning hockey teams. The 1983 World Cup cricket team. The 1971 men from West Indies who copped bouncers on helmet grilles. The 2001 Kolkata Test side that beat back a follow-on. It would be wrong to say the country, busy in getting by, was waiting-for these. If anything, a minority of two dozen at best nurtured and believed in these dreams.

Lakshya Sen shrugged off a week of being pumelled by a host of top names, to rally from a set down to beat Anthony Ginting 8-21, 21-17, 21-16 on the back of resolute confidence in his defence that ballooned into attacking swagger in the kills.

Then, the Satwik-Chirag doubles duo pulled out the most audacious win of the tie, beating the hallowed Md Ahsan-Kevin Sanjaya Sukamuljo combo 18-21, 23-21, 21-19. Guilty through this season of flubbing 20-18 leads, Satwik-Chirag reversed the trend, winning from four match points away from defeat. This was patiently fought back, as big man Satwiksairaj brought on his big powergame, to support the hopping energiser bunny Chirag Shetty, who has believed more than anyone else. Keeping their nerve, playing fearless badminton, backing their incredible talent, the young Indians gave India the 2-0 lead.

Nothing oozes more class than Kidambi Srikanth playing the match of his lifetime though he would later wisely refuse to compare his various wins ever since he beat Lin Dan in China. This time, he stamped his sheer class against Jonatan Christie, winning 21-15, 23-21. There were audacious reflex returns at the net. There was resistance from Christie in the second. And then there was the signature Srikanth shot, an NFT that will stay priceless in traditional currency or bitcoin: the set-up smash and then the charging follow-up as he ran to the net for the matchpoint.

There have been fewer things more inevitable in Indian sport than the Srikanth crosscourt smash that sealed the deal, though this one will get tattooed in millions of memories. It wasn't just a smash, it was a crosscourt smash, a dipping, history demanding, dominating, crosscourt, jump smash as he leapt in the air, and time stopped, to bring India its unforgettable Thomas Cup triumph. No one could stop jumping thereafter. No one could stop tears from flowing down.

Srikanth was asked why it mattered in a day and age when the Thomas Cup didn't carry any prize money. "Today after people watched us, they said 'India won the Thomas Cup'. Not that Srikanth won or Prannoy won. But India won. Not everyone has the privilege to experience this feeling," said the man with solid old-world ethics, unblemished by the pulls-and-pushes of commerce all around him.

Both Lakshya Sen in this tournament, and Satwik-Chirag over the last few months have copped some narrow losses that can break spirits. But on this day, all three fought from the brink, trailing a set each, clawing back from the valley of doom, to scale an ascent unprecedented in India's history. "Our record against the Indonesians was poor. But when it mattered, Satwik-Chirag delivered," coach Vimal Kumar said.

This was true of young Lakshya Sen, too. He braved a storm of losses — literally copping some big bruising losses, and then flew fast enough for the sand to fill up his nostrils against Ginting. Ginting is the circuit's fastest. Sen out-blitzed him.

India. Thomas Cup champs. Who'd've thunk? The players and their coaches sure did.

'Proud of team'

Kevin Sanjaya, they lost 11-0. It was as individuals. Today, they had Team India backing their efforts, planning and rooting for them. It made a difference, and this was a first where India played as a unit. Earlier, if Saina was playing, India wouldn't be there. And if Sindhu played, Saina wasn't around. If the doubles team played, the singles players weren't really invested. This was truly Team India's victory and I was so happy that Satwik-Chirag gave it back to the Indonesians.

In my mind, I knew this was possible, when you do the calculations. But whether it would actually be possible depended on the individual players, and today they pulled it off perfectly, which was wonderful to watch. When we speak of Indian team sport at the highest level, this is the real World Cup that India has won in a game spread globally and with fancied powerhouses. I am proud of being a badminton player today. This was coming for years, but things fell into place now. I might even believe in the magic of our players.

Indonesia, Malaysia, China and Denmark will be in shock tonight, wondering how India won. This will be reported for years. In Malaysia, they still recall stories of how they won a title in 1991 with the Sidek brothers, and they earned Datukhoods (similar to knighthoods) and acres of land. Legends were born. Mind you, the Indonesian and Malaysian teams, the moment they lost, are going to be wondering 'Can I go back home?'. You'll hear 'change the coach, change the association' calls in the aftermath. That's how much the Thomas Cup means to those badminton-crazy nations. Coaches fear for their jobs, and players get shredded. If you had told half the guys in my association the day before that India is winning the Thomas Cup, even they wouldn't believe it. And the players did.

In my time, we've lost 1-5 to Sri Lanka and 2-5 to Pakistan even. For us to qualify for the 16-team elite event used to be mighty, and when we beat Korea and Japan to qualify for that Thomas Cup and Uber Cup (for women) in 1999 Delhi, we thought that's great. Both Prakash (Padukone) sir and I used to play both singles and doubles, we didn't even have doubles specialists then. We would be given two Yonex T-shirts and we would be on our way to these events. So you can understand where we started and the enormity of this.

India's depth has been outstanding. And if there were five more singles, India would have still won. You shouldn't keep fretting about the big gold medal not coming in the Olympics, instead keep pushing in team events. Badminton Association of India, Sports Authority of India and the Government helped us in plans to push 10 players in Top 25 to build more depth. We didn't build this depth in the women's team. The women players would play their own matches and not care for the rest of the team. Saina and Sindhu didn't take the team along, we should have built that culture in the Uber Cup. That's the difference between bronze and gold.

This win comes from H S Prannoy and Kidambi Srikanth not taking their places for granted, also Srikanth and Lakshya Sen fighting for that one spot. But credit to the boys, they competed while helping each other. That's a huge generous quality. They've each had setbacks -- lost at Olympics, not qualified for Olympics, not been centre stage, lost big matches. That fire to prove a point has baked them a little more, which showed in their grit.

Opponents have begun to read Lakshya, and make life difficult for him. He was struggling at the corners, but he stood there and fought like a gladiator. That's character. Srikanth put incredible pressure on Jonatan Christie. It was the same in doubles. Our guys were fighting to be heroes; they were avoiding being labelled as "villains" in their countries.

It's been tough for India's male players with unfair comparisons with Saina and Sindhu. The Indian women raised the bar so much that a Super 500 win for the men barely registers now — getting into the Top 10, semis, quarters will never be big headlines. If they had lost the final today, all the excitement would have subsided. Lakshya made the All-England finals, but only winning it will put him on the same pedestal as Sindhu or Saina. So it's been tough.

There are players who get the chance and pounce on it, like Saina, Sindhu, Jwala (Gutta), and there are those that are not brave enough to make the most of the opportunity. Prannoy, Satwik Chirag, Srikanth, Lajshya proved they are brave enough to take that chance. Winning a final is being brave.

I will celebrate this win with my family tonight, but the real party will be at the academy tomorrow. But I'm going to wake up, and wonder 'What next?' These boys showing they can win the biggest title means I have to start thinking about the next difficult target.

I remember, Satwik's mother had come to me when he was young, she spoke of how she always dreamt of playing singles. Convincing the likes of Satwik, Dhruv, Krishna or even Gayatri that you can be a decent player in singles but a great one in doubles took effort. This title is validation that big things can happen in doubles. If these men don't clutter their minds with thoughts of money or count medals or becoming celebrities on social media, stay in the moment, play smart and aggressive, then great things will happen. If it's not a dream India dreamt actively, but now the country will live the dream with these amazing players.

(The writer is a Sydney Games Olympian, All England champion and national badminton head coach. He spoke to Shivani Naik) as cricket stepped into a more cut-throat, professional realm, he became a misfit.

Reluctant star

Along with the sport, the culture around Australian cricket was rapidly changing. Gone was the matey-ship of the Mark Taylor-Steve Waugh era, replaced by a regimented and structured environment of gnarled pros, wherein he felt as imprisoned as suffocated. He belonged to that in-between generation of cricket, wherein the game had not shed its rustic charm yet not fully embraced modernism. He felt vulnerable.

Former captain Mark Taylor summed up Symonds perfectly. "In a way he was a bit of an old-fashioned cricketer, who would not have been out of place playing in the '70s or '80s. He just wanted to entertain."

He was a cavalier in an era of confused roundheads. "I'm passionate about cricket, but it is not the be all and end all of my life. I like the outdoors, and I like having a good time," he once told the press.

As the calendar got busier and restrictions tighter, he craved that me-time. He hated all that new-age jazz — advertisements, sponsors, interview requests, endless team meetings — and in the rare time he got, he ravenously took to the bottle. "I would let nothing get in the way of it, and drank as though alcohol were to disappear from the face of the earth," said the cricketer whose only dream in cricket was to share a drink with his hero Keith Miller, who was as charismatic as he was colourful.

Inevitably, Symonds got branded a rebel, worse a trouble-maker.

Another era, another time, his rogue fishing trip to Darwin would have embellished his cult; the Brendon McCullum rant would have been applauded as a show of Aussie vigour; and him punching someone at the bar or shoulder-charging a streaker would have the world affectionately calling him "one of those characters".

Even the monkeygate incident, which would follow him everywhere, would have been perceived differently, or at least would not have spiralled into the melodrama it turned out to be. "I didn't realise the politics, the power, the money until this moment in my career. I didn't realise how powerful one player, one incident could be, how much money was at stake and the ramifications," he said, referring to the incident during India's tour of Australia in 2008.

Between January 2008 and 2009, he was at the heart of almost every cricketing scandal that brewed in Australia. He was projected as the metaphor of the decade that had crept into Australia's cricket culture. He was fined and sacked several times, made to apologise and made to sign an agreement that if found drunk, he would immediately be axed from the team, before the 2009 T20 World Cup. As it turned out, he did, and was axed forever.

But Symonds, typically, had no regrets. "The only real regret I have in cricket was signing that contract. If I had my time again I would have said, 'You know what? There is no way I'm signing that'," he later said.

Here, as well in the past, Symonds was just being Symonds. True to himself, his instincts and values, those that would have endeared him to the masses in a different era, he found himself judged by an era that was at odds with his spirit, like a bird imprisoned in a golden cage. He loved cricket, but perhaps he loved himself even more.

The crux of Symonds the cricketer was his own tussle with the changing times, a battle he was doomed to lose.

Rahul

As curtains came down on the brainstorming session, there were indications that Rahul is likely to return as Congress president later this year. While Sonia delivered a short speech, Rahul spoke at length.

The former Congress president attacked the BJP government at the Centre, accusing it of spreading hatred, pressuring the judiciary, arm-twisting the Election Commission, destroying institutions, and muzzling the media.

But his focus was more on preparing the party to "go back to the people"; he told the chintan shivir there were no "shortcuts" to revival.

The party will have to accept that its "connection" with the people has been snapped, and it should work towards reestablishing that connection, Rahul said. The entire focus of the Congress currently is on "internal matters" such as who is getting what post, he said, and asked the leaders to turn their attention towards the people.

"It is a complaint. Our entire discussion, our conversation...is about our internal matters...who is getting which post. Internally that is our focus. In today's time this internal focus will not work. Our focus should be external. We will have to turn our gaze to the people and we will have to go to the people. Not just for us...for the country...Be it our senior leaders, junior leaders, or workers, we should go to the people and sit with them without thinking about anything...," Rahul said.

"Their (the people's) issues...we should understand. And the connection that we used to have with the people...jo Congress party ka connection janta se toota hai usko hame accept karna padega... We will have to reestablish that connection...the people want that... They understand that only the Congress can take the country forward..."

The party will take out a yatra in October to strengthen the connection with the people, Rahul said. "That is the only way... Shortcuts will not help. It cannot be done through any shortcuts. It can only happen by shedding sweat. We can do it. You can do it. We have the ability and that is our DNA. This organisation has come out of the people and we will have to go to the people again," he said.

Sonia announced a "national Kanyakumari to Kashmir Bharat Jodo Yatra beginning on Gandhi Jayanti this year". "All of us will participate in it," she said. "The Yatra is to strengthen the bonds of social harmony that are under stress, to preserve the foundational values of our Constitution that are under assault and to highlight the day-to-day concerns of crores of our people."

Concluding her short address, Sonia said the party would surely overcome the challenges it faces. "We will overcome. We will overcome. We will overcome. That is our determination. That is our nav sankalp (new resolve). The Congress will have a new uday (rise). That is our nav sankalp," she said.

Rahul said his fight was against the ideology of the RSS-BJP and the "hatred and violence that they spread".

"For me it is the fight for my life... I cannot accept that hatred, violence and anger can be spread in our dear nation. We are up against some big forces. RSS and the BJP organisation, all the institutions... Don't think we are fighting against a political party. We are not fighting against a political party... the political party is just a part. We are fighting against every institution of India. We are fighting against the biggest crony capitalists... That is the fact," he said.

He was not afraid, Rahul said. "I am not scared of these forces. I don't care. I have not done corruption in my entire life. I haven't taken a single penny from Bharat mata. I am not scared of speaking the truth... Together we will defeat the BJP and the RSS organisations and their ideology," he said.

Some senior leaders and workers of the party sometimes feel depressed, Rahul said. "It is normal. The fight is not easy. Don't think the fight is easy."

Regional parties cannot take on the RSS-BJP, he said, "because this is a battle of ideologies". "You have seen the ideology of the RSS is fighting against the ideology of the Congress. BJP will talk about the Congress, its leaders and workers but will not talk about regional parties. Because they know that regional parties have a space but they cannot defeat the BJP.

Because they don't have an ideology. They have different approaches. We have a centralized approach. And our fight is about ideology."

"This is not a political fight. This is a fight for the future of the country and to save the country... It is our responsibility to go to the people and say you are being divided... and the country will be weakened because of that. No one will benefit. The country will suffer because of that," he said.

Nepal

Buddhist Confederation (IBC), India, with financial support from the Ministry of Culture — comes decades after most foreign nations, including US, China, Canada, France, Germany and Thailand, among others, built their centres in Lumbini as an instrument of promoting Buddhist philosophy.

Officials in India's Ministry of Culture said that the PM, besides offering prayers at the Mayadevi temple in Lumbini, will also deliver an address at a Buddha Jayanti event organised by the Lumbini Development Trust.

A statement issued by the Prime Minister's Office on Sunday said the PM will be visiting Lumbini at the invitation of Nepal Prime Minister Sher Bahadur Deuba. "I am honoured to follow in the footsteps of millions of Indians to pay reverence at the sacred site of Lord Buddha's birth. I also look forward to meeting Prime Minister Deuba again after our productive discussions during his visit to India last month. We will continue to build on our shared understanding to expand cooperation in multiple areas, including in hydropower, development and connectivity."

The PM's visit to Lumbini comes amid China's evident interest in Lumbini. Almost a decade ago, China had offered to build Lumbini as a world peace centre at a cost of three billion dollars, besides holding talks on bringing China's railway right up to Lumbini. Modi's visit and his laying the foundation stone for the Buddhist Culture Centre — estimated to cost INR 1 billion and take three years to complete — will mark India's first attempt to develop strong linkages with Nepal's Buddhist heritage sites.

Modi's helicopter ride from Kushinagar in Uttar Pradesh, where Buddha is said to have attained Nirvana, will terminate at a newly built helipad in Lumbini, from where he is expected to go to the Maya Devi temple, before laying the foundation stone for the Buddhist centre.

PM Modi and PM Deuba are also scheduled to jointly address a congregation of people, including lamas. Though there has been no official word yet, indications were that "developmental issues" are likely to be discussed when the two prime ministers, joined by officials from two sides, hold a meeting before Deuba hosts a lunch in Modi's honour. India's Foreign Secretary Vinay Mohan Kwatra recently stated that the two countries will pick up from where they left during Deuba's three-day visit to India last month.

The two sides had discussed the need to sort out border disputes, especially the Lipulekh dispute that flared up in 2018-19, but Deuba's three-day visit had ended without a joint communique.

Sources in Kathmandu said the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) will sign two Memoranda of Understanding with authorities in Nepal — one on setting up the Dr B R Ambedkar Chair for Studies on Buddhism at Lumbini University and another on a Chair Professor at Kathmandu University.

India's Ministry of Tourism has collaborated with Nepal to build a trans-national Buddhist Tourist Circuit to trace the footsteps of Buddha, starting from Lumbini and concluding at Kushinagar. An international airport was recently inaugurated at Kushinagar.

Sources said the two PMs will discuss the proposed Buddhist circuit linking Lumbini with Kushinagar, Bodhgaya, Rajgir, Nalanda and Saranath, among other centres linked to Buddha's legacy. This will be in addition to the project to build the Ramayana circuit linking various sites in the two countries.

"It's likely that the two PMs will also discuss ways to explore harnessing of the West Seti River that flows through western Nepal," a senior government official in Kathmandu said.

Adani

Hutchison, Etisalat, Fidelity, and Citibank, which sold its retail business recently, and some investment banks.

Holcim said the corresponding offer share prices of Rs 385 for Ambuja Cement and Rs 2,300 for ACC translate into cash proceeds of CHF 6.4 billion.

Ambuja Cements and ACC currently have a combined installed production capacity of 70 MTPA. "The two companies are among the strongest brands in India with immense depth of manufacturing and supply chain infrastructure, represented by their 23 cement plants, 14 grinding stations, 80 ready-mix concrete plants and over 50,000 channel partners across India," Adani said.

With this acquisition, Adani is now India's second largest cement manufacturer after Ultratech Cement of the Aditya Birla group.

Gautam Adani, chairman, Adani group, said: "With Holcim's global leadership in sustainability, we are acquiring some of the most efficient building materials operations in India, powered with clean technologies like heat recovery systems."

The Adani group last year set up two cement subsidiaries — Adani Cementation Ltd, which was planning to set up two cement units at Dahej in Gujarat and Raigarh in Maharashtra; and Adani Cement Ltd.

"We recognize that Ambuja and ACC operations are energy intensive and therefore when combined with our renewable power generation capabilities we gain a big head start in the decarbonisation journey that is a must for Indian industry," Adani said.

Shares of Ambuja Cements which has a market capitalisation of Rs 71,244 crore, closed 3.79% down at Rs 358.80 on Friday. ACC closed with a loss of 3.02% at Rs 2,113.70 and a market capitalisation of Rs 39,692 crore.

Holcim CEO Jan Jenisch said: "In the last twelve months, we have invested CHF 5 billion in Solutions & Products as a new growth engine for the company, while continuously pursuing bolt-ons in aggregates and ready-mix concrete. Holcim is ready to seize further opportunities, in line with our 'Strategy 2025 - Accelerating Green Growth', to become the global leader in innovative and sustainable building solutions."

Holcim bought Ambuja Cement for $800 million in 2005. ACC was bought by Ambuja in three tranches from the Tata group for Rs 370 per share between 1999 and 2001.

With India's cement consumption at just 242 kg per capita, compared to the global average of 525 kg per capita, there is significant potential for the growth of the cement sector in the country.

While India continues to be the world's second largest cement market, it has less than half the global average per capita cement consumption, Adani said.

"In statistical comparison, China's cement consumption is over seven times that of India's. When these factors are combined with the several adjacencies of our existing businesses that include the Adani Group's ports and logistics business, energy business, and real estate business, we believe that we will be able to build a uniquely integrated and differentiated business model and set ourselves up for significant capacity expansion," Adani said.

CHITTARANJAN LOCOMOTIVE WORKS
E-TENDER NOTICE

PCMM/CLW/DKAE on behalf of the President of India invites electronic bids from established reliable manufacturer for supply of the followings. The following E-Tender/s is/are for supply of materials for manufacture of Electric Locomotive. The Prospective/ likely suppliers are requested to look up the website www.eprocure.gov.in for detailed instructions. These are E-Tenders only electronic offer bids shall be accepted. [A]: Tender Notice No: PCMM/CLW/Dankuni/E-Procurement/22-23/37; Dated: 12/05/2022. Sl. Tender No./Description of Stores; Qty.; Due On; Tender Cost; [271]; 54222948 High Reach Pantograph for AC Electric Locomotives to RDSO Specn.No. RD50/2007/ L&T SPEC. 0054, REV '2'. As per Tender Doc.; 06.06.22; 0.00. [272]; 54222609 Set Of Plastic Inserts are requested to look up the website www.eprocure.gov.in for detailed instructions. These are E-Tenders only electronic offer bids shall be accepted. [A]: Tender Notice No: PCMM/CLW/Dankuni/E-Procurement/22-23/38; Dated: 13/05/2022. [275] 52222500 Pneumatic Sand Rammer of FUJI-FR-32N. Details Of Pneumatic Sand Rammer: Make: Fuji, Model no.- FR-32N, or Similar, Type Of Handle- Straight Type, Type Of Throttle lever Type, Blows Per Minute=720, Stroke=127 Mm, Steel Butt Diameter=73 Mm, Piston Diameter=32 Mm, Length=1086 Mm, Hose Size=1 1/2 inch, Optional Air Pressure= 6.3 Bar/90 PSI Etc Spec.; Make And Brand - Fuji Or Similar, As per Tender Doc.; 06.06.22; 0.00. [276]; 50223610 Oil Hydraulic to Ins: 10522/93 Gr.VG-32. Approved Brands: Protomac H-32 of M/s. Balmer Lawrie & Co. Ltd., MAK Hydrol-32 of M/s. BPCL, ENKLO-32 of M/s. HPCCL, Servosystem-32 of M/s. IOCL, KYROS Hydra Super HM-32 of M/s. Raj Petro Specities Pvt. Ltd., IPOL Hydrapoli AW-32 of M/s. Sah Petroleum Ltd. As per Tender Doc.; 16.06.22; 0.00. [277]; 52227558 Tap HSS Ground Threaded M-30 X 2.5P(02 Nos in set) Serial Type B&M/IT/ A4D/Totem or Similar, IS Specn No.6175(Part-3)/1992, Reaffirmed 2018); As per Tender Doc.; 20.06.22; 0.00. [278]; 50222601 Oil Cutting Soluble(For Machine Tools). Approved Brands: Balmer Protocol MC of M/s. Balmer Lawrie & Co Ltd., Minrol Cutss of M/s. Mineral Oil Corpa, MAK SHEROL BoTm/s. BPCL, SUNOL SOLCUT SP-1 M-1000 Of M/s. Sunoil Co.(Pvt) Ltd., Servocut-S of M/s. IOCL, KOOL KVT-40 Of M/s. HPCCL, As per Tender Doc.; 27.06.22; 0.00. [279]; 52225039 Internal Coolant Machine Tap of HSS-E-EG M30 X 3.5-6H MOD Helical Suitable for Tapping of Stores in MAG CNC Machine, Specification:- EG M30-6H MOD 5009284 of EMUGE OR SIMILAR DIN 8140-2 Standard; As per Tender Doc.; 01.07.22; 0.00. [280]; 54222693 Snubber Circuit To Contactor Auxiliaries to CLW's Drg./Specn. No.CLW/ES/0202/A; As per Tender Doc.; 05.08.22; 0.00. PR2/056 PCMM/CLW/DKAE Like us on: www.eprocure.gov.in

Classifieds

I,Shamsher Singh, S/o Raghuber Singh, R/o-24, Pocket-24, sec-24, Rohini, Delhi-110085, have changed my name to Shamsher Singh Rana

0040613826-2

I,RATHOD VIKRAMSINGH RAMNIRANJAN, S/o Ram Niranjan Singh Rathore, R/o Qtr.No.3, New-Khodiya, Jyot Society, Saijpur Bogha, Ahmedabad Gujarat-382345, have changed my name, from RATHOD VIKRAMSINGH RAMNIRANJAN to VIKRAM SINGH RATHORE, for all, future purposes.

0040613826-6

I, RAJESH JINDAL S/O RAMESH CHANDER AGGARWAL R/O C-48, FLOOR-2, ASHOK VIHAR PHASE-1, DELHI-110052, CHANGED MY NAME TO RAJESH AGGARWAL.

0040613826-3

I, Lalit Kumar Alawadi S/O-Virandara Alawadi R/O D-1/92, 93 1st floor Sector-16, Rohini New Delhi-110085 have changed my name to Lalit Alawadi for all purposes.

0040613780-1

I, Akash alias Aakash, S/o Virender Sharma, R/o-164, G.F, Pocket-16, sector-24, Rohini, Delhi-110085, have changed my name to Aakash Sharma

0040613826-1

I, Abhishek Vashisht, S/o-Sat Prakash, R/o-2/61, Bhim Gali, Vishwas Nagar, Shahdara Delhi-110032, have changed the name of my minor-daughter Aadhya Sharma (dob-29/12/2014) and she shall hereafter be known as Aadhya Vashisht

0040613826-4

I, Rajive Gupta, S/o Late Bal Kishan Gupta, R/o-A6-306, Panchsheel Greens-2, Greater Noida West, G.B. Nagar, UP, have changed my name to Rajeev Gupta permanently.

0070785459-1

I Sandeep Kumar Porwal R/O 99/1, D-12, Sector-7 Rohini, Delhi-110085 have changed my minor's Daughter name from Mragakshi to Mrigakshi

0040613782-1

I Pushpa Ben Chawda W/O, Santosh Kumar R/O H O 187, 3rd Floor, Pocket-2 Paschim Puri, Delhi-110063 have changed my name to Pushpa for all purposes.

0040613788-1

I Insyia al samar W/O Shoeb zaidi R/O B61 2nd floor right poration, block C, Hastal Vihar Uttam Nagar West Delhi-110059 have changed my name to Insyia al

0040613781-1

I Alok Kumar S/O Firdus Minj R/O R2P -126 street no 6 near N.R public school Rajnagar part 2 palam colony New Delhi-110077 have changed my name to Alok Kumar Minj

0040613783-1

I, Prerna Gupta D/o Ajay kumar Gupta R/O House No. 3, third floor Huda Sector 2C, Palam Vihar, Gurgaon, Haryana-122017, have changed the name of my minor son Yuvan Jain aged about 05 Years and he shall hereafter be known as Yuvan Gupta.

0040613877-1

I, Amarjeet Singh S/o K. Shamsher Singh R/O 47-B, DDA Flats , Masjid Moth , Phase-01 , Gr. Kailash Delhi-48, have changed my minor daughter name from Rashel Singh to Rachel Singh for all future purposes.

0040613785-1

PUBLIC NOTICE

It is for general information that I, AKSHI KHANDELWAL BHUTANI D/o. Sh. NAVEEN KHANDELWAL Ex Wife of VARUN BHUTANI R/O S-513, First Floor, Greater Kailash-2, South Delhi, Delhi-110048 declare that I got divorce from my ex-husband VARUN BHUTANI Vide Court Decree No. H.J.M.A. No. 562/2020 dated 18.11.2020. Further, I have changed my name and shall hereafter be known as AKSHI KHANDELWAL in future for all purposes. It is certified that I have complied with other legal requirements in this connection.

AKSHI KHANDELWAL BHUTANI

WESTERN RAILWAY
NOTICE FOR PRE-NIT CONFERENCE

Notice No. : WRT/PTNIT/Conf/01, Date : 13.05.2022. PCMM Western Railway invites all eligible TPI agencies for Pre-NIT Conference in connection with the 'Engagement of Third-Party Inspection Agencies for Goods Procurement in Indian Railways' scheduled to be held on 23.05.2022. Purpose of this Pre-NIT Conference is to identify potential Third-Party Inspection agencies interested for providing comprehensive inspection service to Railways. Indian Railways procure goods worth Rs. 50,000 Cr per year with approximately 65000 inspections by TPI agencies on Pan India basis. Interested eligible agencies may attend the Pre-NIT Conference and give a presentation regarding their profile, activities, past experience and presence (Time:10 mins). Those who are willing to join the conference may communicate their willingness to the email: smn8@wrr.railnet.gov.in latest by 20.05.2022. Only agencies having ISO 17000 Accredited are eligible to participate. Maximum of two persons per agency are allowed to attend. The Date, Time and Venue are as follows:

Date	Time	Venue
23.05.2022	11.00 Hrs.	Samvad Hall, 4th Floor, PCMM Office, Churchgate, Western Railway, Mumbai-400020.

For any further information please contact : Dy Chief Materials Manager (

3 THE CITY

VACCINATIONS IN LAST 24 HOURS
40,921

PATIENTS IN HOSPITAL: 145
OXYGEN SUPPORT 7
VENTILATOR SUPPORT 47

DELHI TOTAL CASES
19,00,358

HOSPITAL BEDS 9,581
ICU BEDS 2,222

Total active cases in Delhi

	Total	Vacant
HOSPITAL BEDS	9,581	9,436
ICU BEDS	2,222	2,176

	Cases	Recoveries	Deaths	Tests
May 14	673	1,074	4	24,317
May 15	613	784	3	22,366
Total	3,762*	18,70,401	26,195	3,82,24,568

Noida	May 14	May 15
Cases	44	72
Deaths	0	0

Gurgaon	Cases	Deaths
Cases	273	241
Deaths	0	1

27 BODIES FOUND, SEVERAL YET TO BE IDENTIFIED

Near site of Mundka fire, a colony united in grief

PAYNEET SINGH CHADHA
& SUKRITA BARUAH
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

"Mahaul qjeeb sa hai" (the atmosphere is strange)," said Mushrat's brother, Imtiaz, referring to the grief and loss that seemed to pervade lanes of Bhagya Vihar, with neighbour after neighbour reeling under the tragedy of the fire breaking out at the commercial building in Mundka.

A mother of three children, Mushrat (37) started working at the CCTV camera and router manufacturing company last year — the first time she took up a job — at a salary of Rs 6,500, packing and marking stickers on cameras. At her maternal home on Sunday afternoon, her mother Sabra Khatoun and brother sat in gloom after having made rounds trying to identify her among the bodies at Sanjay Gandhi Memorial Hospital.

Mushrat sought work to support her family after her husband's work of whitewashing for daily wages took a hit during the pandemic. Like other women in Bhagya Vihar, she had got the job from the reference of a neighbour who was also killed in the fire. "Her husband had gone to his village in Odisha for a few days, so I was staying with her at their home in Parvesh Nagar to keep her company and look after my grandchildren. I last spoke to her when she left for work," said Sabra Khatoun.

Located less than 5 km from the building in Mundka, Bhagya Vihar painted a picture of a colony in mourning. Of the 27 confirmed deaths, 21 were women. Many of them were from Bhagya Vihar.

Among the eight victims

Nisha's mother at their one-room home. Nisha was the sole earner for her parents and seven siblings. Abhinav Saha identified so far, two women from the colony — Ranju Devi (34) and her relative Yashoda Devi (35) — lived in adjacent lanes, a few decrepit houses separating theirs. Outside both houses, a white tent had been erected as neighbours and relatives sat in mourning.

Ranju's husband Santosh, a labourer, said, "We were holding on to faint hope that she may have survived. Yesterday, we went to the hospital and identified her body from her silver ring, anklets and nail paint. She was wearing a blue suit and aubergine dupatta that day. Her body was partially burnt."

Ranju is survived by her husband and three children — a 15-year-old daughter and two sons, aged 9 and 12. She had been working at the camera assembly unit for over six months, earning Rs 6,500 a month. "There is no one to look after the children now. Earlier, she worked on a contract at a syringe making firm, where she was paid around Rs 3,000 and often even less, depending on the weight of the assembled load. She joined here as it was a better paying job and closer to home. It helped us pay our rent," said Santosh.

Barely 100 metres away, Yashoda's brother, Surjit, said, "Her husband and other relatives have gone to Haridwar for the last rites. Yashoda worked in camera printing and earned Rs 6,500-7,000. She had given the reference to many women from the colony and helped them get a job at the company. They all went to work on buses or shared autorickshaws. We are all distraught."

Yashoda's friend Poonam said: "We all are grieving. I don't know what I will do to survive. Amidst all this loss, I am out of a job. The tragedy has swept everyone here." She said she survived since she had taken a two-day leave from work as she was unwell.

A few doors from Yashoda's home, the grief in 18-year-old Nisha's home was silent but desperate. Her family had not been able to identify her body, but they presumed she had died in the fire. Nisha, with her salary of Rs 7,500 per month, was the sole earner for her parents and seven siblings. Her father had not worked for almost a decade and her mother was anchored to home by a sickly 10-year-old daughter and a two-month-old infant.

In the lanes of small homes, theirs was the smallest and barest — a family of nine living in a one-room house, the ceiling fan attached to the tin roof barely higher than 6 feet off the ground. Nisha had not completed school and had started work two years ago.

"She had called me during lunch break that day to ask me what I was eating... She worked because she had to, and all she thought about was providing for her family. A relative of hers had recently spoken about getting her married but she said she needed to earn for her family. She wanted to be able to get them a better home, this gets flooded every time it rains," said Nisha's close friend Pinky Kumari, who also works at Mundka.

In the same lane, two doors from Mushrat's house, Sweetie alias Mona (32) remains missing. Family members said they had stopped looking for her body at hospitals. "Umeed lag nahi rahi bachne ki" (We do not have much hope)," said her husband, Manoj Kumar, sobbing as he spoke.

"At 4.30 pm that day, she called and said 'aag lag gayi hai... nikal nahi paa rahe hain' (I am unable to escape from the fire)." Her voice was not clear. After that, the phone went off," said Kumar.

Sweetie, who had two children — a 14-year-old daughter and a 12-year-old son — had started working at the company last year. "It was her first job. We have still lodged a missing persons' complaint with police," said Kumar.

Sweetie's friend, Shazia Parveen (25), lives at the end of the lane. Parveen survived, jumping out after grabbing a rope, and suffering burns on both her hands, which were heavily bandaged. "I barely managed to escape and passed out. I saw that Sweetie had fallen unconscious in front of me. There was so much chaos," she said, her voice breaking.

A mother of three, Parveen said she started working at the company two months ago: "The pay was better and we were told it would increase in a few months, with additional benefits like PF. The office was close to the colony. A lot of women had been connected here through this job, and now through this tragedy."

In 2015, building was rented by BJP man as poll office

ABHINAV RAJPUT
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

BEFORE IT housed a commercial unit, the Mundka building where a fire broke out on Friday, killing 27 people, was temporarily used by a BJP member in 2015 as an election office taken on rent.

In the run up to the 2015 Delhi Assembly polls, BJP candidate from Mundka, Master Azad Singh, had used the building as his poll office. Singh, who lost to AAP candidate Sukhbir Dalal, confirmed the same: "We paid rent for the building... at the time, it was empty and had only two floors... The office was closed after polls ended."

AAP's MCD in-charge Durgesh Pathak hit out at the BJP over this and said this shows that the building had the party's protection: "This could be why despite the licence being cancelled, it kept functioning discreetly."

Pathak said there are photographs of the building owner with Singh. To this, Singh said, "During elections, several people took photographs, but that doesn't mean I know him personally... It is for AAP to answer how a liquor shop was running there (before). That means the Delhi government was aware of what was happening here."

He also said the area MLA and councillor are from the AAP. "What were they doing?... Is it a crime to take a building on rent for opening an election office?... it is for those who got it constructed and those who were running illegal businesses to answer how such a mishap took place."

The Indian Express has also learnt that the owner of the four-storey commercial building got a factory licence for the premises under a self-assessment scheme in 2016. However, the North MCD cancelled it after it was found that the building did not meet specific criteria, it is learnt.

In 2019, a liquor store was also opened on the ground floor, which was sealed by the monitoring committee formed by the Supreme Court to act against illegal construction in the national capital for violations. Sources in the North MCD said the owner closed the shop and paid a penalty, following which the space was de-sealed in 2020.

A senior official in the North MCD, who is part of the team looking into the fire, said, "Prima facie our investigation suggests that while the factory licence was revoked in 2017, commercial activities might not have started immediately else the monitoring committee would have noticed in 2019."

"We are trying to gather details, but it seems it started recently," he added.

According to police, the owner had a real estate office on the ground floor while the first, second and third floors housed the office of Cofe Impex Pvt Ltd, which imported parts of CCTV cameras and routers and employed around 100 people. Police

In 2019, a liquor store was also opened on the ground floor, which was sealed by the SC monitoring committee said the company owners took the first floor on rent in 2018, the second floor in 2019, and in 2021, they took the third floor.

North MCD standing committee chairperson Jogi Ram Jain said a survey has been started across areas under the corporation to ascertain the status of such "factories" being run. "A report is also due which will clear how the factory (commercial space) was operational," he said.

AAP's Pathak said that even if the North MCD revoked or cancelled the factory licence, "illegal activities" continued on the premises. "It means that the corporation was aware of the building premises being misused, which is why they got the licence revoked... so how did factories continue to operate in a lal dora region," he said.

Lal Dora land (or red tape property) refers to village land which historically consisted of village habitation. Small shops, grocery, medical, tailor and kirana stores are among businesses allowed in this region. Factories or industries are not permitted to operate.

Pathak added, "The building's licence was cancelled after complaints by locals, yet it kept functioning. Industrial activities were going on in the complex despite the SC monitoring committee sealing a portion of the building. We all saw that 27 lives were lost, and several people were injured, in the fire that broke out in Mundka. It was a devastating incident and the people of Delhi deserve to get justice."

A senior North MCD official said there are several godowns, plastic factories and other such businesses running on lal dora or resettlement colonies across Delhi, including in Mundka, without a licence.

Responding to Pathak, Delhi BJP spokesperson Praveen Shankar Kapoor said the building owner had approached the monitoring committee, removed the shop, paid the penalty, and got the space de-sealed in 2020. "In fact, it is the Delhi government which owes a reply on how this building was given an electricity connection and how a Delhi government liquor shop was opened on lal dora land," he said.

On questions about a liquor vend operating from the building, Pathak said: "Before the new liquor policy came out, the only rule for opening liquor shops was that it should not be near a school. Rules were not changed for many years and most of the private liquor shops operated in the same area for years."

Meanwhile, Lt-Governor Anil Bajjal Sunday ordered a magisterial inquiry into the fire.

A common refrain: What if we never find them?

GAYATHRI MANI, SUKRITA BARUAH & PAVNEET SINGH CHADHA
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

DESPITE DOING everything possible to get into four-storey building in Mundka that caught fire on Friday, Ismail Khan watched helplessly as his sister, Muskan (22), screamed for help: "Bhai mujhe bacha le please, mujhe nahi marna hai." She is among those feared dead in the fire — while 8 bodies have been identified so far, 19 are charred beyond recognition.

Like many others, Ismail (27) went from the mortuary to the emergency care unit of Sanjay Gandhi Memorial Hospital several times on Sunday, hoping to find a trace of his sister.

Speaking to The Indian Express, he said: "Muskan called me around 3.45 pm... she told me 'Bhai yahan aag lag gayi hai, bahut dhuwan hai, fire brigade bhi aa gayi hai par bahar nikalne ka koi chakra nahi hai, please tu aa kar mujhe bacha le yahan se'... I could hear people screaming in the background... I rushed to the spot and found her standing on the chajja (ledge) of the second floor. I saw hope and relief on her face when she saw me... she thought her brother would save her..."

Ismail said he told her he would get a crane and asked her to jump then: "But she was scared... I couldn't find a crane or a ladder so I went to the adjacent building with four others and jumped on to the terrace of the office. But the terrace door was locked... The terrace had a house where the owner and his family lived... If the door wasn't locked that evening, my sister would have been alive... I came so close but couldn't save her, and forget her body, I can't even find a finger now. The culprits should be punished."

Breaking down, Ismail said his sister joined the CCTV manufacturing and assembling company as a worker but was promoted to the management in a year: "She was pursuing her BA from open school and saving money to pursue fashion designing. She wanted to start her own clothing line, 'The Muskan Clothing'."

Standing outside the hospital was Virpal, who had been waiting since 6 am to identify the body of his sister, Asha (30). "She was like a mother to me... Like every other day, she made breakfast and cooked my favourite aloo-puri for lunch, and then left for work. I didn't speak to her during the day as her office collected phones from all employees."

Muskan and (right) Asha are among those missing

He added, "I came here yesterday as well but couldn't identify her. I want to find some part of her to do her last rites..." Around 1 pm, he gave blood for DNA sampling.

Asha's husband said she joined work just a week ago. "She worked on the third floor. We were trying for a baby, so she had not been working for the last one year. But Covid hit our finances, so she found a job... I don't know how I'll survive without her," he cried.

Standing outside the charred office in Mundka, Vijay Bahadur Tiwari (45) hoped to find the body of his 21-year-old daughter, Monika. "We have been to several hospitals — Sanjay Gandhi, Baba Saheb Ambedkar, Bhagwan Mahavir, even Safdarjung. My son gave a sample for the DNA test and was told to wait till Wednesday. Now I'm afraid that if nothing comes out of it, what are we supposed to do?" he said.

Tiwari, who works as an e-rickshaw driver, said his daughter joined the office in March and worked in the packaging unit. Before that, she did sewing work from their home in Agar Nagar. He said she had told him earlier this year that she wanted to look for work to help him and her three younger brothers financially. "Initially, I did not want her to work outside but she told me, 'How long will you keep me at home?'... I understood that along with supporting the family, she also wanted a taste of the outside world so I agreed," he said.

The fear that he might not be able to find his younger brother, Narendar (24), also gripped Gopal. After multiple attempts to identify him among the charred bodies at the hospital, Gopal and his father tried once again on Sunday to no avail. "My mother gave her blood for the DNA test but I'm starting to worry about what we can do if that also does not lead us to him," said the 26-year-old. Narendar lived with his parents and three brothers in Agar Nagar.

Gopal said that by the time he reached the office after 5 pm on Friday, all he could see was fire. "Narendar had been working there for two years, in the assembly unit. He was earning Rs 8,500 a month and had been considering looking for a better paying job. He had pursued BA Programme degree from DU's School of Open Learning..." he said.

Family members of Parveen Gupta (32), a senior executive at the commercial unit, arrived at the mortuary early on Sunday. He had been working in the marketing and graphic designing unit for several years, said relatives.

His younger brother, Pankaj, said a few minutes before the fire broke out, two of his friends had met Parveen to handover a package. "At 4.45 pm on Friday, the friends told us there had been a fire and Parveen could not be found. His phone was switched off... For the past two days, we have been making rounds of several hospitals and mortuaries. We have not been able to identify him... His motorcycle is still parked outside the building," he said.

His brother-in-law Govind Gupta said they have not told Parveen's three children that he is missing. "I don't know what to tell them. They keep asking about him... We have told them that he is injured. Officials are saying that DNA samples have been taken and a report will come soon, which will help in identifying the body," he said.

Police said they have collected samples of 20 family members on Saturday and Sunday. The results will come in 5-10 days, said DCP (Outer) Sameer Sharma.

MAHENDER SINGH MANRAL
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

THE DELHI Police Sunday arrested Manish Lakra, owner of the four-storey commercial building in Mundka where 27 people died in a fire on Friday. Initial investigation revealed that Lakra had applied for a factory licence in 2016 — a year after the property was transferred in his name following his father's death in 2015. This licence was later suspended.

Police also found that the Goel brothers, who ran the company Cofe Impex Private Limited where the fire started, were shifting operations to a new, bigger office in Noida. The duo have been arrested as well.

Police have recovered 27 bodies so far and 19 are still unidentified. On Sunday, police wrote to FSL, asking them to conduct the DNA tests. Samples have been collected and sent for testing. DCP (Outer) Sameer Sharma said, "We are in constant touch with the FSL to get the results in 5-10 days."

He added, "We received information that Lakra was headed to Haridwar. He had destroyed his mobile phone. We laid a trap and nabbed him from Ghevra Mod in West Delhi after conducting multiple raids in Delhi and Haryana. His mother and children are still missing."

The fire broke out on Friday evening. Praveen Khanna

Police said Lakra lived with his mother, wife and two children on the top floor of the same building and escaped during the fire by jumping onto the terrace of the adjoining building. "On Friday, he was sleeping and his wife woke him up for tea. As soon as he woke up, he smelled smoke and wires burning. He called his driver, who told him about the fire. He then jumped onto the terrace of the adjacent building with his family and escaped," a senior police officer said.

Additional CP (western range) Chinmoy Biswal said Lakra also disclosed that after his father's death, the property was transferred to his name in 2016 and he applied for a factory license. "He also submitted one time fees, and the property was given on rent for a liquor store... He rented out the floors to the Goels in late 2017," Biswal said.

According to the DCP, Lakra's father bought the building in 2011. "Besides, the company not getting an NOC from the fire department, Lakra did not conduct tenant verification or obtain a police clearance certificate before subletting the building for commercial use," police said.

Sharma assured action against officials if they are found guilty of collusion or negligence: "All agencies involved like MCD, DSIIDC will be questioned and documents will be verified."

यूनियन बैंक ऑफ़ इंडिया
(सर्वोत्तमः सर्वोत्तमः सर्वोत्तमः) (A Govt of India Undertaking)

अमरदेव
(सर्वोत्तमः सर्वोत्तमः सर्वोत्तमः)

Exhibition Road, Opposite Republic Hotel, Patna (soI-0323)
APPENDIX-iv Rule-8 (1) POSSESSION NOTICE)

Whereas, The undersigned being the Authorized Officer of the Union Bank Of India, Patna Main-3 Branch (ECB) under the Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 and in exercise of powers conferred under Section 13 (12) read with Rule 3 of the Security Interest (Enforcement) Rules, 2002, issued a Demand notices being no.-Ref No: OR/323/DV/SARFAESI/2021 dated 26.05.2021 calling upon the borrowers M/s Exalt Educational Trust, Represented through its Trustees : (1) Shri. Deepak Kumar, S/o. Shri. Guneshwar Sahu (2) Ms Babita Kumari, W/o Mr. Deepak Kumar and Guarantors- Shree Deepak Kumar and Mrs. Babita Kumari to repay the amount mentioned in the notice being Rs. 4,21,67,268.40 (Rupees Four Crore Twenty One Lakh Sixty Seven Thousand Two Hundred Sixty Eight and Paise Forty only) as on 26.05.2021 & interest thereon within 60 days from the date of receipt of the said notice.

The borrower/Guarantor/Mortgagor having failed to repay the amount, notice is hereby given to the borrower and also the public in general that the undersigned has taken possession of the property described here under in exercise of the powers conferred on him under Section 13 (4) of the Act read with Rule 8 of the said rules on this 10th day of May 2022.

The borrower/Guarantor/Mortgagor in particular, and public in general is hereby cautioned not to deal with the property and any dealings with the property will be subject to the charge of Union Bank of India, Exhibition Road, Patna Main-3Branch, (ECB) for an Amount of Rs. 4,21,67,268.40 (Rupees Four Crore Twenty One Lakh Sixty Seven Thousand Two Hundred Sixty Eight and Paise Forty only) as on 26.05.2021 and interest thereon.

The Borrower's/Guarantor's/Mortgagor's attention is invited to the provisions of Sub-section (8) of Section 13 of the Act, in respect of time available, to redeem the secured assets.

Description of the Immovable Properties

EMG of built Up Property (Land and building) Bearing Plot No R-6 measuring 100 Sq Yds out of Khasra no 82/17 min, situated in revenue estate of village-Hastail Delhi area abadi Known as Colony R-Block Uttam Nagar New Delhi-110059 Boundary :-North- Gali, South-Other's Property, East-Road 19 Ft wide, West-Other Property

Date : 10.05.2022

Authorised Officer
UNION BANK OF INDIA

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all concerned and the general public is hereby informed that the Environmental Clearance bearing F. No. 21-90/2018-IA-III dated 30.12.2020 has been granted to the Company for the proposed Commercial Building at Plot No. LP-1B-03, Gateway District of Aerocity, Indira Gandhi International Airport, New Delhi. Copy of clearance letter is available on the website of MoEFCC/SEIAA.

Sd/-
M/s Alborz Developers Limited
3rd Floor, Worldmark 2, Asset 8, Aerocity, New Delhi – 110037
Phone No.: 011 - 41384000

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all concerned and the general public is hereby informed that the Environmental Clearance bearing F. No. 21-91/2018-IA-III dated 30.12.2020 has been granted to the Company for the proposed Commercial Building at Plot No. LP-1B-04, Gateway District of Aerocity, Indira Gandhi International Airport, New Delhi. Copy of clearance letter is available on the website of MoEFCC/SEIAA.

Sd/-
M/s Populus Realty Limited
3rd Floor, Worldmark 2, Asset 8, Aerocity, New Delhi – 110037
Phone No.: 011-41384000

0-50 Good 51-100 Satisfactory 101-200 Moderate 201-300 Poor 301-400 Very Poor 401-500 Severe

MAX: 41
1.7° C above normal

MIN: 28
2.7° C above normal

BRIEFLY

Significant rise in number of Metro card users: DMRC

New Delhi: There has been a significant rise in the percentage of Delhi Metro commuters who use smart cards since January vis-a-vis the figures during pre-Covid time, the DMRC said Sunday. Since January 2022, around 78 per cent of the metro commuters are using smart cards for travel on regular basis up from around 70 per cent in the pre-Covid days, it said in a statement.

SDMC sets up 125 libraries in its schools

New Delhi: The South MCD has set up 125 libraries and 73 reading corners in its schools to inculcate a habit of reading among students, the civic body said on Sunday. "The civic body has been establishing well-equipped libraries inside the school premises. In collaboration with NGOs like Angelica Foundation, Room to Read and Katha, the SDMC's education department has set up well-equipped and reader-friendly libraries in as many as 125 schools," it said in an official statement.

81-yr-old arrested for 'raping' minor

Noida: An 81-year-old man was arrested for allegedly raping a minor over a period of more than 7 years, police said. PTI

GURGAON, NOIDA TOO SEE TEMP OVER 45°C

Mercury close to 50°C in some areas in city

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

TWO WEATHER observatories in Delhi — Mungeshpur and Najafgarh — recorded temperatures of over 49 degrees Celsius Sunday as the heat wave in the city marched on.

While Mungeshpur recorded a temperature of 49.2 degrees Celsius, that at Najafgarh was 49.1 degrees. The temperature at Safdarjung, which provides a marker for the city, was 45.6 degrees Celsius, five degrees above normal. The maximum temperature at Gurgaon was 48.1 degrees Celsius, nine degrees above normal. At Noida, it was 47.1 degrees. The temperature is expected to be between 41 and 28 degrees Celsius on Monday.

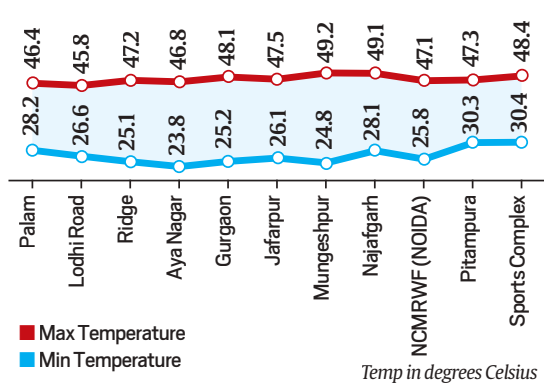

The two stations at Mungeshpur and Najafgarh are automatic weather stations, which were made operational this year. According to IMD officials, a climatological profile of these areas is not available so far to draw conclusions about Sunday's temperature. "To understand what the normal climatology of a place is, what normal temperatures for any time of the month are, one needs data for at least 30 years. It is good that these new stations are coming up to gather data for the future. Observatories such as Safdarjung, Lodhi Road, Palam and Aya Nagar are older and data is available for several years," said K Sathi Devi, scientist at IMD.

At Safdarjung observatory, the highest temperature ever recorded in May is 47.2 degrees Celsius. This was recorded on May 29, 1944. Sunday's temperature at the observatory was the highest for May since 2013, when the maximum settled at 45.7 degrees. According to IMD officials, the reason behind high temperatures is the lack of rain throughout summer this year.

The temperature at Safdarjung, which provides a marker for the city, was 45.6 degrees. Shivam Kumar Jha

AT DIFFERENT STATIONS ON SUNDAY

"Western disturbances that have affected Northwest India over the past few weeks have not had much impact in Delhi because their depth and intensity has been low. This means there has hardly been any rain so far in Delhi to interrupt heat. Last week, a short respite was seen because of a cloud cover but as it did not bring rain and only humidity, the impact was negligible," said Devi. May and April in Delhi, much like March, have been unusually dry with mostly trace amounts of rainfall seen so far. According to Devi, a western disturbance is expected to have an impact starting Monday, but temperatures are expected to drop only by a couple of degrees: "The activity will be concentrated mostly in Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir and Uttarakhand. Isolated rain is expected in Punjab and Haryana but plains will remain unaffected and temperatures are not expected to dip below 40 degrees."

Traffic disrupted on NH-48 as protesters demanding Ahir regiment take out rally

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
GURGAON, MAY 15

TRAFFIC WAS disrupted for several hours on National Highway-48 as members of the Ahir community, who have been sitting on an indefinite protest near Kherki Daula toll in Gurgaon since February 4 in support of demand for an Ahir regiment in the Indian Army, took out a rally Sunday.

Members of the Sanyukt Ahir Regiment Morcha gathered around 11 am near the Kherki Daula toll and marched to IFFCO Chowk. Some protesters blocked vehicles at Rajiv Chowk and created ated ruckus, allegedly breaking windowpanes of a car and a truck, police said. Police said two separate FIRs were registered.

In one of the FIRs, a resident of a society in Sector 82 alleged that she was driving to U-block DLF phase 3 and had reached the service lane at Rajiv Chowk when protesters blocked her car. "I told them to let me pass as I had urgent work, but protesters... did not relent. Six-seven unidentified men, who had sticks, got on top of my car and smashed the windowpanes with sticks," she alleged in the FIR. In a statement, Gurgaon Police spokesperson, Subhash Boken, said, "... A case has been registered... The woman car driver did not suffer injuries."

Another FIR was registered at Civil Lines police station on the complaint of a truck driver, who alleged that three men stopped his truck near Signature Tower and broke its windowpanes. He also alleged that one of the men assaulted him with a stick.

Traffic congestion was reported on the national highway at Rajeev Chowk, Hero Honda Chowk, Rampura crossing, IFFCO Chowk. A police officer, requesting anonymity, said, "Traffic remained disrupted between 11.30 am and 3 pm. Some protesters... diverged from route of rally and created ruckus." Yashwant, ACP Traffic (Headquarters), said, "Our teams diverted traffic to ensure commuters do not face inconvenience."

Manoj Yadav, founder member of Sanyukt Ahir Regiment Morcha, said, "The rally was peaceful. Some hooligans may have infiltrated the rally and tried to create ruckus. They are not associated with Morcha."

SDM (North) Ankita Chaudhary, while speaking to the media, said, "Delegation leading the rally has handed over a memorandum listing demands. This will be forwarded to authorities concerned."

Bigger campus, more student intake: Ashoka University's expansion plan

ARANYA SHANKAR
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

ALMOST A decade old, Ashoka University has ambitious plans for the next 15 years as it embarks on what it calls its 'Build Ashoka' phase. As part of its plans, the university, based out of Sonapat, is gearing up to quadruple its existing campus area, double student enrolment in the next five years, and focus on the Sciences. As of now, Ashoka is mostly known for its Liberal Arts programmes.

The university's construction started in 2012, and it was properly established in 2014. It currently has around 2,600 students, of which 80% are undergraduates. It has a 1.4 million square feet campus with around 200 faculty members. Speaking about its plans, Ashish Dhawan, founder and trustee of the university, said, "Ashoka has been a pioneer in multi-disciplinary education... It has shown a new education model which is better suited to 21st Century India where we teach students how to think critically, work across disciplines and love for learning etc ..."

Ashoka University's founder and trustee Ashish Dhawan

However, he said, the university was "far from becoming a truly world-class institution" which is why it was going from 'Startup Ashoka' phase to 'Build Ashoka' phase until 2035. The phase beyond that — from 2035 to 2050 — will be the 'Institutionalised Ashoka' phase, he said. "As part of the next phase, we plan to expand the campus to 6 million square feet — almost four times. In the next five years, we plan to double student body from 2,600 to 5,000. What took us 10 years, we will now do it in the next 5 (years). Apart from the scale-up, there are two-three priorities. One is an expansion in the Sciences. Ashoka started Sciences later, but now we have top people, about 8-10, who have joined Computer Science, Data Science, Technology etc," said Dhawan.

"We announced School of Biomedical Sciences. We'll work on Disease Biology, Information Biology, and Synthetic Biology... there's no leading place for Bioscience in India. There are good institutes... but the number one spot is open..." he said.

Dhawan said about 35% of Ashoka students majored in Sciences as of now. "It's not diversification... It was always in the plans. We believe that to be multidisciplinary you have to cover all major disciplines. It's more of an intensification. We will grow Humanities and Social Science also, but will grow the Sciences much faster especially from an infrastructural standpoint," he said.

A major part of this focus on Science will be the building of a Science Park, which will include a 1,20,000 square feet Bioscience building, an innovation centre and a vivarium, among other things. Dhawan said these buildings will be ready by 2025.

"In Computer Science, we have a very different value proposition. Most people are doing traditional Computer Science. We think it is changing and its future is interdisciplinary because computing has become pervasive... The future of Computer Science is the intersection between that and other disciplines, like Computational Biology, Computational Astrophysics or even Digital Humanities," he said, adding that the School of Advanced computing will be announced later in the year.

The university also plans to increase the number of PhD students and start new centres. "We have a small PhD programme today — only 100 PhDs. So we will scale that exponentially in the next two years. In about five years, we hope to have at least 400-500 PhD students. We're also starting a post-doctorate programme," said Dhawan. It also plans to raise Rs 3,750 crore for 'Build Ashoka' phase in the next five years.

CROSSWORD 4741

ACROSS

- Punishment for lying in the sun? (7)
- A question of choice (5)
- New net cord starts tight (9)
- In traffic a repeatedly seen vehicle (3)
- Every one in teaching (4)
- Such a net may become loose (8)
- Many admit to being inexperienced (6)
- Sarah's crazy to worry (6)
- Mention a new name (8)
- Cause a storm in a teacup (4)
- Not conscious one is in error? (3)
- Gave effortless recital and staggered away (6,3)
- Entertained without a thought (5)
- Gleeman's new medley (7)

DOWN

- Give an oral test (5)
- This man invaded England (3)
- In extremities they can be accommodating (4)
- They're for putting on vegetables (6)
- He's paid to mind someone else's business (8)
- An insect's uninterrupted development (9)
- Gear to make use of horsepower (7)
- They will spend their time together (9)
- Rounded up but not rounded off (8)
- Many on past record seem to agree (7)
- Master switch for the current (6)
- Strip a firearm (5)
- Close up of a swimmer (4)
- Have something to confess (3)

Solutions Crossword 4740: Across: 1 Tropical, 5 Stop, 9 Unfit, 10 Crouton, 11 Cool customer, 13 Remain, 14 Bedlam, 17 Maiden speech, 20 Officer, 21 Trice, 22 Earl, 23 Hydrogen. Down: 1 Taut, 2 Off form, 3 Intelligence, 4 Accrue, 6 Totem, 7 Panorama, 8 For the better, 12 Prime rose, 15 Licking, 16 Osprey, 18 Infer, 19 Seen.

JUMBLED WORDS

Given below are four jumbled words. Solve the jumbles to make proper words and move them to the respective squares below. Select the letters in the shaded squares and jumble them to get the answer for the given quip.

A somebody was once a nobody who — John Burroughs (6,2,3,3)

NRAAE

EOTDNN

DIOTT

EEDDDW

OVER THE HEDGE by Michael Fry & T Lewis

CALVIN & HOBBS by Bill Watterson

MARVIN by Tom Armstrong

SUDOKU 4836

Difficulty Level 4s

Instructions

To solve a Sudoku puzzle, every digit from 1 to 9 must appear in each of the nine vertical columns, in each of the nine horizontal rows and in each of the nine boxes.

Difficulty Level

1s = Very easy; 2s = Easy; 3s = Medium; 4s = Hard; 5s = Very Hard; 6s = Genius

SOLUTION SUDOKU 4835

DAY TODAY

BY PETER VIDAL

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

No matter how relaxed the pace of life today, the end of the week could be rather hectic. There will also be a certain amount of emotional tension. You may therefore come to grips with outstanding domestic differences and family hopes. That gives you every reason to wait until your mind is made up.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

You may have a conservative reputation but, if allowed to express yourself, you have a wonderfully understated eccentric way of working. Now that Venus is aligned with a publicity-minded region of your chart, partners and associates will begin to notice your qualities.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

The Moon makes a number of very sharp moves today, which means that domestic affairs should now be sorted out and family relationships resolved, at least until the end of the week. Older relations could be the most helpful, you know who you can rely on.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

Everything that has happened recently has conspired to change the rules of the game. Don't blame other people though, after all it's you who has moved the goal posts, possibly for the very good reason that it seemed the right thing to do at the time.

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

The Moon eases its way through a private sector of your chart, inspiring dreams, strange imaginings and mysteries of the most colourful kind. You will relish any intrigues or uncertainty that cloud your vision today. After all, a mystery could be the cause of much more pleasure.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sep 23)

Nobody can really put you on the spot or undermine your confidence. You are so full of self-doubt that you are skilled at sabotaging your own interests. Make it your goal to boost your self-esteem and inspire respect. But don't feel that you need to rush into anything hasty.

LIBRA (Sep 24 - Oct 23)

Your personal affairs will be highlighted in a rather special and even spectacular way this week. Yet another full seven days may pass before you can genuinely get to grips with outstanding domestic differences and family hopes. That gives you every reason to wait until your mind is made up.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 23)

Pluto is a volatile planet, though often a force for good. This week you can be fully confident that this wonderful planet's healing and restorative powers will be used utterly in your favour, even if at first it looks as if the opposite is true. Things are not always what they seem.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 24 - Dec 22)

Because Jupiter, your planetary ruler, is still so powerful, you have all the protection you need. However, I would not say that this is a time for taking risks. On the contrary, great prudence is required. You see, if you're to be a proper gambler you have to know the outcome before you start.

CAPRICORN (Dec 23 - Jan 20)

Even though you may be convinced that some kind of major career or professional change is unavoidable, you may hold things up for a while if you wish. However, it is certain that you can trust partners' generosity. Think now about what you might offer in return.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

Even the most dedicated Aquarians shouldn't keep their noses pressed to the grindstone all week. After all, you need a rest and a chance to get on with your own intensely personal interests. A word of advice, treat all amazing financial offers with a huge pinch of salt.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

Mercury is moving through your chart at a fair old pace, an indication that you only have a limited period of time, probably about two weeks, to arrange interviews, attend meetings and make proposals. What is most important today, though, is the Moon, which is reinforcing and stiffening your emotions.

5 GOVT & POLITICS

DELHI CONFIDENTIAL

KASHMIR TRIP

CHIEF JUSTICE of India N V Ramana was in Srinagar this weekend to lay the foundation stone for the new court complex in the High Court of Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh. He began his address invoking Urdu poet Ali Jawad Zaidi and read out a couplet in Urdu. The CJ said that although he has visited Kashmir several times, he is always moved by the hospitality and kindness of the people there. Incidentally, the petitions challenging the dilution of special status to Kashmir is pending before a bench headed by CJI Ramana.

MISSING OUT

BY NOW it is evident that the BJP's decision to appoint Manik Saha as Biplab Deb's successor in Tripura has not gone down well with a section of the party's state leadership. On Sunday, as Saha took oath as the new CM, Union minister Pratima Bhoumik made a cryptic remark while speaking to reporters. Bhoumik said she became emotional on Saturday as "I am not mechanical". Pressed further, she said she would leave it to the interpretation of others on whether she let her emotions show out of joy or sadness. "Aapko jo samajhna hai aap samajhlo," she said. It is believed that Bhoumik was among the names the BJP considered before picking Saha.

LANGUAGE GAP

THAT THE Congress has to regain lost ground in the Hindi heartland to give a challenge to the BJP is accepted by party leaders across the country. But the absence of an English version of the declaration adopted at the end of the three-day Udaipur chintan shivir has annoyed leaders from other regions, especially the delegates from the South and North-East. The declaration in Hindi was read out by Ajay Maken but no English version was circulated to the delegates. Many leaders said it was a departure from the past and wondered what the reason was. Incidentally, out of the 53 Lok Sabha MPs of the party, half are from the southern states of Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Telangana. The party has as many as 15 MPs from Kerala alone.

DISCORDANT NOTE

THE STATEMENT by Rahul Gandhi that regional parties don't have an ideology, that they belong to some caste and that have different approaches was interesting given the fact that the Congress is part of the JMM-led government in Jharkhand and a partner in the Maha Vikas Aghadi government in Maharashtra of which the NCP and Shiv Sena are partners. Moreover, the Congress fought the Lok Sabha elections and Assembly elections in Tamil Nadu in alliance with the DMK and the 2020 Assembly elections in Bihar in alliance with the RJD. The UDF mechanism in Kerala has always been projected as a shining example of the party's coalition skills. Wonder what all these parties would make out of Rahul's statement.

MP: Khargone Collector, SP transferred

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
BHOPAL, MAY 15

MORE THAN a month after violence during Ram Navami celebration in Khargone, the Madhya Pradesh government has transferred the district's collector and superintendent of police.

Stone-pelting had taken place during the Ram Navami procession in Khargone city on April 10, leading to clashes and arson. The district administration also imposed curfew partially for 24 days.

As per a government order issued late Saturday night, Khargone Collector Anugraha P has been transferred as officer on special duty at the Madhya Pradesh Bhawan in New Delhi. Ratlam's Collector Kumar Purushottam will be the new collector of Khargone.

Besides, Khargone's Superintendent of Police (SP) Siddharth Choudhary, who was shot in leg by a rioter, was also transferred as Assistant Inspector General at the police headquarters in state capital Bhopal. Satna district Superintendent of Police Dharmveer Singh will now be the SP of Khargone.

The government also transferred Jhabua's SP Ashutosh Gupta to Satna in the same capacity, while Deputy Commissioner of Police, Indore, Arvind Tiwari has been transferred as Jhabua's SP.

Niwari Collector Narendra Kumar Suryavanshi has now been appointed as the collector of Ratlam, while Jabalpur's Additional Commissioner (revenue) Tarun Bhatnagar has been made the district collector of Niwari, as per the order.

CONGRESS CHINTAN SHIVIR

Task force to drive party reforms, advisory body of seniors soon: Sonia

MANOJ CG
UDAIPUR, MAY 15

AT THE end of the three-day chintan shivir here, the Congress on Sunday announced a raft of organisational reform measures to bring in new and young faces to leadership levels at all levels. Buried in the Udaipur declaration adopted by the shivir was a suggestion by the youth panel that a "retirement age" should be fixed for all "elected posts" and in Parliament, assemblies and legislative councils.

All the other proposals which the party had been talking about over the past three days — one family, one ticket rule with a caveat; one person, one post; 50 per cent representation for those below 50 years of age at all levels, including the CWC; and five-year term limit for those holding positions at all levels — were also announced.

Party president Sonia Gandhi announced that a "Compact Task Force" will be set up to drive the process of internal reforms "that are essential and that have been discussed in different groups over the last three days".

"These reforms with a focus on the 2024 Lok Sabha polls will cover all aspects of the organisation, including structure, rules for appointments to party posts, communications and publicity, outreach, finances and election management. The composition of the task force will be notified in the next two-three days," she said.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi at the 'Nav Sankalp Shivir' in Udaipur on Sunday. PTI

Besides, Sonia said she has decided to set up an "advisory group" drawn from the CWC that would meet regularly to deliberate upon political issues and challenges before the party.

Sonia said the new group will not be a collective decision-making body "but will help me get the benefit of the vast experience of senior colleagues". Her stress was interesting as the G 23 leaders of the party had been seeking a revival of the parliamentary board mechanism for collective thinking and decision making. The proposal was not accepted by the CWC.

Asked about enforcing an age-ceiling, a veteran leader told The Indian Express "that will also come". Age ceiling, he said, was suggested in the meeting of the CWC, which approved the declaration "but not announced in deference to the elders sitting there".

The declaration also includes a suggestion by the youth panel that in the future, 50 per cent of all posts in Congress governments will be reserved for those aged under 50 and the same criteria will be applied while selecting candidates from the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

In his speech, Rahul Gandhi said the idea that certain number of positions should be for younger people is a very important. "I am not saying there should be no older people. But I am saying when it comes to PCCs, block Congress committees... when it comes to our leadership we should have a healthy mix of youngsters and seniors," he said. Importantly, he said, "We must ensure the idea that one person per family should get one ticket."

FULL REPORT ON
www.indianexpress.com

NEW CEC TAKES CHARGE

Rajiv Kumar takes charge as the 25th CEC at the Election Commission office in New Delhi on Sunday. Kumar will oversee the upcoming Assembly elections in Himachal Pradesh, Gujarat, Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh, Karnataka, Telangana, Tripura, Meghalaya, Mizoram and J&K, and the 2024 general elections during his tenure. PTI

UP: FIR against ex-MLA, wife, daughter for conspiring to kill Gyanpur MLA

Lucknow: Bhadohi police on Sunday registered an FIR against former MLA Vijay Mishra, his wife and daughter and three others for allegedly hatching a conspiracy to kill Gyanpur MLA Vipul Dubey.

Mishra, a four-time MLA from Gyanpur, lost to Dubey in the recently concluded Assembly elections in the state. While Mishra contested from jail on Pragatisheel Manav Samaj Party ticket, Dubey contested as NISHAD party nominee.

Police said that they registered the FIR after an inquiry into a viral video in which some people were purportedly heard planning to kill Dubey. "Two accused, identified as Saddam Hussain and Shiv Kumar Tiwari alias Sonu — both residents of Bhadohi — have been arrested. The role of other accused, including Vijay Mishra's wife Ramlali Mishra, is being probed," SP (Bhadohi) Anil Kumar said.

Vijay Mishra is currently lodged in jail following his arrest in a land grabbing case in 2020, filed by his relative Krishna Mohan Tiwari. Krishna Mohan's son Rajkamal Tiwari told them that two persons, who identified themselves as Saddam Hussain and Shiv Kumar, came to his residence on May 11 thinking it to be Mishra's residence and wanted to meet Ramlali Mishra, police said.

"The accused told Tiwari that Ramlali had promised them money. They told Tiwari that they had been asked to kill MLA Vipul Dubey and his close aide Manoj Mishra..." said a police officer. ENS

BKU spokesperson Rakesh Tikait

(Apolitical) alleged that they were upset with the "political" statements made by BKU spokesperson Rakesh Tikait during the farm law protests and the recent Assembly elections in Uttar Pradesh.

"BKU (Apolitical) has been formed because of the disagreements with BKU... Mahendra Singh Tikait was of the view that when we go to the government with 10 demands and even if four of them are accepted, the agitation should be withdrawn. But what is the situation today? The agitation continued for 13 months (against the three farm laws) and the laws were repealed after that. And yet people are not satisfied. It is a big issue," Harinam Singh, the UP chief of the newly formed outfit, said.

A couple of days ago, Rakesh Tikait had met the rebel leaders in Lucknow and tried to convince them to stay with the BKU. In the evening, BKU said that it has dismissed seven leaders, including Rajesh Singh Chauhan, Anil Talan, Harinam Verma, Dharmendra Mallik (all office bearers in the new outfit). It accused them of indulging in fake propaganda against the outfit.

‘Centre not consulting states on policies of national significance’

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, MAY 15

THE CENTRE is not taking state governments into confidence or holding consultations with them while drafting policies of national significance, Maharashtra Industries Minister Subhash Desai has said. The "constant friction and political turf war" between the BJP and states ruled by opposition parties has had a detrimental effect on the federal structure of the country, he added.

"The government of India needs to take states into confidence while drafting new policies

Maharashtra Industries Minister
Subhash
Desai

of national significance. It must hear the views of the states. That is what is lacking at this point of time. The dialogue that is needed between the two is not happening. If you take our views, we are not going to mislead you. We may, however, protect our state's interest. This exchange of ideas that is needed is not taking place," Desai said at an Express Townhall here.

Desai further said that despite Maharashtra's importance as a leading industrial state in the country, he has, since the formation of the Maharashtra Vikas Aghadi (MVA) government in 2019, not got a chance to physically hold a one-on-one meeting with either the central industries minister or the finance minister.

He also said that the Centre was not taking into consideration the views of states while planning important infrastructure projects such as the bullet train. "While creating infrastructure which is important for the entire country, you need to connect with all stakeholders..." Desai said.

Vice President M Venkaiah Naidu meets new UAE President Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed Al Nahyan. PTI

In UAE, V-P offers India's condolences over death of president

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
ABU DHABI, MAY 15

VICE PRESIDENT M Venkaiah Naidu on Sunday visited the UAE and offered condolences to the UAE leadership on the demise of late President of the UAE and Ruler of Abu Dhabi Sheikh Khalifa Bin Zayed Al Nahyan and reaffirmed that India and its people stand by the UAE at this difficult time.

Sheikh Khalifa passed away on Friday after battling illness for several years. He was 73.

Vice President Naidu, on landing here at noon, went straight to Mushrif Palace and offered his condolences to Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed Al Nahyan, newly-elected President of the UAE, the royal family and the entire leadership of the UAE, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said in a statement.

He conveyed the condolences of President Ram Nath Kovind and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, and reiterated that India and its people stand by the UAE at this difficult time.

Regional parties have no ideology, can't fight BJP: Rahul

MANOJ CG
UDAIPUR, MAY 15

FORMER CONGRESS president Rahul Gandhi on Sunday said his party alone can fight the BJP as regional parties neither have an ideology nor a centralised approach. The declaration adopted at the end of the three-day chintan shivir of the party, on the other hand, said the party will keep the doors open for alliances depending on the political situation.

Arguing that the political battle in India is between the ideologies of the Congress and BJP/RSS, he said this battle cannot be fought by a regional party.

Rahul said it was the Congress's responsibility to protect the institutions and restart the conversation between different religions and castes and between the states which the BJP government is trying to subvert and break. "No regional party will do this. The BJP or the RSS will not do it," he said.

"Regional parties belong to some caste. They don't represent everyone. This battle cannot be fought by a regional party. Because this is a battle of ideology. The ideology of the RSS is fighting against the ideology of the Congress. The BJP will talk about the Congress, its leaders and workers but will not talk about regional parties. Because they know that regional parties have a space but they cannot defeat the BJP because they don't have an ideology. They have different approaches. We have a centralised approach..." he said.

The Udaipur declaration adopted by the party, at the same time, said while the party on its own and through its organisational strength can make inroads, it was "committed to establish contact and have dialogue with all like-minded parties in the national interest and to save democracy... and keep the options open for alliances wherever necessary according to the political situation". It also said the party will engage with all social, cultural, NGOs, trade unions, think-tanks and civil society groups.

Saha takes oath as CM, says law & order, development top priority

DEBRAJ DEB
AGARTALA, MAY 15

MANIK SAHA on Sunday said his main focus as Tripura's new Chief Minister would be to further developmental activities started by the BJP-led state government and strengthen the law and order situation in the state.

Saha made the comments after being administered the oath of office by Governor Satyadeo Narain Arya at Raj Bhavan. The 69-year-old was named as the chief minister by the BJP in a surprise turn of events on Saturday after Biplab Kumar Deb was made to step down from the top post in the state just a year ahead of the Tripura Assembly elections.

While not explaining why he felt the law and order situation in Tripura needed strengthening, especially when his predecessor Deb boasted of reducing severe and political crimes, the new Chief Minister said he would work under the guidance of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to develop the state. "Our government under Biplab Deb ji has taken the state ahead. We shall work to continue this work and bring in development under the leadership of Modi... Development, development, development. I shall take these works ahead. I shall work to ensure a strong law and order situation," said Saha. The dental surgeon-turned-politician also said his experience of running the BJP's party organisation would help him in his role as the CM.

Newly sworn-in Tripura CM Manik Saha with former CM Biplab Kumar Deb in Agartala on Sunday. Abhishek Saha

The appointment of Saha, the state party president and a Rajya Sabha member, as the CM came as a surprise to everyone, including state ministers and leaders in the BJP. There were a series of protests against Deb during his four-year stint as the CM, including the 'Biplab Hatao, Tripura Bachao' slogan and rebellions from his cabinet colleague Sudip Roy Barman, who after being dropped from the cabinet exited the party.

Union Minister of State for Social Empowerment and Justice Pratima Bhoumik on Sunday said the decision to replace Deb was taken by the BJP's central leadership "to strengthen the party and win in 2023".

AAP, Twenty20 announce new political front in Kerala

SHAJU PHILIP THIRUVANANTHAPURAM,
MAY 15

AAM AADMI Party and Kerala-based Twenty20, the CSR wing of garment major KITEK Group, on Sunday announced a new political front, People's Welfare Alliance (PWA), in Kerala.

The announcement was jointly made by Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal and Twenty20 chief co-ordinator Sabu M Jacob, who is also MD of KITEK, at a mass convention held at Kizhakkambalam near Kochi.

Addressing the convention, Kejriwal said there are two options for the people of Kerala to select — "political parties which indulge in criminal activities and riots or honest parties such as AAP and Twenty20, which work for the welfare of the people"

"It is your duty to make the correct choice. If you want development and a better standard of living, you select the parties like AAP and Twenty20," the AAP leader said. Narrating the achievements and welfare measures of the AAP government in Delhi, Kejriwal said such work is possible in Kerala as well. "We have to make an alliance of 130 crore people in the country," he said.

AAP national convener Arvind Kejriwal and Twenty20 party coordinator Sabu M Jacob in Kochi on Sunday. PTI

He said political parties, which are filled with criminals, have made life miserable for the ordinary people. These parties and their leaders have become a liability for the people, he said.

He also said that the developmental work undertaken by Twenty20 in Kerala are inspiring. Twenty20, which is AAP's partner in the newly formed alliance PWA, is ruling four village panchayats in Ernakulam district. Twenty20 coordinator Sabu M Jacob said the PWA would make a situation conducive for peaceful life of people.

Targeting the CPI(M) government in Kerala, Jacob said the proposed K-Rail project would kill Kerala. "The state has a government, which does not run a transport bus profitably. How can such a government run the Rs 62,000-crore K-Rail project," he said.

6 EXPRESS NETWORK

Shopian: Civilian killed in crossfire, probe ordered

BASHAARAT MASOOD
SRINAGAR, MAY 15

POLICE ON Sunday said a civilian was killed in crossfire between militants and a joint team of police and Central Reserve Police Force in south Kashmir. The relatives of the civilian, however, contested police's claim. The Shopian administration has ordered a magisterial inquiry into the killing.

Shoib Ahmad Ganie (22), a resident of Turkwangam village, Shopian, was killed in crossfire during the "chance encounter", police said.

"Terrorists fired upon joint patrol party of RPF 182 Bn (and) SOG of Pulwama near the bridge connecting Litter (village of) Pulwama with Turkwangam, Shopian. During the exchange of fire, 01 civilian namely Shoib Ah Ganie S/O Gh Mohd R/O Turkwangam Shopian got injured... He (the civilian) was referred to District Hospital Pulwama for treatment where he succumbed to injuries. Terrorists after brief chance encounter managed to slip into nearby orchards... A case has been registered and investigations taken up," Kashmir Zone Police tweeted.

However, the relatives of Shoib contested police's claims. "He (Shoib) was in his shop wearing an olive shirt. When the forces reached there, he came down from his shop. The forces asked him to put his hands up and then, fired at him. They are now making up the stories to save the personnel behind the cold-blooded murder," said a relative.

However, a senior police officer said: "It will be clear in police investigation and magisterial inquiry". Later in the day, Shopian DC Sachin Kumar Vaishya ordered a magisterial inquiry into the killing. The inquiry would be conducted by the Additional District Magistrate, Shopian.

Kashmiri Pandits protest in Srinagar, Sunday. Shuaib Masoodi

PAGD seeks safe working environment for Pandits

BASHAARAT MASOOD
SRINAGAR, MAY 15

THE LEADERS of People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration and a BJP delegation on Sunday met Lt Governor Manoj Sinha to seek safe working environment for the Kashmiri Pandit employees posted in the Valley.

On Sunday morning, PAGD leaders led by its president Farooq Abdullah called on Lt Governor Sinha at Raj Bhawan in Srinagar. Abdullah was accompanied by ex-CM and Peoples Democratic Party president Mehbooba Mufti, Communist Party leader M Y Tarigami, Awami National Conference senior vice-president Muzaffar Shah and National Conference parliamentarian Hasnain Masoodi.

"The meeting was positive. We met him (Sinha). We had only one issue to discuss and that was of Kashmiri Pandits. We sought safe and secure working environment for the [Kashmiri] Pandit employees," Tarigami told

The Indian Express.

On Saturday, a delegation of the Kashmiri Pandit employees posted in Valley met the PAGD leaders after which the alliance partners decided to meet the Lt Governor. After the killing of Rahul Bhat, a clerk in the revenue department, by militants in Budgam district's Chadoora on Thursday, the Kashmiri Pandit employees have been demanding posting at secure locations.

Tarigami said Lt Governor Sinha ruled out shifting of these employees to Jammu. "He said we can't agree to this demand (transfer to Jammu). He said they have been appointed under the PM's Package and there is no scope for that," Tarigami said, adding: "We told him to post them at suitable and secure places."

Earlier in the day, a BJP delegation led by its J&K in charge Ravinder Raina also met LG Sinha. While the official statement from Raj Bhawan mentioned about the meeting between LG and the BJP delegation, it remained silent on the one with PAGD leaders.

In $60-million UN scandal, a $2.5-million housing investment in Goa — and no house to show for it

KRISHN KAUSHIK & MAYURA JANWALKAR
NEW DELHI, PANAJI, MAY 15

A $60-MILLION scandal involving loans and grants by a little-known UN agency also included a $2.5 million investment to build affordable houses in India in 2019 — none of which has materialised yet.

The United Nations Office for Project Services (UNOPS), which deals with operational projects, had entrusted the entire sum to a single British businessman and now faces $22 million in bad debts, as per a New York Times report earlier this month.

A Singapore-based firm, owned by the businessman, David Kendrick, was in charge of getting at least 50,000 houses built in Goa for $2.5 million, UN documents show.

A couple in Delhi, Amit Gupta and Arti Jain, are the directors of this firm — Sustainable Housing Solutions (SHS) Holdings Pvt Ltd — that registered zero revenue and Rs 27,289 in losses in 2020-21.

The project was under the Sustainable Infrastructure Impact Investments (S3I) initiative, launched in 2018, which is now being probed by the UN for allocating all its funding to companies linked to Kendrick.

The head of UNOPS, Grete

Faremo, also stepped down earlier this month over the issue.

Gupta, who is the CEO of SHS, told The Indian Express that the project had been shelved. A senior Goa government official confirmed to The Indian Express that a presentation was made to officials by SHS Holdings for the construction of the proposed housing units in Goa.

However, officials had questioned how supporting infrastructure like power and roads would be made available for the housing units also. They also had reservations about how the government could award such a large housing project to a private firm without a tendering project, said this official, requesting anonymity.

"No land was identified for the project. In fact, the discussions did not even reach the stage where the fund-sharing pattern for the project was discussed," the official said.

Gupta claimed it was the Goa government that had approached UNOPS. "There was an agreement with the Goa government in February 2019 and then there was a supplementary agreement signed in March 2019. We sent some follow-up mails after that because the state was supposed to allot land to us. We followed up till August-September 2019. When we did not get a response, we were told by UNOPS that it was Goa that wanted these houses to be built and that if they don't want to follow up, we don't have to either. Whenever they want to come in, they can. We left it there at that point in time."

Government officials, however, said no such proposal had been made to UNOPS and had that been the case, the project would not have been shelved. Sources said discussions last took place with SHS Holdings in February 2019, and that the file was shelved after then CM Manohar Parrikar died. A couple of meetings were held with SHS India officials but nobody from UNOPS had met government officials, they said.

FULL REPORT ON
www.indianexpress.com

Centre relaxes procurement norms for shrivelled, broken wheat grains

HARIKISHAN SHARMA
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

THE CENTRE on Sunday announced a major relaxation in the Fair and Average Quality (FAQ) norms of wheat by raising the maximum permissible limit of "shrivelled and broken grains" to 18 per cent from the existing 6 per cent. The move is aimed at providing relief to Punjab and Haryana farmers during the ongoing rabi marketing season.

A statement issued by the Union Ministry of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution said: "The Centre has decided to allow FCI to procure wheat in Punjab and Haryana, including UT of Chandigarh, for central pool by relaxing the FAQ of shrivelled and broken grains up to 18 per cent without any value cut. This decision will reduce the hardships of farmers and avoid distress sale of wheat."

The move comes after the two states wrote to the Centre, seeking relaxation in the Uniform Specifications of Wheat for RMS 2022-23. They had urged the Centre to raise the maximum permissible limit of shrivelled and broken grains to 20 per cent.

According to the Food Ministry, Central teams were deputed in Punjab and Haryana in April-May to collect samples from mandis, which were later analysed in FCI labs. "The results indicated presence of shrivelled and broken grains beyond FAQ norms," the statement said.

"The emergence of shrivelled

EXPLAINED
Why quality norms have been relaxed

THE MOVE to relax the FAQ norms is significant in view of the expected fall in the procurement of wheat during the current year. According to the Food Ministry, 195 lakh metric tonnes (LMT) of wheat is expected to be procured during the current rabi season, which is less than half as compared to 433 LMT procured last year. According to the ministry, 180 LMT wheat has been procured till May 14, much lower than 367 LMT procured during the corresponding period in 2021-22.

grains is a natural phenomenon appearing as a result of extreme heat wave in March. These adverse weather conditions are beyond the control of farmers and hence, they should not be penalised for such natural occurrence," it said, adding: "Accordingly, the change in texture of the grain deserves to be sympathetically considered by government to ease the hardship of farmers. Thus, suitable relaxation in FAQ norms would protect interests of farmers and promote efficient procurement and distribution of food grains."

FULL REPORT ON
www.indianexpress.com

A grain market in Patiala, Sunday. Harmeet Sodhi

WHEAT PROCURED (2022-23)

REFRACTIONS IN FAQ NORMS

Category	Max permissible limit
Moisture	14%
Slightly damaged grains	4%
Other food grains	2%
Damaged grains	2%
Foreign matter	0.75%

Source: Food Corporation of India

Art 370 basis for accession of J&K to India, could not be removed: Omar

ARUN SHARMA
JAMMU, MAY 15

NATIONAL CONFERENCE (NC) vice-president Omar Abdullah on Sunday said Article 370 had been a "temporary" provision in the Constitution, but it could not have been removed as it formed the basis for accession of J&K to India.

"At that time, the resolution was taken to the United Nations Security Council. On the basis of that resolution, Article 370 was not given a permanent status," he said, while addressing reporters at Surankote on the second day of his tour to Poonch district.

"But thereafter when you say that Jammu and Kashmir is an integral part of India and it cannot be disintegrated from it, then you cannot remove that basis on which it had become an integral part of the country," he added.

However, he refused to enter a debate over the issue, saying the matter was pending before the court. Pointing out that the Article 370 temporary provision: Omar Abdullah

CJI had agreed to hear the matter after summer vacation, he said: "Let them start hearing and we will place our case before them."

The statement assumes significance as it has come when the Supreme Court has agreed to consider listing after summer vacation the petitions challenging Centre's decision to abrogate Article 370, which gave special status to the erstwhile state of Jammu and Kashmir. Of the nearly two dozen petitions pending before the Supreme Court, one has been filed by NC Lok Sabha members Mohammad Akbar Lone and Hasnain Masoodi, a retired High Court judge.

Describing bifurcation of erstwhile Jammu and Kashmir state into two Union Territories of J&K and Ladakh, the NC leader said there had never been such an example of a state being downgraded to a UT. Though UP, Bihar and Andhra Pradesh were bifurcated in the past, those were not made UTs, he added. "This is for the first time that a state was divided into two and both were made UTs," Omar said, adding: "No one can explain as to why it was done as elections were also not contested over this issue. I would have understood if BJP had said anything about it in its manifesto."

Omar has been on tour of Pir Panjal region comprising Poonch and Rajouri districts to mobilise support for the NC, especially after the delimitation commission submitted its final report to the Central Government regarding new geographical boundaries of Assembly and Lok Sabha constituencies in J&K. PM Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah have already said that Assembly elections in J&K will follow the delimitation of constituencies.

Cops booked for murder as woman 'shot' during raid

MANISH SAHU
LUCKNOW, MAY 15

A MURDER FIR was registered Sunday against unidentified policemen after a 53-year-old woman was allegedly shot dead following a police raid in Siddharthnagar's Kodara Grant village in connection with a suspected case of cow slaughter on Saturday night.

Roshni was allegedly shot dead while her son was being taken for questioning, said police.

"The residents of the area attacked the police team and opened fire. The woman suffered a bullet injury during the attack and died during treatment at a hospital," said the police.

The woman's family and neighbours, however, alleged that the police had opened fire — a charge denied by Siddharthnagar police. A video-graphed autopsy was conducted, after which the body was handed over to her family. "The autopsy stated there is an exit and entry wound. We are investigating how the woman was shot," said SP (Siddharthnagar) Yesh Veer Singh. Heavy police force has been deployed in the village to avoid any untoward incident.

According to the police, Saturday's raid came after four persons from Kodara Grant village were arrested in a case of cow slaughter around four days ago.

"The accused told us the names of a few residents of the area who were allegedly involved in cow slaughtering," said a police officer. Circle Officer Pradeep

Kumar Yadav said, "A police team reached Kodara Grant village and decided to take Roshni's son, Abdul Rehman, to the police station for questioning. While they were taking him, villagers surrounded them. Roshni, Abdul's brother Ubai-Ur-Rehman and the villagers started arguing with the police. The situation took an ugly turn when they attacked the police team and started pelting stones. In the meantime, Abdul managed to escape. The residents then opened fire at the police," police said.

Jammers, biometrics, mehendi ban: Rajasthan tries to avoid paper leak

DEEP MUKHERJEE
JAIPUR, MAY 15

"THEY DIDN'T even let me take this into the examination hall," says Manish Regar, pointing to a metal buckle on his black baseball cap. Waiting at the Vidhyadhar Nagar stadium for a bus home, the 23-year-old talks incredulously about the strict security measures in place for the constable recruitment exam that began Friday.

"They didn't allow this full-sleeved shirt I was wearing either," Regar says, as lathi-wielding policemen from the Rajasthan Armed Constabulary stand guard.

This year, the test conducted by the Rajasthan Police has been held at 470 centres across the state. Spread over four days, the test will see around 19 lakh candidates, like Regar, vying for jobs.

And with the sting of last year's Rajasthan Eligibility Examination for Teachers exam or REET still fresh, security has been stepped up as the government desperately hopes to avoid a REET-like situation.

Apart from the usual screening for prohibited items, candidates have to go through a biometric identification system and jammers block mobile phone signals in and around the venue.

The REET scandal had come as a major embarrassment for the Congress, with CM Ashok Gehlot removing the chairman of the Rajasthan Board of Secondary Education.

This time around, as free bus services ferried candidates to and from their respective exam centres, caution remains high. ADG (recruitment and promotion board) Binita Thakur says only police personnel and invigilators have been allowed to be present inside the exam centres.

With a digital biometric system in place too, she says, candidates, particularly women, have been instructed not to have mehendi or ink on their hands.

Tie-ups between Indian, foreign varsities: UGC begins outreach

SOURAV ROY BARMAN
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

IN A major push to scale up collaborations between Indian and foreign institutions in higher education, the University Grants Commission (UGC) has reached out to nearly 500 foreign universities, located across the US, UK, Europe and East Asia.

The commission now plans to hold a meeting with the heads of foreign missions in India to discuss the possibilities of tie-ups in step with the recently notified regulations on twinning programmes, joint degree and dual degree programmes that will be applicable from the academic year 2022-23.

The University Grants Commission (Academic Collaboration between Indian and Foreign Higher Education Institutions to offer Joint Degree, Dual Degree, and Twinning Programmes) Regulations, 2022 were notified in April.

"We have also sent them

Written to 500 foreign universities: UGC chief M Jagadeesh Kumar

(foreign institutions) a list of eligible Indian universities with whom MoUs can be signed. We have not written to any universities in China although some of their universities fulfill the eligibility criteria," UGC chairperson M Jagadeesh Kumar told The Indian Express on Sunday.

Under the regulations, foreign institutions willing to collaborate must rank in the top 1000 in either the Times Higher Education or QS rankings. The Indian universities meeting the same standard or placed among the top 100 in the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF), or having a minimum score of 3.01 from the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) are eligible.

Academic collaborations between Indian and foreign institutions in the higher education sector is among the key recommendations of the National Education Policy, 2020.

Work is also underway to pave the way for reputed Indian institutes such as IIT Delhi to set up campuses abroad. A committee under IIT council chairman Dr K Radhakrishnan formed last December recently submitted its recommendations for opening offshore campuses of Indian higher educational institutions.

Deliberations of another expert panel to get prestigious foreign universities to set up campuses in India have also reached the "final stage", Prof Kumar said. "It will also reduce a part of the outflow of foreign exchange which stands at about $US 25 billion currently."

According to official estimates, about 50,000 international students are currently enrolled in courses offered by Indian universities.

Assam: Three killed as heavy rain, landslides wreak havoc

TORA AGARWALA
GUWAHATI, MAY 15

AT LEAST three people have died and thousands have been affected as heavy rainfall continued to lash parts of Assam since Friday. On Sunday, as rail connectivity in the hill district of Dima Hasao snapped, the Air Force was called in to rescue stranded passengers.

According to a bulletin from the Assam State Disaster Management Authority (AS-DMA), 56,000 people across seven districts (Cachar, Dhemaji, Hojai, Karbi Anglong West, Nagaon, Nalbari and Kamrup) have been affected. More than 41,000 people have been affected in Cachar alone, followed by 13,523 in Hojai district.

The ASDMA release said that landslides, erosion and infrastructural damage, including those to bridges, were reported in Hojai, Dima Hasao, and Karimganj, among others. A landslide in Dima Hasao's

Stranded passengers being evacuated from the railway station in Dima Hasao. Northeast Frontier Railways Haflong revenue circle led to the death of a family of three.

Three more were missing on Sunday in Cachar district.

Earlier on Sunday, as Silchar-Guwahati Express and Guwahati-Silchar Express remained stranded at Ditokcherra and New Haflong stations in Dima Hasao, respectively, the Air Force airlifted 100-odd passengers from Ditokcherra.

Monsoon to hit Andaman Sea today

Pune: The southwest monsoon is most likely to hit the South Andaman Sea, Nicobar islands and Southeast Bay of Bengal on Monday, the India Meteorological Department said. Once realised, the monsoon will arrive over the islands nearly a week ahead of its normal schedule. ENS

New Delhi

@ieExplained

#ExpressExplained

If there are questions of current or contemporary relevance that you would like explained, please write to explained@indianexpress.com

EXPLAINED HEALTH

How to protect yourself from heat-related illness

EXPERT EXPLAINS

DR SURANJIT CHATTERJEE

From The Indian Express panel of specialists, exclusive insight

WITH TEMPERATURES crossing 40°C in several parts of the country, and states such as Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat and Maharashtra experiencing a heat wave, doctors have been treating a number of patients with complaints of heat exhaustion and other heat-related illnesses.

What is heat-related illness and how can one protect oneself from it?

We mostly see cases of heat exhaustion, in which people feel extremely lethargic after stepping out during the day. But the high temperatures may also lead to a heat stroke, where the body overheats to more than 104°F, resulting in damage to the organs and neurological dysfunctions. It can result in fainting, rashes etc.

The most important thing is to stay well hydrated, especially when out in the heat. Hydration can be in the form of water or something with electrolytes, such as shikanji. Also, thirst is not the only good indicator of whether you need to have more fluids. So, people must keep track of how much water they are consuming. The thing that one should keep an eye on is the urine output, which goes down when a person is dehydrated.

Other than that, people must not wear dark-coloured, tight fitting, synthetic clothes when it is as hot as this. Light-coloured, cotton clothes are the best. Covering the head also helps.

As much as possible, people should stay indoors during extremely hot hours.

Protection from the heat in Delhi on Sunday. Shivam Kumar Jha

How much water or fluids should one consume? Can people overdo it?

Yes, people can certainly overdo it. I have heard people talking about drinking water every 20 minutes. That's not how it works. The amount of water intake depends on a person's health.

An apparently healthy, young person should drink between 2.5 to 3 litres of water a day. Perhaps, an additional 0.5 to 1 litre of water can be had if they are out in the sun. Anything more may overload the kidneys, which have to work harder to flush out the extra water. Excess water may also lead to electrolyte imbalance, which can cause its own set of problems.

Then, there are persons living with a kidney or a heart disease, and they should not overload themselves with water as it may result in accumulation of fluid in the legs, abdomen, and chest, which can in turn lead to breathing difficulties. People with such chronic conditions have to drink between 1 to 1.5 litres of water throughout the day. However, this would depend on the condition of their organs. Anyone who is on fluid restriction should definitely get in touch with their physician to check how much water they should have.

Having electrolyte-rich fluids is a better option when people are out in the sun. Around two to three glasses of shikanji wouldn't be a problem for a healthy person. Again, those with any comorbidities should keep an eye on what they are having; for example, diabetics should avoid ORS solutions because they are high in sugar content.

Which section is most vulnerable in this season?

Children below the age of 5 and people above 65 are more vulnerable to the impact of heat. They must avoid stepping out during the hot hours, and if they have to, they must be extremely careful and stay well hydrated. However, young healthy people are not completely safe either. They mostly constitute the working population and are more likely to step out in the sun.

THE EXPERT

Dr SURANJIT CHATTERJEE is Senior Consultant, Internal Medicine, at Indraprastha Apollo Hospital, Delhi. He has worked in the field of general medicine for over 25 years, treating both communicable and non-communicable diseases.

Also, anyone living with comorbidities such as cardiac diseases, diabetes, or thyroid is likely to feel the effect of sun exposure more.

Should people exercise in this season?

Exercising is not a problem; exercising when it is hot is. If people want to go out for a walk or a jog, they should either do it early in the morning between 5-6 am or in the evening after 7 pm. People should not do any physical activity between 10 am and 6 pm when it is this hot.

And, if people can exercise indoors – at home if they have enough space, or at the gym – then that is better than outdoor exercise.

Dr Chatterjee spoke to Anonna Dutt

SIMPLY PUT

The impact of price volatility

Normal food inflation does not hurt as much as sudden price increases, as has been the case with edible oils in the last few years. This is not good either for consumers or for producers.

HARISH DAMODARAN

NEW DELHI, MAY 15

BETWEEN MAY 13, 2014 and May 13, 2022, the average "modal" (most-quoted) retail price of palm oil in India rose over 2.3 times, from Rs 68.5 to Rs 160 per kg. So did the consumer prices of packed sunflower (2.1 times; from Rs 90 to Rs 190.75/kg) and soyabean (2.2 times; from Rs 77 to Rs 170/kg) oil.

Assessing the hikes

These are massive hikes, aren't they? Well, not quite. It can be seen from Table 1 that more than 90% of the price increases in palm, sunflower, soyabean and even mustard oil over the eight-year period – roughly coinciding with the Narendra Modi government assuming office – has happened just during the last three years. In vanaspathi (hydrogenated vegetable oil), the entire increase has taken place within the last three years, while well over two-thirds for groundnut oil.

Simply put, edible oil is a commodity that actually saw very little inflation during the first five years of the Modi government – in fact, going back further to 2011. Plentiful supplies of cheap imported oil – palm from Indonesia and Malaysia, soyabean from Argentina and Brazil, and sunflower from Ukraine and Russia – ensured access to a product that virtually defied food inflation.

It is only the period after mid- to late-2019 – the Modi government's second term – that has witnessed a doubling of consumer prices of imported vegetable oils. That includes vanaspathi, which is largely made from imported palm oil (the process involves hydrogenation or adding hydrogen to harden and raise the melting point of the oil, yielding a product mimicking desi ghee). Prices of indigenous oils, especially mustard and groundnut, have also gone up disproportionately only in the last three years.

When inflation is low, people think of other things. That was precisely the case with edible oils for an extended period from 2011 till mid-/late-2019. It's when prices suddenly shoot up that they take notice and the government, too, starts talking about the need for achieving "atmanirbharta" (self-reliance)". India consumes 22.5-23 million tonnes (mt) of vegetable oils annually, out of which 13.5-

TABLE 1

ALL-INDIA MODAL RETAIL PRICE OF EDIBLE OILS (Rs/kg)

	Palm	Vanaspathi	Mustard	Groundnut	Soyabean	Sunflower
2014	68.5	70	91.5	116.5	77	90
2015	60	75	87	121.25	81	100
2016	67	71.33	90	135	80	92
2017	67	75	100	130	80	92.5
2018	75	70	100	115	85	91
2019	76	70	100	140	85	100
2020	90	100	120	142.5	90	110
2021	140	140	160	180	155	145
2022	160	170	187.5	188.5	170	190.75

All prices as on May 13 in that year.

Source: Department of Consumer Affairs

TABLE 2

MRP OF AMUL POUCH MILK IN DELHI-NCR (Rs/litre)

	Full cream	Toned	Cow
May 9, 2014	48	38	-
June 3, 2016	50	40	42
March 11, 2017	52	42	44
May 21, 2019	54	44	46
Dec 15, 2019	56	46	48
July 1, 2021	58	48	50
March 1, 2022	60	50	52

Full cream: 6% fat, 9% SNF; Toned: 3% Fat, 8.5% SNF; Cow milk: 3.5% Fat, 8.5% SNF

Source: Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation.

14.5 mt is imported and the balance 8.5-9.0 mt produced from domestic sources.

A sudden spurt in prices (volatility) is different from normal inflation. Steep price increases within short periods hurts consumers more than when the same is spread over time. Take vanaspathi. Had retail prices risen by Rs 12.5/kg every year after 2014, consumers would have felt it less than the average annual increase of Rs 33.33 over the last three years and almost nil during the previous five years. Volatility – both prices crashing and excessively soaring – isn't good for producers either. These create distortions, leading to their sharply slashing or expanding acreages, further augmenting volatility.

Milk vs oil

The contrast between volatility and normal inflation is clearer when one looks at another essential item of consumption: branded liquid milk. The Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation has been raising the maximum retail price of its Amul milk by Rs 2 per litre every two years or so, with other brands mostly following the market leader. The cumulative price increase over the last eight years has been Rs 12 per litre (Table 2). It translates into a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 2.83% for full-cream milk with 6% fat and 9% SNF or solids-not-fat content. Paying Rs 1.5/litre more every year for milk wouldn't have pinched the way the sudden Rs 40-60/kg rise in mustard, palm or soyabean oil price in a single year has.

It isn't milk alone. Inflation has been low for sugar and rice, too. According to data from the department of consumer affairs, between May 13, 2014 and May 13, 2022, the modal retail price of sugar has gone up from Rs 36 to Rs 42 per kg (CAGR of 1.95%) and from Rs 24 to Rs 31.5 per kg (3.46%) for rice. Even wheat and atta (whole flour) have recorded relatively low inflation during this period – from Rs 18.5 to Rs 22/kg and Rs 20 to Rs 28/kg, respectively, corresponding to CAGRs of 2.19% and 4.3%.

The wheat effect

The situation could, of course, change for wheat in the coming months. A poor crop (courtesy of the post mid-March heat wave), depleted public stocks (due to 15-year-low government procurement) and skyrocketing global prices (following the Russian invasion of Ukraine) can well do to wheat what the last three years have done for edible oils.

The impact of price volatility is already being felt, especially in products where both wheat and vegetable fats are key ingredients: bread, biscuit, cookies, cakes and noodles. Biscuit typically contains up to 58% maida (refined wheat flour), 12% fat and 15% sugar. Ordinary white bread will have 85-90% maida and 4-5% fats, which act as a lubricant and impart necessary softness, texture and mouth-feel. Vegetable oil and wheat getting simultaneously expensive – sugar hasn't so far – would make it difficult for a whole host of food and bakery product industries.

To sum up, food inflation is a problem when concentrated within a relatively short period (such as in edible oils) and spread across commodities (wheat is the latest addition). Also, the probability of price volatility is more in commodities with high import dependence. Indian consumers benefited when global edible oil prices were low through much of the last decade. The tide turned first with drought in Ukraine in 2020 and Covid-19-induced shortages of migrant labourers in Malaysia's oil palm plantations. The Russia-Ukraine war, Indonesia's palm oil export ban and dry weather in South America's soyabean-growing belts have worsened matters.

In wheat, where prices at the Chicago Board of Trade futures exchange are ruling around 62% higher than a year ago, the likelihood of volatility would still be lower in India. The only reason is the country's atmanirbharta in the cereal, making it less vulnerable to international price fluctuations. The ban on exports – similar to what Indonesia did in palm oil – will provide further insulation.

Who is Devasahayam Pillai, first Indian layman to be declared a saint by Vatican?

DEVASAHAYAM PILLAI, who was born a Hindu in Kanyakumari district of Tamil Nadu and converted to Christianity in the 18th century, became the first Indian layman to be declared a saint by the Vatican on Sunday.

Pope Francis canonised Blessed Devasahayam during the Canonisation Mass in St Peter's Basilica, which was attended by over 50,000 faithful from all over the world, as well as government delegations honouring him and nine other new saints, PTI reported.

Besides Devasahayam, the Pope proclaimed five other men – Titus Brandsma, Cesar de Bus, Luigi Maria Palazzolo, Giustino Maria Russolillo, and Charles de Foucauld – and four women – Maria Rivier, Maria Francesca of Jesus Rubatto, Maria of Jesus Santocanale, and Maria Domenica Mantovani – as saints.

Life and death

Devasahayam was born on April 23, 1712 in Nattalam village in Kanyakumari district, and went on to serve in the court of Marthanda Varma of Travancore. After meeting a Dutch naval commander at the court, Devasahayam was baptised in 1745, and assumed the name 'Lazarus', meaning 'God is my help'.

"His conversion did not go well with the heads of his native religion. False charges of treason and espionage were brought against him and he was divested of his post in the royal administration," the Vatican said in a note in February 2020. According to the Vatican, "while preaching, he particularly insisted on the equality of all people, despite caste differences", which "aroused the hatred of the higher classes, and he was arrested in 1749".

On January 14, 1752, Devasahayam was shot dead in the Aralvaimozhy forest. He is widely considered a martyr, and his mortal remains were interred inside what is now Saint Francis Xavier's Cathedral in Kottar, Nagercoil.

Sainthood road

In 2004, the diocese of Kottar along with Tamil Nadu Bishops' Council and Conference of Catholic Bishops of India recommended Devasahayam for beatification. He was declared blessed by the Kottar diocese in 2012, 300 years after his birth.

The tapestry depicting Titus Brandsma (1881-1942; top), and Lazarus a.k.a. Devasahayam (1712-1752) at the Vatican on Sunday, during their canonisation mass, AP

During the midday 'Angelus' prayer in the Vatican that day, Pope Benedict XVI described Devasahayam as a "faithful layman", and urged Christians to "join in the joy of the Church in India and pray that the new Blessed may sustain the faith of the Christians of that large and noble country", the note from the Vatican said.

In 2014, Pope Francis recognised a miracle attributed to Devasahayam, clearing the path to his canonisation. He was approved for sainthood in February 2020 for "enduring increasing hardships" after he decided to embrace Christianity, according to the Vatican, which last November announced May 15, 2022 as the date for the ceremony.

While clearing Devasahayam for sainthood in 2020, the Vatican dropped 'Pillai' from his name, and referred to him as "Blessed Devasahayam".

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Vaccine against 3 encephalitis viruses found safe, effective

A VACCINE for eastern equine encephalitis virus (EEEV), western equine encephalitis virus (WEEV), and Venezuelan equine encephalitis virus (VEEV) was found to be safe, well-tolerated and induced a neutralising antibody response in adult volunteers, according to results from a phase 1 clinical trial, published in The Lancet Infectious Diseases.

EEEV, WEEV and VEEV are spread to humans through the bites of infected mosquitoes. Horses are also susceptible to infection, but horses cannot transmit the viruses directly to humans. Infections in humans are rare but can lead to flu-like symptoms and, in some cases, severe neurological damage or death.

Researchers designed a virus-like particle (VLP) vaccine candidate that uses proteins from the outer shells of the viruses, the US National Institutes of Health said in a media release. VLPs do not contain the genetic material that the viruses need to replicate inside cells, so VLPs cannot cause infection. In trials on 30 candidates, the vaccine was safe, well-tolerated and induced durable immune responses against all three viruses, the release said.

SOURCE: NIH, US

THIS WORD MEANS: MONK SKIN TONE SCALE

Google's innovation aimed at inclusiveness

SRIDHAR V

NEW DELHI, MAY 15

AMONG THE various artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) initiatives announced by Google last week at its annual I/O developer conference, one was a 10-shade Monk Skin Tone (MST) Scale – something that could have a broader sociological significance. In Google's words, the MST Scale will "support inclusive product and research across the industry".

What is the MST Scale?

Developed in partnership with Dr Ellis Monk, associate professor of sociology at Harvard University, the MST Scale is a tool that will be primarily incorporated by Google into computer vision, which is a type of AI that allows computers to see and understand images. It has been found that computer vision systems often do not function as efficiently for people with darker skin as they do for those with fairer skin. Using the MST Scale, Google and the tech industry are aiming to build more representative datasets so that such AI models can be trained to identify a wider range of skin tones in images.

How will it work?

According to Google, the scale will "make it easier for people of all backgrounds to find more relevant and helpful" search results. For instance, users who search for makeup or beauty tutorials in Google Images will see an option to refine search results further by their skin tone. Going ahead, Google will utilise the MST Scale to better detect and categorise images to give a larger range of results.

The tech giant plans to expand the use of this database created based on different skin tones, so that creators and online businesses may label their content or products based on other attributes, such as hair colour and hair texture. Google has openly released the scale so that anyone can use it for research and product development.

Why such a scale?

According to Dr Courtney Heldreth, a social psychologist and user experience (UX) researcher at Google's Responsible AI Human-Centered Technologies UX department, "persistent inequities exist globally due to prejudice or discrimination against individuals with darker skin tones, also known as colourism".

And AI not accurately seeing skin tone, which could further lead to existing inequities, is a type of colourism.

To bridge this gap, a Google research team including Heldreth and Xango Eyeé, a product manager working on Responsible AI, focused on bringing more skin tone equity to AI development. The team last year partnered with Monk, whose research has centred on how factors like skin tone, race and ethnicity affect inequality.

The MST scale builds on the foundation of the existing Fitzpatrick scale, developed by American dermatologist Thomas B Fitzpatrick in 1975, which classified human skin type into seven broad colours. The Google team and Monk arrived at a scale composed of 10 shades – a range pegged to be not too limiting but also not too complex – and surveyed thousands of adults in the US who felt more represented with the new methodology.

Are there similar projects elsewhere?

Several large corporations stepped up their efforts towards colour-based inclusiveness in light of the 2020 Black Lives Matter protests, which had happened in aftermath of police brutality and the killing of African American George Floyd. In 2020, Johnson & Johnson-owned Band-Aid launched a new range of adhesive bandages in different shades of black and brown to make its products more inclusive for people of colour.

In India, amid a backlash and strong public feedback over discrimination against people with darker skin tones, the Advertising Standards Council of India (ASCI) in 2014 released guidelines for the advertising of skin lightening and fairness products. More recently, in 2020, Hindustan Unilever-owned cosmetic brand Fair & Lovely was renamed Glow & Lovely, after criticism for promoting colourism in its advertisements and marketing campaigns.

New Delhi

CAUGHT WITH CHAFF

Government ban on wheat exports hurts farmers and traders, dents India's image as a reliable global supplier

LAST JULY, THE Narendra Modi government imposed stockholding limits on pulses, going against the farm reform laws it had enacted only in September 2020 and before their formal repeal in November 2021. That move, and the latest decision banning wheat exports, constitutes not just knee-jerk reaction to inflationary pressures. Of more concern is their long-term impact on the farm trade and policy credibility. Building export markets, establishing warehousing infrastructure and creating supply chains takes both time and money. Investments in these — whose necessity for Indian farmers and consumers alike is not in doubt — are predicated on a stable policy framework. Which agri-business will have the confidence to put up large processing and storage facilities or search for new buyers for Indian produce if the government does abrupt policy about-turns — by telling them they cannot stock more than 200 tonnes of pulses or contract fresh exports?

The flip-flops in government actions is evident from the department of commerce, on May 12, issuing a statement about the Centre sending trade delegations to nine countries “for exploring possibilities of boosting wheat exports from India” and, a day later, prohibiting shipments “with immediate effect”. True, the country's wheat production has fallen due to the sudden spike in temperatures from mid-March, resulting in premature ripening and shrivelling of the grains. But this was known by early-April, when most ground reports pointed to farmers harvesting 15–20 per cent less yields compared to last year. How was the Minister of Commerce Piyush Goyal, then, talking about Indian farmers “feeding the world” and projecting exports of 10–15 million tonnes (mt) in 2022–23, breaking last year's record 7 mt, even in mid-April? This was indicative of either poor crop intelligence — inability to gauge yield losses from the heat wave — or refusal to admit that production has been significantly lower than the “record” 111.32 mt estimate made in mid-February.

The ban on exports has apparently been prompted by wheat procurement plunging to around 18 mt, from last year's all-time-high 43.3 mt, and the resultant depletion in public stocks seen as threatening “food security”. But if that was so, what stopped the government to pay a bonus above the minimum support price, incentivising farmers to sell to it rather than private traders and exporters? Nor was there any need to continue with supplying free wheat, apart from the regular quota of ration cardholders. If at all exports were to be discouraged in order to contain inflation, a better way would have been to impose a tariff or a minimum price below which shipments aren't permitted. A blanket ban is like breaking the knees of farmers and traders, from which they will find it difficult to recover — leave alone helping India's emergence as a reliable global supplier.

BLAME IT ON PUTIN

Russia's Ukraine invasion is driving NATO expansion. Moves by Sweden and Finland to abandon neutrality are evidence PRESIDENT VLADIMIR PUTIN'S invasion of Ukraine is not only turning out to be a military blunder, but also a political disaster for Russia. It is producing strategic outcomes that Putin's war apparently aimed to prevent — the further expansion of Western military alliance, the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO). The decision by Finland and Sweden — two countries that steadfastly remained neutral in the Cold War between the Soviet Union and the West during the second half of the 20th century — to join NATO marks an important moment in the strategic evolution of Europe since the Ukraine crisis began.

The smaller countries on Moscow's western periphery are afraid — very afraid — of Russian military power. For them, membership of NATO is about protection from the Russian threat. NATO membership is a defensive measure for these countries and not aimed as a challenge to Russia. Russia, with its massive army and thousands of nuclear weapons, is well positioned to deter and defend against attack on its territory. Its neighbours don't have that luxury. Putin's unprovoked aggression against Ukraine has reinforced the fears of the smaller countries and raised their incentives for seeking NATO membership. Equally important, Moscow might not have attacked Ukraine if it was already a member of NATO. Gaining membership of NATO has become a matter of greater urgency for Russia's western neighbours. NATO's principle of collective defence — that attack on any member will rally the rest — has now become even more valuable for Russia's eastern neighbours.

Finland and Sweden remained neutral after the Second World War despite the fact that two of their two immediate neighbours — Denmark and Norway — were founding members of NATO that was set up in 1949. They also chose to stay away from NATO, when three neighbours and former members of the Soviet Union — Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania — joined NATO in 2004. But Putin's muscular policies of recent years and Russia's aggression against Ukraine have tilted the scales. Moscow's ill-considered threats against joining NATO have only helped steel the resolve of Finland and Sweden to end their traditional neutrality. Finland and Sweden are important partners for India. Their neutrality during the Cold War had much in common with India's tradition of non-alignment. India had worked with Sweden closely on many global peace and security issues in the past. Delhi and Stockholm were active members of a coalition between neutral and non-aligned nations in the multilateral fora. They joined hands to promote nuclear arms control between Washington and Moscow. The strategic parallel seems to endure. Much in the manner that India has tilted to the US to secure itself against a growing Chinese military threat, the much smaller Finland and Sweden are embracing NATO to save themselves from their aggressive Russian neighbour.

FREEZE FRAME

E P UNNY

K SRINATH REDDY

THE INDIAN COUNT of Covid infected persons, as identified by tests, has risen since April. The actual numbers infected or reinfected would be much higher, as many who were asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic would not have gotten tested. However, it was reassuring that most of those who were infected by a member of Omicron's extended family experienced mild illness. This variant clan's inability to penetrate deeper into the lungs and blood vessels may be partly responsible for this feature. Prior immunity, acquired from earlier infection or recent vaccination, may also have been protective against adverse outcomes.

Despite its mild reputation, Omicron infected a very large number globally and claimed many lives. Most of those who became severely ill were either unvaccinated or not fully vaccinated. Even the definition of who is adequately vaccinated is shifting with one or more boosters being added to the earlier two doses and the interval between vaccine doses being reduced as new variants exhibit their enhanced prowess at infection and immune evasion. Mask mandates, withdrawn when Covid appeared to recede, were reintroduced as case counts started a fresh ascent.

In this ongoing match of wits with the virus, will we reach a state of equilibrium where the virus becomes endemic, with manageable seasonal outbreaks that do not steal lives and seal society? Though some commentators have declared that the virus has already become endemic, it is not yet fully predictable in its evolution, behaviour and impact as new variants keep arising. There is presently no global steady state that can be confidently called “endemic”. All we can say is that the virus is here to stay and appears to be moving in the direction of endemicity. However, the possibility of new recombinant viruses birthing from the womb of global vaccine inequity and a worrisome potential for recycled animal to human transmission creates uncertainty about whether and when a steady-state will be reached.

Even as we keep vigil, restrictions have to be withdrawn in stages. The lifting of mask mandates cannot be whimsically hasty, while the imposition of travel bans and school closures should not be knee-jerk responses. A calibrated response is needed, which provides the right balance of confidence and caution, both in policy measures and personal protection at each stage of an undulating pandemic. Situationally adaptive responses must be dynamically enacted against the constant backdrop of health system capacity buildup for prevention, surveillance and patient care.

India needs to shift from a heightened pandemic reaction to a steady-state response

While flood prevention and control require planning and action at multiple levels of government and society, much of the responsibility lies at the municipal level and involves the active engagement of the community. In endemic Covid too, urban local bodies, panchayats, community-based organisations and citizen volunteers must form a coalition that conducts situational analyses and responds with context-relevant prevention, control and relief measures. Health communication must be effective through community networks to prevent panic and protect against misinformation. Community based mental health services will help to allay anxiety and prevent illness.

Perhaps flood protection measures can provide a model of endemic preparedness. We get rains seasonally every year but don't experience floods annually. When there is a threat of recurrent floods, we raise the level of our embankments to prevent the surge of floodwaters into our cities. We build dams upstream to control downstream water levels in rivers. We create efficient drainage systems to prevent waterlogging in the streets.

We monitor weather patterns to anticipate the threat of floods during extreme weather events. If such events are forecast, vulnerable groups of people are evacuated to safety and people's mobility is restricted to essential services. If not, life proceeds without disruption even when rains arrive. We leave it to routine municipal services to deal with rainwater clearance and sanitation. Even then, we use umbrellas to protect ourselves from getting wet when we are exposed to rain.

Such adaptability is needed when we move from a heightened pandemic response to a steady-state endemic response, while being ready to shift gears when needed. We need to get early alerts of new virus variants, much like warnings of changing weather patterns. When there is a threat of a surge in serious cases, we restrict mobility, continue essential services and pay special attention to the safety of the elderly and those with comorbidities. A multi-sectoral response to a public health emergency, prioritising public safety, would be in order.

In an endemic state, routine health services will suffice for testing and treating cases while maintaining a watch on case counts, clusters and clinical profile of cases. People's mobility will not be restricted but masking in public and crowded indoor locations may be advised when seasonal outbreaks occur. Vulnerable groups of people will be specially protected with vaccine boosters. The general public will be advised of personal protection measures but life will be near normal during times of seasonal spikes which do not become dangerous waves.

Cities will get flooded even without storms if rainwater drainage and sanitation services are poor. Even a seasonal spike in endemic Covid can pose a serious threat if our health services are inadequately resourced and poorly managed. We need greater investments for strengthening our health services through better infrastructure, workforce, public health expertise, information systems and management. This requires constant attention, not just a crisis response.

While flood prevention and control require planning and action at multiple levels of government and society, much of the responsibility lies at the municipal level and involves the active engagement of the community. In endemic Covid too, urban local bodies, panchayats, community-based organisations and citizen volunteers must form a coalition that conducts situational analyses and responds with context-relevant prevention, control and relief measures. Health communication must be effective through community networks to prevent panic and protect against misinformation. Community based mental health services will help to allay anxiety, prevent illness.

Timely vaccine protection must be provided to all who need it without coercion but by building confidence. Still, there will be some who will be highly vulnerable to serious illness during a seasonal outbreak. Civic sensibility must be fostered so that all persons who have any symptoms suggestive of a respiratory illness voluntarily mask up during a seasonal outbreak to protect others. Infected persons must isolate, with the assurance of medical and social support during the period of illness.

If cases build-up, masking outside home must be mandated, so that asymptotically infected persons do not pose a threat. As we walk in the rain, we take care not to splash water on others. Likewise, in endemic Covid, it will be our civic duty not to infect others.

The writer, a cardiologist and epidemiologist, is president, Public Health Foundation of India (PHFI). Views are personal

THE PARTY IS OVER

To stall price spiral, RBI is likely to respond with aggressive hikes

RADHIKA PANDEY

DATA RELEASED BY the National Statistical Office showed that retail inflation had surged to an eight-year high of 7.79 per cent in April, driven by higher food and fuel prices. The former rose to 8.38 per cent driven by double-digit inflation in edible oils and vegetables, while inflation in cereals surged in April because of higher wheat prices. Inflation has now remained above the RBI's upper tolerance limit of 6 per cent for four months in a row.

The second-order impact of higher fuel prices is also visible as inflation in transport and communication surged to nearly 11 per cent, from 8 per cent in the previous month. The April data again showed that rural inflation outpaced urban inflation as the rural consumption basket gives more weightage to food. This is not good news for rural demand, which is yet to show a sustained pick-up.

The latest data also indicates that inflation is becoming broad-based. With the lifting of Covid restrictions and a pick-up in demand, services sector inflation captured by the “miscellaneous” category has surged to 8.03 per cent. And with demand rebounding, the pass-through of higher input costs is also gaining momentum. Considering that demand for goods recovered faster than services, goods producers passed on input costs to consumers. But as services recover, there will be greater pass-through of prices to consumers in the coming months. Concerns about rising services inflation were also reflected in the April S&P Global Purchasing Managers' Index survey for India's services sector. The surveyed service providers highlighted a sharp surge in their operating expenses from March to April prompting them to pass the impact of rising input costs to consumers.

While there may be a slight moderation, inflation is expected to remain above the RBI's threshold of 6 per cent in the coming months. While global food prices measured by the FAO's Food Price Index eased marginally in April, they are still 30 per cent above that in April 2021. The Ukraine conflict continues to impact markets for foodgrains and vegetable oils. Rising fertiliser prices are likely to push up farmers' production costs, leading to high food prices. While the government has extended price support through higher subsidies, if this will be enough to cool prices needs to be seen.

With sticky crude oil prices and continuing supply-side disruptions amplified by the Covid-induced lockdowns in China, the RBI has rightly reverted its focus on inflation targeting. This is needed as central banks around the world are pursuing tight monetary policies to counter inflation. The US Fed followed its 25 basis points hike by another 50 basis points rise in May. These will be followed by hikes of similar magnitude in the coming months. The Bank of England has raised the policy rate by 25 basis points, its highest in 13 years to tackle inflation. Other countries' central banks are also contemplating rate hikes.

In its April policy, the RBI announced the withdrawal of excess liquidity but did not raise the policy rate. The expectation of a sharp spike in inflation led it to announce an off-cycle 40 basis points hike in the policy repo rate. The RBI is now likely to respond with aggressive rate hikes to prevent the price spiral from getting entrenched. By committing to bring down inflation through rate hikes, it bank can anchor inflationary expectations. Unanchored expectations will further fuel inflationary pressures. The continued strength of the dollar index and sharp rupee depreciation in the last few days could impose further pressure on prices through higher imported inflation. This reinforces the need for interest rate hikes.

In addition to calibrated rate hikes, the RBI needs to fast-track the withdrawal of the ultra-accommodative liquidity support provided during the pandemic. It needs to present a revised projection of inflation for the current year and its views on the possible trajectory of interest rates. Rising inflation will cut back discretionary spending and adversely impact consumption that had only just started picking up. There are concerns about a recession in advanced economies as rising prices have started manifesting in a decline in purchasing power and a fall in consumer sentiments. The demand destruction could trigger a moderation in prices. Base metals prices have eased from the peak seen in the last few months.

Monetary policy support needs to be accompanied by fiscal support measures. The policy response will have to be tailored to the evolving geopolitical situation and the paths of commodity and food prices while balancing the imperatives of fiscal consolidation.

The writer is senior fellow, NIPFP. Views are personal

MAY 16, 1982, FORTY YEARS AGO

FALKLANDS ATTACK

BRITISH JETS BOMBED Port Stanley airfield and naval commandos carried a night raid into a West Falkland airstrip destroying a number of aircraft and blowing up an ammunition dump. The attacks were reported by the Defence Ministry on Saturday as British diplomats in the US met Margaret Thatcher to report the progress of talks at the UN. British Sea Harrier jets renewed bombing on the airfield outside Port Stanley, capital of the Falklands, in the first military action in the area in two days. In Buenos Aires, the Argentine military junta said its forces repelled the attack.

PM ON PAKISTAN

PRIME MINISTER INDIRA Gandhi said that Pakistan had not been adhering to the Simla accord since its present military rulers came to power. Pakistan, she said, had been adopting “dubious standards”. On the one hand, that country was talking of friendship with India, on the other, it had been acquiring sophisticated weapons.

CHINESE DELEGATION

AN 11-MEMBER OFFICIAL-LEVEL Chinese team led by Fu Hao has arrived to hold the second round of talks on the border question and other bilateral matters. Fu, a former Vice-Foreign Minister who has come here as a special envoy of the Chinese government, was received at Delhi airport by Eric Gonsalves, Secretary to the External Affairs Ministry.

EVMS IN KERALA

THE CHIEF ELECTION Commissioner is competent under the law to issue such orders as are necessary to rectify any inadequacy in the existent laws to ensure the holding of elections. This also covers the use of electronic voting machine. The machines will be used in the May 19 Assembly elections in the Parur constituency in Kerala.

9 THE IDEAS PAGE

Steering the ship

To ensure quick induction of submarines, India should seek a foreign collaborator to make necessary adjustments, conduct collaborative trials

ARUN PRAKASH

A DAY BEFORE Prime Minister Narendra Modi was due to visit Paris to meet President Macron, the French defence major, Naval Group, announced its inability to participate in India's Project 75-I, under which conventional (non-nuclear or diesel-electric) submarines are to be built domestically. Coming on the heels of similar withdrawals from this competition by Russian and German submarine builders, this is bad news for the crucial project. Some also see it as a coercive tactic by the group to persuade India to buy more of its Scorpene class subs, of which six have been built under licence by Mazagon Docks Ltd (MDL).

A major issue of contention in Project 75-I appears to be the installation of an air independent propulsion system (AIP) on these vessels. Since conventional submarines are propelled underwater by electric-power, battery endurance remains a major limitation. The submarine has to periodically expose itself to draw air for running generators that charge their battery-banks. It was to overcome this major vulnerability that several types of propulsion systems were evolved in Europe using "air independent," closed-cycle diesel or steam engines which would endow conventional submarines with much longer underwater endurance.

While protracted negotiations between the MoD and the French Naval Group were underway, none of the AIP systems had been fully proven. The contract for license-production of six Scorpene's was thus signed in 2005 without including this system. The Pakistan Navy (PN), obviously less risk-averse, acquired an untried French AIP system and installed it on three Agosta 90B submarines in 2008. What invests the P-751 programme with urgency is the fact that with the addition of eight Yuan Class Chinese submarines, the PN may field up to 11 AIP-equipped boats by 2028.

Project 75-I is also the first programme to be progressed under the MoD's new Strategic Partnership concept which ostensibly offers a "level-playing field" to the private sector. In this model, MDL and Larsen & Toubro will choose a foreign submarine-builder for collaboration and offer competing bids to build six modern conventional submarines.

Here a quick look at the genesis and growth of our young submarine arm is useful. While Pakistan had acquired its first submarine from the US in 1963, it was only two years later that the Naval HQ revived an old proposal for creating a submarine arm. Since the USA and UK were offering only surplus WWII vintage submarines, we turned to the Soviets and between 1967 and 1974 acquired eight Foxtrok class boats of contemporary design along with a submarine depot ship.

The Foxtrots, having trained a whole generation of Indian submariners, a timely step for upgradation of capabilities was initiated by contracting for the modern Type-209 hunter-killer submarines built by HDW of Germany. Between 1986 and 1994, four of the Type 209 boats entered service; two built in Germany and two in MDL.

Unfortunately, allegations of corruption in this deal scuttled plans for further indigenous construction. MDL closed its production line, representing a huge loss in terms of wasted skills/expertise and delays in capability accretion for the Indian Navy. However, concurrent negotiations with the USSR had resulted in the induction of 10 improved boats of the Kilo Class between 1986 and 2000.

C R Sasikumar

By now, the Naval HQ had projected the need for a standing force of 24 subs in order to meet the growing threats to India's maritime interests. In 1999, the government accorded approval to a "30-Year Submarine Building Plan," which envisaged the simultaneous serial production of two types of submarines in separate shipyards. One of the two types was to be an advanced submarine of imported design, and it was hoped that the second line would, in due course, deliver a home-grown product, designed by our own naval architects with foreign assistance.

Delays in decision-making stalled the 30-year plan, and since 1999, the navy's submarine fleet has been seeing rapid obsolescence and steady depletion of force-levels. The 2005 contract for building six French Scorpene Class submarines under license from MDL served merely as a palliative measure, but even this programme saw huge delays over contractual issues. The sixth and last submarine was launched in April 2022, a full 17 years after signing of the contract.

With force-levels down to 17 ageing conventional submarines, the Indian Navy looked with hope at the Rs 43,000 crore Project 75-I. Commenced on time, this would have been the seamless follow-on to the Scorpene project; ensuring serial-production, and eventual indigenisation of this vital weapon-platform.

However, policy flip-flops and sluggish decision-making have kept this project in limbo for over a decade. MDL, having launched the last of the Scorpene's, will start running down its state-of-the-art submarine-building facility, losing expertise and highly-skilled workers.

This long-neglected project brooks no further delay, and is important enough to attract the time and attention of our highest decision-makers. A practical way forward is for one of the strategic partners and DRDO to jointly seek a foreign collaborator for P-75I who will install the indigenous AIP on the selected submarine and conduct collaborative trials. Once proven at sea, the indigenous AIP could be installed in all new subs and retro-fitted in the old ones. There will certainly be a price to pay, but the alternative is too bleak to contemplate.

An added complication has arisen from the otherwise welcome development by DRDO of an indigenous AIP system. Based on electrolytic fuel cells, this system produces energy by combining hydrogen and oxygen with only water as the waste product. It has no moving parts and is safer and more efficient than others.

The drawback, however, is that the 8-10 metre-long AIP module has to be installed on a submarine and subjected to stringent underwater trials before the Indian Navy can accept it as "operationally proven" for induction into service. Since installation and trials of this module will be a complex and time-consuming process, three major issues are likely to arise: (a) Who will provide a submarine for trials? (b) who will undertake installation and conduct trials? (c) and most crucially, (d) who in our system will take such crucial decisions in a timely manner?

This long-neglected project brooks no further delay and is important enough to attract the time and attention of our highest decision-makers. A practical way forward is for one of the strategic partners and DRDO to jointly seek a foreign collaborator for P-75I who will install the indigenous AIP on the selected submarine and conduct collaborative trials. Once proven at sea, the indigenous AIP could be installed in all new subs and retro-fitted in the old ones.

There will certainly be a price to pay, but the alternative is too bleak to contemplate.

The writer is a retired Chief of Naval Staff

WHAT THE OTHERS SAY

"Support for membership in Finland and Sweden shows the Russian president's assault on Ukraine has only strengthened the alliance (NATO) Support for NATO membership in Sweden and Finland shows Putin's assault on Ukraine has only strengthened the alliance."

— THE GUARDIAN

Gods aren't crazy, mobs are

Listening to self-appointed interpreters of divine moods will lead us back to the Dark Ages

G N DEVY

IN THE 5TH century BC, the Greek dramatist Euripides understood that there was much at the heart of Tragedy that was comic in essence and much in Comedy that was close to Tragedy. He demonstrated this in Cyclops, a satyr-play, "satyrs" being a kind of second-class gods with the ears and tails of horses. One of the characters Euripides created was Polyphemus, a Cyclops, known for his shrill songs, weird stories and fondness for younger men. However, in Greek mythology, Polyphemus was the son of Poseidon, the god of the seas. Three centuries before Euripides, the poet Homer had shown Poseidon getting violently angry when the epic hero Odysseus makes the one-eyed Polyphemus blind.

Poseidon's rage, which makes Odysseus' voyage home dangerous, raises some intriguing questions: One, do the gods ever get angry? And two, how do mortals know when the gods are angry? The answer, as provided in the Greek myths, was that Hermes, the interpreter, alone knows when the gods are angry. Hermes is the herald of the gods as well as a trickster — somewhat like the Narada figure in Indian myths. He is also considered the god of travellers, thieves, orators and merchants. The institution of interpreters of gods' moods was not an original Greek fancy. In the 33rd century BCE, the Egyptian dynasts known as pharaohs had founded their authority on the claim of their ability to interpret the gods' moods.

A similar echo of "theological hermeneutics" can be seen in India's history in the institution of the Vedic purohit, phonetically close to the Egyptian pharaoh (pronounced "phe-ro-aa"). Not much is known about how the Indus Valley people thought about the gods' wrath. Though their civilisation disintegrated around the 19th century BCE, the Harappans have not left behind archaeological signs about this. Perhaps, the Indus Valley civilisation had no interpreters, no orators and no figure that anticipated Hermes or the Vedic purohit. In sharp contrast to the Vedic purohit, Buddhism had no concept of an interpreter of the gods. Homer was a near-contemporary of Gautama Buddha. The Buddha located misery and grief in the minds of human beings, in their inadequate understanding of reality, and not in the whims of the gods.

Sadly, the purohits managed to oust Buddhism, and soon after, metaphysics rife with superstition came to be seen as "knowledge". The nobler parts of the Vedic and Upanishadic traditions describe anger as a self-destructive emotion. The Bhagavad Gita speaks of anger as a cause of delusion, memory loss and destruction. Yet, when the interpreters of God's mind assume the form of a coercive social institution, God himself becomes the loser. During the second millennium, the Bhakti movement rebelled against the self-assumed role of the purohits as God's interpreters. During the 19th century, the resurgence of Hinduism rested on widening access to the divine for all sections of society. The greatest among our national leaders, Tagore, Aurobindo and Gandhi, accepted the idea of God but made humans the centre of spirituality. B R Ambedkar bravely rebelled against the social domination of the purohits and, in works like Annihilation of Caste and Revolution and Counter Revolution in Ancient India, tried to establish how repressive the idea of the superiority of purohits has been in India's social history. In Europe, Friedrich Nietzsche could speak of the death of God, and after Stalin's coercive policies started hurting people, Louis Fischer, Andre Gide, Arthur Koestler and Stephen Spender used the bold phrase "the God that failed" as the title of a book. In the light of this history of gods and their interpreters, it is absurd in the 21st century to invoke the gods to justify anger among humans.

The ethnography of the interpreters of God's anger should be of interest to those of us who believe in the ideas of justice and the rule of law as upheld by the Constitution. There is a small town called Madhi in the Ahmednagar district of Maharashtra. Every year, thousands of people from nomadic communities get together there and express their devotion to the deity at the shrine. In recent years, the advocates of purohit raj have been gradually blocking the devotees' access to the shrine. When asked if this would make their God angry, many of those nomads replied, "No, our God is not angry, we are angry". They were honest and had not surrendered their ability to think.

Some four decades ago, I used to teach at the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda. There was a small temple inside the campus. When communal riots broke out in the 1990s, one of my colleagues remarked that if the faculty does not side with the majority community, the God on the campus would feel betrayed and angry. This reminded me of a poem by Aurobindo. Eight decades before my time, he had taught on the same campus. Explaining a sudden and unjustified burst of anger, he wrote, apologetically, "It was not me, but my belly's hungry god that was angry."

One knows that it is humans who get angry when there are no jobs and prices continue to go up, or bulldozers raze their houses. In an attempt to divert the people's attention from the hunger in their bellies, clever interpreters point to some trivial gesture or expression as an insult to the gods. Credulous mobs take the cue and attack the misconstrued expression in the work of painters, artists, singers, writers, cartoonists, protesters, critics, opponents, minorities, meek and mild people — all in the name of the gods. Hermes wins; the journey home for Odysseus gets longer; Buddha has to remain in exile. If we continue to be led by the interpreters of the gods' moods, we may as well find ourselves sliding back to the eras before science replaced myth. Historians describe those eras as the Dark Ages.

The writer is a cultural activist

N S GUNDUR

PANDIT RAJSHEKHAR MANSUR (1942-2022), son and disciple of legendary vocalist Pt. Mallikarjun Mansur, passed away in Bengaluru on May 1. He embodied in himself the spirit of the 20th-century Dharwad, which was home to Hindustani classical music and modern Kannada literary culture.

Born in a musical family, Rajshekhar grew up in North Karnataka, the region which boasts a great tradition of Hindustani classical music — Savai Gandharva, Mallikarjun Mansur, Kumar Gandharva, Gangubai Hangal, Bhimsen Joshi, Basavaraj Rajguru and others. Rajshekhar, the only son of the Mansur family, was brought up with seven sisters. Because of the hardships he himself had experienced as a professional musician, Mallikarjun Mansur did not want his son to pursue a career in music. But the musical milieu was so strong at home and in Dharwad that Rajshekhar was destined to be a maestro. It came as a surprise to senior Mansur when he heard of 16-year-old Rajshekhar singing Malkauns at an annual class day in college. His father started teaching him formally when he turned 19, and before that, a lot of informal training had gone into the making of a musician in Rajshekhar by way of his familiarity with ragas as tunes and listening to his father's riyaz at home. Thus, Mallikarjun Mansur became a father-Guru.

As Rajshekhar mentions in a write up that is posted on his website, "There was no father in this Guru when he began teaching a particular raga. There was neither a son when I was learning from him. It would be a purely guru-shishya relationship." The musical journey of the father and the son contributed immensely to the Jaipur-Atrauli Gharana, pioneered by the late Ustad Alladiya Khan (1855-1946) also known as Bade Khan Saheb, and his two illustrious sons — Ustad Manji Khan (1888-1937) and Ustad Burji Khan (1890-1950). The Mansurs, following the tradition of the Khans, kept the Gharana alive by refashioning its core values.

A rasa yatra

Rajshekhar Mansur saw himself as a 'saadhak', in music and literature

For 30 years, Rajshekhar accompanied his father in several concerts and committed himself to the Jaipur-Atrauli tradition of aprachalith (not familiar) and durlabh (rare) ragas. Later, he trained several disciples in India and abroad. His student, both in English literature and music, Mithun once said, "Sir was a true classicist in the pedagogy of music, and he was averse to superficially mixing certain ragas." In his interview with eminent cultural critic Manu Chakravathy, Rajshekhar said that the jod raga was not simply putting any two ragas together, and the notion of a jod raga had a deep philosophical conception and a profound sense of harmony. For him, music was vidya, something to be learnt by hard work and discipline under the direct tutelage of a Guru.

Like any other children born to celebrities, junior Mansur had to struggle with the larger than life personality of his father. It enabled him to grow as a musician as much as it constrained him by putting him under pressure, both socially and professionally. In his memoir, Nanna Rasayatre (1983), Mallikarjun Mansur candidly mentions the conflict between the son and the father. As the memoir describes, Rajshekhar, who preferred to be all alone at home, was an introvert, moody and emotional. As a student, he was bright, and his father wanted him to be a doctor, but he chose to teach English literature. The late bilingual critic G S Amur, who was his teacher at Karnatak University, used to recall that Rajshekhar was a brilliant student. He did especially well in European Classics, the course Amur taught. Later, he studied Linguistics at the University of Wales.

As his literature student at Karnatak University, I saw Rajshekhar struggling to strike a balance between being a professor of English and a musician. When he joined the department, he was cautioned by his scholar-teacher and the then head of the department about riding the two horses, music and literature. But for Rajshekhar music was not a horse to ride but a unicorn to be understood and explored, and thus he always saw himself as saadhak, a seeker.

Though Rajshekhar could not carve a niche for himself as a litterateur in Dharwad, he composed some poems and short stories in Kannada. Moreover, he was a great teacher of literature and influenced generations of students like me to pursue literary studies seriously. While he looked thoroughly Indian in his music concerts, in our class his British RP marvelled us. The way he taught us Aristotle's Poetics made us inquisitive scholars; he was so erudite that he presented different translations of Aristotle and a variety of commentaries. And the way he read literary texts, for example, G B Shaw's Saint Joan (1924) enthralled us; he brought music into the dialogues he read aloud. When he taught American Literature, especially Emily Dickinson and Eugene O'Neill, he moved us to tears. He was a charming teacher and we boys were jealous of him as girls admired his personality. He also had the possibility of being a great critic, and his article on Raja Rao's Kanthapura (1938), published in a research journal, is one of the best critical pieces I have ever read.

Rajshekhar could also have been a musicologist. Apart from demonstrating ragas as a pedagogue, he deeply reflected on the practice of music. He used to advocate that when we learn any art form, we should keep in mind three components — manan, chintan and manthan. A great takeaway from the teacher who taught us music and literature.

The writer is professor, Department of Studies and Research in English, Tumkur University

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE RIGHT CODE

THIS REFERS TO the article, 'How to frame the Uniform Civil Code' (IE, May 14). India is a country with people practising many different religions. The framing of the UCC falls within the purview of Article 44, which is a directive principle. As the writer aptly said, before framing UCC, there is a need to make a preliminary review of all the existing acts. The loopholes in the existing acts should be removed first.

Aditi Pangarkar, Pune

THIS REFERS TO the article, 'How to frame the Uniform Civil Code' (IE, May 14). Modern democracy is established through a social contract between the state and citizens. The UCC would make civil rights equal for every citizen irrespective of religion, caste, gender, or region. The author has rightly pointed out the need to shun all regressive laws in the formation of UCC. According to the Constitution, UCC should be country-wide. State-level UCCs, as recently debated in the country, would create more discrepancies among citizens. The government law department needs to study various norms followed by different religious communities in India and outside and bring out the best suited for its citizens in matters of civil rights just like the Constitution was tailor-made for Indians.

H Upadhyay, via email

CHANGE THE LAW

THIS REFERS TO the article, 'A question of consent' (IE, 14th May). The debate around marital rape has indeed led to questioning the "foundation" of marriages. There are often two issues around the subject of marital rape — first, it will challenge the institution of marriage. To this, the pillars of marriage should be mutual respect and not the submission of the wife's authority over her body to her husband. Second is the concern of proving "fake" marital rape cases. While the matter might be a little complex, we have a robust system to make and implement laws.

Saumya Shukla, Munger

SECURITY CONCERNS

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'Soft target' (IE, May 13). It is painful that the Kashmiri pandits continue to be an easy target for terrorists. That our security forces are failing to gain the upper hand in their fight against them shows that there are flaws and gaps in our strategy put in place for this purpose. It is not out of place to mention that targeted killings are not possible without local support. While we must hit our targets the hardest, we must also be accommodative and flexible to those caught in the crossfire. We must not be seen to be caught in a cleft stick.

Tarsem Singh, Mahilpur

TOP OF THE WORLD

Macron with UAE's Sheikh Mohammed bin Zayed Al Nahyan. AP

THE GULF

World leaders descend on UAE to pay respects to late ruler

AN ARRAY of presidents and prime ministers continued to descend on the UAE on Sunday to pay their respects to the federation's late ruler. They also came to praise his successor, Sheikh Mohammed bin Zayed Al Nahyan — a vivid sign of Abu Dhabi's influence in Western and Arab capitals. The first Western leader to jet to the oil-rich emirate was French President Emmanuel Macron. He met Sunday with Sheikh Mohammed to pay tribute to Sheikh Khalifa bin Zayed Al Nahyan, the long-ailing ruler who died Friday at the age of 73. British Prime Minister Boris Johnson was expected to arrive later, along with other leaders including Israel's president after the two countries opened formal relations in 2020. A US delegation led by Vice President Kamala Harris is due to visit the UAE on Monday. AP

USA

US to remove 5 from foreign terror blacklist

THE US is poised to remove five extremist groups, all believed to be defunct, from its list of foreign terrorist organisations, including several that once posed significant threats. Although the groups are inactive, the decision is politically sensitive for the Biden administration and the countries in which the organisations operated. The organisations include the Basque separatist group ETA, the Japanese cult Aum Shinrikyo, the radical Jewish group Kahane Kach and two Islamic groups that were active in Israel, the Palestinian territories and Egypt. AP

LEBANON

Mired in collapse, country to choose new parliament

THE PEOPLE of Lebanon voted for a new parliament Sunday against the backdrop of an economic meltdown that is transforming the country and low expectations that the election would significantly alter the political landscape. A new crop of candidates from the 2019 protest movement are running against the country's entrenched ruling class that is blamed for the collapse, hoping to unseat them. But they are divided and lack the money, experience and other advantages held by traditional political rulers with a decades-long grip on power. AP

IRAN

Filmmaker: Many movie industry workers arrested

AN AWARD-WINNING Iranian filmmaker said authorities raided the offices and homes of several filmmakers and other industry professionals and arrested some of them. Mohammad Rasoulof said in a statement signed by dozens of movie industry professionals on Instagram late Saturday that security forces made some arrests and confiscated film production equipment during some recent raids. AP

18-YR-OLD GUNMAN DROVE HOURS TO BLACK-MAJORITY AREA: POLICE

10 shot dead in live-streamed 'racially motivated' attack at US supermarket

Suspect surrenders to cops; 'manifesto' reportedly written by him says attack inspired by 2019 Christchurch shooting

REUTERS

BUFFALO (NEW YORK), MAY 15

AN 18-YEAR-OLD white gunman shot 10 people to death and wounded three on Saturday at a grocery store in a Black neighbourhood of upstate New York, before surrendering after what authorities called an act of "racially motivated violent extremism".

Authorities said the suspect, who was armed with an assault-style rifle and appeared to have acted alone, drove to Buffalo from his home several hours away to launch the afternoon attack that he broadcast in real time on social media platform Twitch, a live video service owned by Amazon.com.

Eleven of the 13 people struck by gunfire were Black, officials said. The two others were white. The racial breakdown of the dead was not made clear.

Court papers named the suspect as Payton Gendron of Conklin in New York state.

He was arraigned hours after the shooting in state court on first-degree murder charges, which carry a maximum penalty of life in prison without parole, said Erie County District Attorney John Flynn. New York has no capital punishment.

According to local media reports, the teenager was a student at State University of New York's Broome Community College near Binghamton.

When confronted by officers at the store, the suspect held a gun to his own neck, but they talked him into dropping the weapon and surrendering, Buffalo police commissioner Joseph Gramaglia told a news briefing.

Gramaglia said the gunman shot and killed three people in the parking lot of the Tops Friendly Markets outlet before exchanging fire with a retired police officer working as a security guard for the store, but the suspect was protected by his body armour.

Stephen Belongia, the FBI special agent in charge of the bureau's Buffalo field office, said the attack would be investigated both as a hate crime and as an act of "racially motivated violent extremism" under federal law.

Erie County Sheriff John Garcia said: "It was a straight-up racially motivated hate crime from somebody outside of our community."

US President Biden decried the shooting as "abhorrent to the very fabric of this nation" in a statement issued late Saturday. "Hate must have no safe harbour. We must do everything in our power to end hate-fuelled domestic terrorism."

New York Governor Kathy Hochul told a late-evening news conference she was dismayed that the killer managed to live-stream his attack on social media, which she blamed for hosting a "feeding frenzy" of violent extremist ideology.

Twitch said in a statement that it removed the livestream less than two minutes after it started.

In addition, a 180-page manifesto outlining 'The Great Replacement Theory' — the idea that white people are being replaced by minorities — also circulated online, reportedly authored by Gendron. It said he drew inspiration from the man who killed 51 people at two mosques in Christchurch, New Zealand, in 2019. Police declined to comment on the document.

Near the site of the shooting in Buffalo, New York, on Saturday. AP

A grisly inspiration for racist attacks

A gunman who had professed racist views attacked two mosques in Christchurch, New Zealand, on March 15, 2019, killing 51. This seems to have inspired several others to commit similar acts, including the Buffalo gunman. A look at some of them:

APRIL 2019: Prosecutors said a man who killed one person and injured three in an attack on a synagogue near San Diego during the Jewish holiday of Passover was inspired by the shootings in New Zealand.

AUGUST 2019: A gunman who killed 23 people in a crowded shopping centre in El Paso, Texas, posted a long note minutes before the attack. In it, he wrote, 'In general, I support the Christchurch shooter and his manifesto.'

The suspect is detained after Saturday's shooting in Buffalo, New York. Reuters

AUGUST 2019: A 22-year-old Norwegian man who was sentenced to 21 years in prison for killing his stepsister and opening fire on a mosque said during his trial that he was inspired by the New Zealand massacre.

The New York Times

N Korea taking 'swift measures', reports more Covid deaths

REUTERS

SEOUL, MAY 15

NORTH KOREA said on Sunday a total of 42 people had died as the country began its fourth day under a nationwide lockdown aimed at stopping the impoverished country's first confirmed Covid-19 outbreak.

North Korea's admission on Thursday that it is battling an "explosive" Covid-19 outbreak has raised concerns that the virus could devastate a country with an under-resourced health system, limited testing capabilities and no vaccine programme.

State news agency KCNA said the country was taking "swift state emergency measures" to control the epidemic.

"All provinces, cities and counties of the country have been totally locked down and working units, production units and residential units closed from each other since the morning of May 12 and strict and intensive examination of all the people is being conducted," KCNA reported on Sunday.

Small wins buoy Ukraine; West says Russians losing momentum Finland, Sweden take a step closer to joining NATO

OLEKSANDR STASHEVSKIY & CIARAN MCQUILLAN

KYIV, MAY 15

ALMOST THREE months after Russia shocked the world by invading Ukraine, its military faced a bogged-down war, the prospect of a bigger NATO and an opponent buoyed Sunday by its wins on and off the battlefield.

Finland decided to seek NATO membership as top diplomats from the Western alliance met in Berlin. The leaders of the militarily neutral country said the invasion had changed Europe's security landscape — though NATO's chief declared that "Russia's war in Ukraine is not going as Moscow had planned."

"Ukraine can win this war," NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg said, adding that the alliance must continue to give the country military support.

Several hours later, Sweden's governing party also endorsed joining NATO, a move that could lead to the country's application within days.

DIVYA GOYAL GOPAL

LUDHIANA, MAY 15

TWO SIKH men were shot dead in Peshawar city in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province of Pakistan Sunday, local sources said.

The local Sikh community identified the deceased as shopkeepers Ranjit Singh, 42, and Kuljeet Singh, 38. They were sitting at their shops at Batta Tal Chowk in Sarband area when two men arrived on a motorbike and opened fire, the sources said.

Satwant Singh, member of Pakistan Sikh Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee (PS-GPC), said it appeared to be a case of "targeted killings".

The Islamic State's Khorasan unit claimed via its propaganda news service 'Amaaq' that it carried out the attack

This is the second incident against the minority community in Peshawar in the last eight months. In September last year, a Sikh shopkeeper, Satwant Singh, was shot dead at his dawakhana (traditional medicine shop) in Peshawar. The Islamic State Khorasan or ISIS-K, had claimed responsibility for that killing, too.

After the killings on Sunday, the local Sikh community in Peshawar blocked Grand Trunk Road and took out a march demanding justice and protection from the government. They also demanded adequate compensation for the families of both deceased. The slogans of "Jo bole so nihaal. Sat Sri Akal", "Stop targeted killings" and "We want justice" reverberated during the protest march.

Speaking to The Indian Express, Balbir Singh, a local gurdwara sewadar-cum-school teacher, said that "enough was enough and now local Sikh community settled in Peshawar had no patience left to tolerate more of such targeted killings".

Members of the Sikh community protest in Peshawar on Sunday. Express

"No Sikh family here in Peshawar has any personal enmity or grudge against anyone. We all are poor people who just go for work every morning but we and our families live in this constant fear if we will return home alive in the evening or not. Killers come, barge into our shops, put guns to our heads and simply shoot. There is no fear of any law and order. Sikhs are shot dead simply because they are religious minorities. This persecution of Sikhs has to stop. Each Sikh living in Pakistan loves their country very much, we are proud of being Pakistanis but then our people are being shot dead every other day without any fear. Humein Pakistan se mohabbat hai par hum yahaan aman se rehna chahte hain (We love Pakistan but we want to live here in peace)," said Balbir, adding that there were around 500 Sikh families settled in Peshawar who mostly run spices, grocery and medicines shops.

Local Sikh community members said that since 2014, there have been at least 10 such incidents in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province when unidentified accused came and targeted Sikhs. While some of them were injured, others lost their lives. "Dr Soran Singh in 2016, Charanjit Singh in 2018, Ravinder Singh in 2020 and Satwant Singh in 2021... the list is endless. Sikh minority group members are being persecuted in Pakistan but there's no action and no fear," said a local resident.

— WITH PTI INPUTS

Sri Lanka PM extends support to protesters telling President to quit

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

COLOMBO, MAY 15

SRI LANKA'S new Prime Minister, Ranil Wickremesinghe, has extended public support to the protesters who have been camping at a popular beachfront here for over a month calling for President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's resignation with the country facing its worst-ever economic crisis.

Wickremesinghe said on Saturday that he appointed a committee to look after the interests of the 'Gota Go Home' village protesters who have been camping at Colombo's Galle Face Green since April 9.

It was President Gotabaya Rajapaksa who appointed Wickremesinghe as PM after asking his elder brother Mahinda Rajapaksa to quit.

Wickremesinghe said the young protesters in the village would be safeguarded and their views would be sought for the shaping of future policy.

In an interview with the BBC Sinhala Service, the Prime Minister said the 'Gota Go Gama' protest should be continued to bring a change in the political system in the country and let the country's youth take the responsibility to lead.

A protester hangs decorative lanterns to mark Buddha Poonmima or Vesak at an ongoing protest site outside the President's office in Colombo on Sunday. AP

Wickremesinghe, the 73-year-old United National Party (UNP) leader, was appointed as Sri Lanka's 26th prime minister on Thursday as the country was without a government since Monday when Mahinda Rajapaksa resigned after violence erupted following an attack on the anti-government protesters by his supporters.

Talks with World Bank, ADB

Meanwhile, on Sunday, Wickremesinghe held discussions with representatives of the World Bank and the Asian Development Bank on the current economic crisis in the country, as India delivered the 12th shipment of diesel containing over 400,000 metric tonnes of fuel to the island nation.

THE KALUSH ORCHESTRA WON EUROVISION WITH THEIR ENTRY 'STEFANIA'

For Ukrainian fighters, Eurovision heralds coming victory over Russia

SERGIY KARAZY

MAY 15

GATHERED IN a basement used as safe quarters north of Kyiv a small group of Ukrainian soldiers joyfully watched their country win the Eurovision Song Contest, saying it heralded their coming victory in the war to evict Russian forces from Ukraine.

The Kalush Orchestra won the Eurovision with their entry Stefania, surfing a wave of popular support from all around Europe to claim an emotional victory that was welcomed by the country's president.

"We had a victory: today in

Reuters

Ukrainian service members celebrate (left) the victory of the Kalush Orchestra (right), a band from Ukraine, during the final of the 2022 Eurovision Song Contest. Reuters

Eurovision, but soon we will have a victory in Ukraine—

Russian war," said Tetyana, a military medic, standing in the basement decorated with children's paintings of Ukraine flag and "Glory to Ukraine" signs on them.

AP

The tired-looking but happy servicemen had sat around a screen, some tapping rhythmically on their knees when Kalush performed, and when the winner was announced they clapped and cheered with delight.

"We will also win," said Vitaliy, a soldier. "We have shown that we can not only fight, but we can also sing very nice."

The Russian invasion, now in its third month, has claimed thousands of civilian lives, sent millions of Ukrainians fleeing and reduced cities to rubble.

Moscow calls its actions a "special military operation" to disarm Ukraine and protect it from fascists. Ukraine and the West say the fascist allegation is baseless and that the war is an unprovoked act of aggression.

The southern port city of Mariupol has suffered the heaviest fighting, and while it is now in Russian hands there hundreds of Ukrainian fighters still holding out at the Azovstal steel works despite weeks of heavy bombardment.

Stationed far to the north, closer to the border with Belarus, soldiers in the basement paid homage to the bravery of their comrades in the south.

"The next Eurovision we will host in liberated Mariupol," Vitaliy, the serviceman, said. REUTERS

12 ECONOMY

SECTOR WATCH
INSURANCEIrdai douses
'Burning Cost', premiums may fall for India IncGEORGE MATHEW
MUMBAI, MAY 15

WHAT IS THIS COST

■ Burning Cost is defined as a kind of break-even cost where the higher claims in the portfolio will automatically lead to higher premiums to be collected in the subsequent year

PAVING THE way for lower insurance premiums for India Inc, insurance regulator Irdai has said that 'Burning Cost' can't be quoted by general insurers as a 'mandated minimum rate' to charge premiums to customers.

The new notification by the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (Irdai) on the role of 'Burning Cost' — which is a reversal of its earlier stand — will now help insurers to lower the premiums for customers, insurance sources said. However, whether it will lead to under-cutting of prices leading to cut-throat competition and under-writing losses remains to be seen. The new situation will be detrimental for the reinsurers who had seen their fire premium going up in the last two years, industry analysts said.

Burning Cost is defined as a kind of break-even cost where the higher claims in the portfolio will automatically lead to higher premiums to be collected in the subsequent year. In a bid to bring in underwriting discipline and checking rampant under-pricing, leading to large underwriting losses in the Indian general insurance industry, Irdai had earlier asked the general insurers to stick to the 'Burning Cost' as prepared by the Insurance Information Bureau of India (IIBI), a data mining body for the Indian insurance industry set up by Irdai, to price any product. The regulator said it has been receiving several complaints from policyholders, both directly and through various platforms such as industry associations, that insurers are referring to the 'Burning Cost' as a 'mandated minimum rate'.

As a result, in FY2019-20, state-owned GIC Re and other reinsurers, foreign reinsurance branches (FRBs), had increased its fire premium by almost 30 per cent on the basis of higher 'Burning Cost', which, in turn, was passed on to India Inc by the general insurers.

However, the latest Irdai move will allow general insurers to extend appropriate discounts once again. "The objective of the IIBI publishing details of Burning Costs occupancy-wise is only to give information to insurers with regard to industry-level experience for appropriate use while rating risks. By no means does this even remotely imply that this is a 'mandated minimum rate'," Irdai said.

The regulator said it expects insurers to consider all applicable risk factors for rating a risk and give appropriate discounts or charge loading as warranted. The rating approach shall be part of the technical note filed under the Use and File/File and Use procedure as the case may be, Irdai said. Insurance sources said burning cost itself was a fallacy as it ignores all kinds of exposures for the insurers and always the price needs to be greater than burning cost for long-term viability. If this can't be followed either driven by reinsurers or underwriting discipline of insurers, we will be returning to the anarchic days of pricing and be back soon to the difficult days of pre-2019," said a reinsurance official.

Full report on
www.indianexpress.com

EXPLORATORY TALKS WITH SINGAPORE AIRLINES

Vistara could merge with AI, decision likely by end of 2023PRANAV MUKUL
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

TATA SONS has held exploratory talks with Singapore Airlines (SIA), its joint-venture partner in Vistara, for a potential merger of the airline with Air India, multiple sources told The Indian Express.

SIA is learnt to have asked for time until the end of next year to decide whether it wants to go ahead. Tata Sons is the holding company of the Tata Group, which took over Air India from the government earlier this year. Vistara is the only other full-service carrier in India.

"The Tatas and Singapore Airlines have discussed the merger possibility earlier this year. SIA had even agreed to join the Tata bid for Air India but because of the pandemic, it decided to back out given its poor financial condition," one of the persons aware of the development said on condition of anonymity.

SIA had waived the non-compete clause in Vistara's contract to allow the Tata Group to bid for the national carrier. Air India is now fully owned by the Tata Group, while Vistara is a 51:49 joint venture between the Tatas and SIA. "SIA has asked for time till the end of 2023 to decide whether it wants to go ahead with the merger or not. What they're looking for is some stability in their financial condition, and that of Air India's operations post the disinvestment," the source said.

"Discussions on how much equity Singapore Airlines will hold in Air India will be held once it has finalised its intention to merge," the source added.

An Air India aircraft at Chandigarh airport. File

According to this person, the appointment of Air India's new chief executive is a step in the direction of the possible merger. The Tata Group on Thursday announced the onboarding of Campbell Wilson, a Singapore Airlines veteran and CEO of its low-cost unit Scoot.

Wilson's appointment as Air India's CEO & MD was made with the "full blessings" of Singapore Airlines. "The two groups sat together and took the call to appoint Wilson at Air India. The decision has been taken with a long-term perspective. Wilson has global aviation experience and comes with long-term commitment to lead Air India's turnaround," another source said. Singapore Airlines CEO Goh Chong Phong had said on Thursday: "Campbell is one of our most experienced senior executives who has made many important contributions in key management roles within the SIA Group. While we are sad to lose him, he goes to Air India with our full blessings."

On Friday, in his farewell note to Scoot employees, Wilson wrote:

"...There are other mountains to climb, and I am humbled to have been selected by Air India's board as the airline's new CEO. It is a fantastic opportunity to lead a historic airline, now owned by the Tata Group, to new heights, and I am grateful to embark on that exciting challenge with the full blessings of the SIA management team." The Tata Group won the bid to acquire Air India in October 2021, and the airline was transferred to its new owner in January. Vistara was launched in 2015.

Responding to a question from The Indian Express on the possible merger of Air India and Vistara, a Singapore Airlines spokesperson said: "We do not comment on any confidential discussions that we may or may not be having with our partners".

Tata Sons had not responded to an email seeking comments by the time of publication of this report on Sunday.

The Singapore Airlines Group reported a loss of SGD 4.3 billion (approximately Rs 23,851 crore) for the financial year ended March 2021 as passenger volumes fell 97.9% during the period. The group posted its first quarterly profit since the onset of the pandemic during October-December 2021.

Air India posted a net loss of Rs 5,422.60 crore for the first half of 2021-22. The Tata Group has laid out a roadmap for the recovery of Air India, and to turn it around financially and operationally.

In Vistara, the JV partners have built a premium airline brand. During the January-March period, the two airlines together had a domestic passenger traffic market share of 18.7%.

The Tata Group also owns a majority stake in the low-cost airline AirAsia India, which could be merged with Air India's budget subsidiary Air India Express. Last month, Air India sought approval from the antitrust regulator Competition Commission of India to acquire AirAsia India.

A merger of Air India and Vistara would articulate Tata Sons chairman N Chandrasekaran's philosophy of "synergise", given that the two airlines complement each other in some ways.

They have identical fleets with Airbus A320 family aircraft in the narrow-bodied fleet meant for domestic and short-haul international routes, and Boeing 787 aircraft for medium to long-haul international routes. Air India also has Boeing 777 aircraft for its flights to the United States.

While Vistara has been established as a premium airline brand in the domestic segment, Air India's strength lies in the international markets, especially the US and Europe. Currently, Air India is the only Indian carrier that flies to the US; Air India and Vistara are the only ones that fly to Europe.

'84% of staff feel organisation culture improved since Covid'

Around 84 per cent of employees globally say the organisation's culture has improved since the start of the pandemic, an EY Survey said

As employers shifted gears

providing more flexible work options, there is more that they will need to invest in — that includes higher pay and overall brand building of the organisation

Methodology

The survey canvassed the views of over 1,500 business leaders and more than 17,000 employees across 22 countries and 26 industry sectors. In India, the responses are captured by more than 100 business leaders and more than 500 employees

36% OF EMPLOYER RESPONDENTS SAY THEY WANT EMPLOYEES TO COME BACK TO THE OFFICE FIVE DAYS A WEEK

As many countries emerge from the pandemic, employees have gained significant influence over their employers and that their 'wish list' from potential employers is changing

Source: EY/PTI

SBI hikes MCLR again, second in 1 month

ENSECONOMICBUREAU
MUMBAI, MAY 15

SBI branch, New Delhi. File

STATE BANK of India (SBI), India's largest bank, has hiked its marginal cost of funds-based lending rate (MCLR) by 10 basis points across tenures with effect from May 15.

This is SBI's second hike in MCLR in the last one month.

SBI's overnight, one-month, three-month MCLR now stands at 6.85 per cent as against 6.75 per cent earlier. Similarly, the six-month MCLR stands at 7.15 per cent, one-year MCLR stands at 7.2 per cent, two-year MCLR stands at 7.4 per cent, and three-year MCLR stands at 7.5 per cent.

SBI's hike follows the Monetary Policy Committee decision to jack up repo rate by 40 basis points to 4.4 per cent. In April, SBI had increased its MCLR by 10 bps before the MPC hiked its benchmark rate by 40 basis points.

RBI to review asset quality of PSBs tomorrow

BANIKINKAR PATTANAYAK
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

DAYS AFTER the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) hiked the repo rate for the first time in almost four years, governor Shaktikanta Das will meet chiefs of public sector banks (PSBs) on May 17 to review credit flow and assess the outlook on asset quality, sources told FE.

Das may also take stock of state-run banks' strategy to deal with the rising interest rate sce-

Ashima Goyal
on rate hikes

New Delhi: The RBI is not "behind the curve" in hiking interest rate to tackle rising inflation, Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) member Ashima Goyal has said.

nario without upsetting growth dynamics, they added.

The Governor will also review

Frauds in PSBs dip
51% to ₹40,295 cr

New Delhi: Public sector banks reported over 51 per cent dip in the amount involved in frauds to Rs 40,295.25 crore during the fiscal ended March 2022, the RBI has said. PTI

PSBs' collection efficiencies, consumer grievance redress mechanism, digital banking units, lending to government entities, IT infrastructure and cyber security framework and any issue that the lenders may like to present, said sources.

"PSBs are preparing presentations on various aspects of their operations. The governor would probably like to have bankers' feedback as to how they are planning to cope with the new reality of elevated rates and tight liquidity conditions, and what could be the impact on banks' lending, asset quality and the broader operating environment," a source said. FE

Adani to buy
49% stake in Quintillion
Business Media

New Delhi: AMG Media Networks, a unit of Gautam Adani's conglomerate Adani Enterprises, will pick a 49 per cent stake in Raghu Bahl-curated digital business news platform Quintillion Business Media Pvt Ltd for an undisclosed sum, according to a regulatory filing.

Earlier in March, Adani Enterprises announced its foray into the media business by acquiring an unspecified minority stake in Quintillion Business Media Ltd (QBML).

It has signed a Shareholders' Agreement with Quintillion Media Ltd (QML) and QBML and a share purchase agreement with QML, QBML and Quint Digital Media Ltd (QDML) in connection with its proposed acquisition of a 49 per cent stake in QBML, said Adani Enterprises in a late-night regulatory filing on May 13. PTI

Govt: Constraints
in availability of domestic coalENSECONOMICBUREAU
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

THE COUNTRY is facing constraints in the domestic coal availability and the rest of the dry fuel demand needs to be met with imports, according to the Coal Ministry.

The ministry has also emphasised that coal block holders — both captive and commercial — have a major role to play in mitigating the coal shortfall situation. Domestic coal production is about 800 million tonnes, according to the coal additional secretary, who is also the chairperson of an inter-ministerial panel on coal linkages for the power sector.

The inter-ministerial panel

A thermal plant, Punjab. File met recently to consider the requests for coal linkages to central/state sector power plants and to review the status of existing coal linkages. "...rest of the coal demand has to be met through imports from other countries", according to the minutes of the meeting on fuel linkages. WITHPTI

RBI OFFICIALS TO PARLIAMENTARY PANEL

'Cryptos can lead to dollarisation of economy'JATIN TAKKAR
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

CRYPTOCURRENCIES CAN lead to "dollarisation" of a part of the economy which would be against India's sovereign interest, top officials of the RBI have told a parliamentary panel, according to sources.

Briefing the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Finance chaired by former minister of state for finance Jayant Sinha, top officials of the RBI, including Governor Shaktikanta Das, clearly expressed their apprehensions about cryptocurrencies and said these pose challenges to the stability of the financial system, sources told PTI.

"It will seriously undermine the RBI's capacity to determine monetary policy and regulate the monetary system of the country," a member of the panel quoted RBI officials as saying. Central bank officials said these currencies "can replace a part of monetary system it will also undermine the RBI's capacity to regulate the flow of money in the system". PTI

India's merchandise trade deficit hit an all-time high of $192.4 billion in FY22 on the back of record high imports worth $610.2 billion and exports worth $417.8 billion. High growth in exports and imports has continued in this fiscal, with inbound shipments growing about 31 per cent year-on-year in April, boosted by high prices of commodities such as crude oil and coal.

The depreciation of the rupee is also set to make outward remittances, including those to students in the US, more expensive. Experts said the depreciation might impact the decision of students planning to study in the US going forward.

Experts noted that the rupee was unlikely to see further depreciation against the dollar for a sustained period in the first half of this fiscal. "As far as the rupee is concerned, we believe that with foreign exchange reserves still being large, it's unlikely to be a situation of disorderly depreciation. So, we now feel that for the rest of this half would be Rs 75-79 (against the dollar)," said Aditi Nayar, chief economist at Ica, adding that she expected that the rupee might fall below its recent low but was unlikely to remain there for a long period.

India adds
8.8 mn jobs
in Apr: CMIE

Kolkata: As many as 8.8 million people joined the workforce in April, as per data provided by the Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy (CMIE).

However, the jobs that became available were inadequate compared to the demand, it said.

India's labour force increased by 8.8 million to 437.2 million in April, one of the largest monthly increases since the beginning of the pandemic, CMIE managing director and CEO Mahesh Vyas said.

The country's labour market was at 428.4 million in March, he added. In 2021-22, the average monthly increase in the country's labour force was 0.2 million, as per the data. The report said that an 8.8 million increase in labour force participation was only possible if some working-age people who were out of jobs joined the working population in April. PTI

BRIEFLY

Paytm, insurance

New Delhi: Paytm said it will seek a nod for a new general insurance licence with a fresh application.

Maruti capex

New Delhi: Maruti Suzuki India has lined up Rs 5,000 crore capex for various initiatives, said a senior official.

HCL Tech, jobs

New Delhi: HCL Tech plans to double headcount in near-shore locations in 3-5 years, CEO CVijayakumar said. PTI

IMF lifts weighting of dollar,
Chinese yuan in SDR basketREUTERS
BEIJING, MAY 15

THE INTERNATIONAL Monetary Fund said on Saturday it has increased the weighting of the dollar and Chinese yuan in its review of the currencies that make up the valuation of its Special Drawing Rights (SDR), an international reserve asset.

The review is the first since the yuan, also known as the renminbi, joined the basket of currencies in 2016 in what was a milestone in

FIRST SINCE 2016

■ The review is the first since the yuan, also known as the renminbi, joined the basket of currencies in 2016

Beijing's efforts to internationalise its currency. The IMF raised the US currency's weighting to 43.38 per cent from 41.73 per cent and the yuan to 12.28 per cent from 10.92 per cent. The euro's weighting declined to 29.31 per cent from 30.93 per cent, the yen's fell to 7.59 per cent from 8.33 per cent and the British pound fell to 7.44 per cent from 8.09 per cent.

The IMF said in a statement its executive board had determined the weighting based on trade and financial market developments from 2017 to 2021.

"Directors concurred that neither the COVID-19 pandemic nor advances in Fintech have had any major impact on the relative role of currencies in the SDR basket so far," the IMF said.

INDIAN BADMINTON TAKES GIANT LEAP: FROM THE SEMI-FINAL SPOT IN 1979 TO TOP OF THE WORLD IN 2022

Feather floats in the sky

Indian players and coaching staff with their medals and trophy after winning the Thomas Cup in Bangkok on Sunday. AP

Dreamy day of drama for Indian badminton, great depth takes team to new high at Thomas Cup

SHIVANI NAIK
MAY 15

WHEN WAS India last able to boast about 'killer instinct' in its sportspersons while simultaneously triggering meltdowns and chokes in three massive powerhouses? India's Thomas Cup final triumph was all about comebacks - Lakshya Sen and Satwik-Chirag's in their matches, and Kidambi Srikanth's from three years in the oblivion. Also, HS Prannoy's from wondering whether all his big scalps without titles amounted to much.

Like the World Championships in December, young Lakshya Sen led the way.

India's not too familiar with the American collegiate idea of sophomore blues, but various versions of impending doom have been buzzing around Lakshya Sen, and his imminent struggles after being figured out on the international circuit. An unprecedented Thomas Cup final, where he had been battered in quarters and semis, was to test his mettle when he took to the court. Losing the opener 21-8 against Anthony Ginting, the damning prophecy began buffering. Then, Sen snapped.

Taking a 7-3 and 11-7 lead playing at a faster clip, Sen would parry Ginting's attempts at pinning him to the deep forehand corner by retrieving relentlessly. Sen's defense is an addictive watch, an assured pulse-metre spike as he scurries around the court chasing down the bird from all manners of balanced and imbalanced positions. It's vertiginous from an eye level because the quality big his strokes rises as the rally goes on. Ginting had him trapped in the corners in the opener, but lost confidence in his masterstroke the moment Sen sent back the shuttle.

He then played into Sen's hands. Rather into his brain, frustrated at being retrieved at the far lines. Anyone who knows Sen knows that is an invitation in bold and underlined to trouble. Any shuttle close to his body with his torquing torso is Sen's strength and he happily started winning the longer rallies - including a 46-shot one, which annoyed Ginting even more.

The Indonesian is a speed fiend, and does-

MINUTES OF THE MEETING

FIRST RUBBER: LAKSHYA'S SENSATIONAL COMEBACK

Sen beats Ginting 8-21, 21-17, 21-16

Game 1: Sen struggles with the drift as the Indonesian dictates play to open up a four-point lead at the interval. After restart, Ginting wins 12 straight points. Game 2: A stunning 46-shot rally is the highlight of the game, with the Indian retrieving everything that Ginting throws at him to win the point. Sen grows in confidence and levels the tie with a brilliant cross-court winner. Game 3: A subdued Sen trails by four points behind at the interval. After the change of sides, Sen drags Ginting into longer rallies, tests his patience and begins to claw his way back to win the match rather comfortably in the end.

SECOND RUBBER: DOUBLES DELIGHT TO GO 2-0 UP

Satwik-Chirag beat Ahsan-Sukamuljo 18-21, 23-21, 21-19

Game 1: The Indonesians race to a 17-11 lead with consistent attacking play. Chirag-Satwik try to stage a fightback with some attacking play but service errors cost them dear.

n't like those speed breakers. At 18-15, while levelling, Sen reaped the rewards of his defense, which earned him the right to kill at unexpected junctures within a frenetic rally. There was a gorgeous looking round the head smash from his little hop-step after all that blur of sweaty retrieving. He even treated himself to a cute long serve, and finally watched Ginting deflated while dumping a return into the net for a 21-17 set score.

Into the decider, Ginting looked like he'd seen a ghost. Sen was now sending the cross-court smashes with aplomb, but looking unfussed if a long rally was needed to bide his time. Ginting's smashes landed in the net now. At 16-14 Sen was galloping the breadth of the net now - a clear sign that scores were irrelevant, his attack was a juicy steak on a green, leafy, crunchy bed of defense now.

Sophomore blues might well be on the horizon, but on Thomas Cup finals day, Sen

Game 2: After taking a five-point lead, Chirag-Satwik make uncharacteristic errors and are unable to deal with their opponent's tempo. Ahsan-Sukamuljo get four match points but the Indian duo saves all four to force a decider. Game 3: Nothing separates the two pairs throughout the decider but Chirag-Satwik play fearlessly throughout to earn two match points. The Indonesian save the first. Then, Chirag produces a cross-court smash to convert the other and give India a 2-0 lead.

THIRD RUBBER: SEALING IT WITH A STRAIGHT-GAMES WIN

Srikanth beats Christie 21-15 23-22

Game 1: Srikanth wastes little time in getting into the groove. He constructs his points beautifully to stay ahead despite Christie constantly finding ways to fight back. But Srikanth controls the pace of the game and pockets the game. Game 2: The Indian begins sharply but makes three back-to-back errors, which gives his opponent some confidence. Tense exchanges followed the change of ends, with momentum swinging both ways right till the end. But Srikanth shows no nerves to win the match.

had dialled back his days of romping across the All England and World Championships courts. India took a 1-0 lead laced with hope.

Doubles magnifique

Satwik-Chirag were alert and moving well, but had still gone down 0-1 on set score to Indonesia's legendary Kevin Sanjaya Sukamuljo and Mohd Ahsan. They took a 12-8 lead in the second, but then allowed the Indonesians to pick 12 of 14 points to hike up to 14-19. At 17-20, the Indians were staring at 3 match points.

But through the course of the second set, Satwiksairaj Rankireddy had roused from his strictly steady zone to begin to put a lot of shoulder on his downward strokes. Chirag Shetty has been pulling this team like a yellow headband-rimmed steam engine all week. But the gentle giant Satwiksairaj had woken up. He would muscle up the smashes with such a rip, that Ahsan and Kevin were beginning to get rattled. At 20-18, Ahsan dumped a nervous smash into the net.

The Indians had taken more than giant-killing reputation into this tie after disposing of Malaysia and Denmark. In winning all doubles against the top nations, Satwik Chirag had announced their whistling return to winning ways. The two can bully on the court, and the fact that they don't often make it even more menacing when they do. Kevin-Ahsan flubbed four match points. It was surreal, as the Indians went 20-all, 20-21, 21-all, 22-21 to finally have Satwik bisect the Indonesians with his steep smash to level 23-21.

The Indians have lost so many from 20-18, it was a delicious sight to watch them turn the tables on opponents. In the decider, leafs were traded, but 13-16 didn't look dire. Piling on the pressure with Satwik belting away his smashes, the Indians easily turned 17-19 to 20-19. Their audacity in not giving too much respect to Indonesia's big names, brought India 2-0 up.

Comeback 2. Check.

Srikanth's case has been a protracted period of three long years in the wilderness, hearing broken tape of how he had wasted his talent from random strangers on Twitter to coming into contention again. The World Championship silver medallist had waited for his body to patch up all the niggles so he could freely express his game. Yet the December event had ended in a lost final against Loh Kean Yew. In Bangkok, Srikanth's comeback was 6 out of 6 matches played and won. He had been parrying off second singles till quarters, but in Anders Antonsen and Jonatan Christie, he had two bonafide Top Tens. He made mincemeat of the rankings, of all history, of their gnashing resistance on the day, with mere great shot selection and an error-free game.

All he touched was marked gold, though Christie attempted comebacks and stayed calm. But Srikanth's class was far too much for the Asian Games gold medallist to find any rhythm when he was left scrambling to return the Indian's delectable bouquet of racquet work.

Reflexive backhand returns in response to tight spinning net dribbles, saw him sticking his hand out for the most defensive of winners at 8-7 in the second. The iconic net charging follow-up to a smash brought him match point, and the crosscourt smash set fire to the curtains of the dramatic day.

3-0 ain't dramatic as a whole. But every moment was for a pulsating nation back home, giddy with anticipation of a historic Sunday.

PM INVITES TEAM, AWARDS POUR IN

Calling India's Thomas Cup triumph as one of the country's finest sporting wins, Prime Minister Narendra Modi invited the shuttlers to his residence on returning from Bangkok.

$1 million: Prize money for winning the tournament.

Rs 1 cr: Amount the Indian players to get from BAI

Rs 1 cr: Cash award announced by Sports Minister Anurag Thakur.

Three shot stories

Lakshya Sen's relentless retrieving abilities, Srikanth's silken strokes and Chirag-Satwik flexing their muscles: the points that defined the matches

Lakshya Sen (R) in action against Indonesia's Anthony Ginting. AP

AT 14-13, LAKSHYA SMASH THAT HELPED HIM NOSE AHEAD

The shuttle clipped the tape and fell on Anthony Ginting's side to give Lakshya Sen a slight edge at 14-13 in the decider. Luck ought to favour the brave, goes the saying. Sen had earned his luck with a relentless defense that prolonged rallies and punctured Ginting's hopes in a way the defending champion wasn't prepared for. Sen had done the hard work of defending from four corners, and for a player like Ginting, this cancelling of his attack with such bullheadedness was beginning to grate.

Sen started again the next point, maintaining a medium rhythm in his retrieves before he let rip the kill against the run of play. It was an accelerated down smash that hurried the pace mid-rally and gave him the 15-13 to nose ahead. The explosive attack on the back of a harp of defense was too much for the speed at top gear Ginting.

SRIKANTH'S DUBSTEP AT 22-21

Asked his favourite shot, aside of the winning point that is, Srikanth picked the penultimate one. "Because that brought me match point," he would say.

But 22-21 in the second had indeed been the signature Srikanth Dubstep. In a sparse rally, Srikanth amped up the pace for a near-kill which could've sufficed on its own. But the likes of Jojo Christie get under the smash invariably. It's in the follow up charge to the net that the opponent is far too spent to raise arms for yet another incoming bamboozler. It is Srikanth's confidence shot, it's regal in its execution, and stomping in its aftereffect.

On the day, it brought Srikanth the match point after being 19-20 down and a decider looming. A third set is always fraught with energy reserves dipping and in a team event. Srikanth has never been a dawdler, and finishing in 2, asserting his class is his nature. Jonatan Christie doesn't get frazzled much. But the setup that fetched him the championship point left him deflated. A crosscourt smash that followed didn't need even the driving in of the knife. A poke drew blood, and India had a maiden Thomas Cup travelling on a flight back home.

DOWN 4 MATCH POINTS, CHIRAG-SATWIK UNLEASH POWER GAME

Kevin Sanjaya Sukamuljo, half of the legendary Minions, losing a Thomas Cup final rubber from four match points is unheard of.

That the Indians, Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty chipped away at Indonesian confidence, at their self-image even, at what is at the core of their strength, and superbly executed with the building of pressure by the Indians, was the turning point of the final which ended in a disbelieving 3-0 result. The clutch of points were all about finding the right nuanced placement and not bullying speed as such.

At 17-18 Kevin Sanjaya had the most confident smash grazing the line pointing to accuracy and control. In the next few minutes, Indians incited anarchy. Satwik left shyness behind, and uncoiled his powergame.

Coach Boe basks in reflected glory after guiding Indian doubles pair

SHIVANI NAIK
MAY 15

MATHIAS BOE had been going through withdrawal symptoms. His chosen poison turned ailment: top-grade badminton. The former Thomas Cup winner and Olympic silver medallist, who retired two seasons ago, had not really come to grips with being away from the circuit. He immersed himself in his business, and his personal life. "But I missed winning like this at the top events. I'm happy India gave me the chance to experience this once again," said India's doubles coach (inpic), who helped the newly-minted Thomas Cup champions pull off a sensational 3-0 win against all-time leaders Indonesia in the final.

Boe has always shared a great equation with Chirag Shetty. And was guiding him along with video analysis online at the All England even when he wasn't formally the India coach. India's efforts to bring Malaysian Tan Kim Her as specialist doubles coach had fallen through, and India's top pairing was looking and feeling rudderless. Playing at the topmost level, but without an experienced brain ticking behind on the coach's chair.

"The Malaysian appointment almost came through and then it didn't. And Chirag contacted me and asked if I was available for a short term. I've always had a good equation with Gopi, so we spoke. But these things need higher-ups involved. It was also a good offer for them to sign me. And now here I am in Bangkok, having won the Thomas Cup again," Boe said, happy and amazed.

He would guide the Indians through wins against Malaysia and his home nation Denmark - two highly-tactical battles against mercurial opponents that needed clarity of strategy. And his typically belief-inducing pep talks. At the Tokyo Olympics, the Indians beat the eventual champions, but went out in the group stage - leaving a whiff of unfinished business.

"Since the Olympics, it's really something I've missed doing. It's what I like. But my body grew old, and I couldn't play on the circuit any longer. I missed competing deeply. So, I was happy to be back and help in this capacity. It comes naturally to me to inspire others to win," Boe said.

Second coming

He would return to Mumbai and imme-

Satwiksairaj Rankireddy (L) and Chirag Shetty celebrate after their win. AP diately change a few things in the training regimen. "As players, they need sparring partners. But I also changed a bit of their style of play and how they communicate." The Indians had gotten into a rut, losing narrow matches, and flubbing 20-18 advantages on match points. "As a recent player, I had an idea of what's running through their minds. They also needed someone to scream at them," he added.

It was an unreal team effort. And India will now realise how big this result is given only 6-7 countries have won Thomas Cup before. This will count as one of the biggest moments of Indian sport... I hope India really move away from the underdog tag and push forward and defend this crown like favourites."

MATHIAS BOE
DOUBLES COACH, INDIA

While the group games ended with India going down to the Chinese Taipei pair a day before the quarters, Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag had the last laugh. Their belief in the process never dipped. "Quarters was tremendous pressure because losing would mean no medal," he says. India pipped Malaysia 3-2.

Denmark was a challenge not because Boe had to plot against his former teammates. But because Indians needed the confidence bolstered in their gameplan. "Finals was also that one sole shot at glory. And I didn't want us to miss it. I'm happy for myself and I'm happy I got the chance to feel this," he reiterated.

He would watch in awe as the team spoke to Prime Minister Narendra Modi for 10 minutes. "It was an unreal team effort. And India will now realise how big this result is given only 6-7 countries have won the Thomas Cup before. This will count as one of the biggest moments of Indian sport," Boe said, adding his favourite moment will always be "the Srikanth projectile coming down." "Lakshya and my boys also fought, of course."

His day-after wish? "I hope India really move away from the underdog tag and push forward and defend this crown like favourites."

Vimal refers to 1983 moment

PTI adds: Coach Vimal Kumar on Sunday hoped the triumph would do the same to the country's shuttle sport what the 1983 World Cup win did to cricket. "We always had hopes but the way the players played, they just put up a performance out of the blue," Kumar said. "In 1983, when India won the cricket World Cup, the euphoria was something else but cricket was always a very popular sport and I hope with this performance, now badminton can also become so popular. It has always been about individual achievements but this was a team performance and I hope the popularity of the sports goes up from here on."

Royals' big stride forward

Rajasthan beat Lucknow by 24 runs to move to second, inch closer to play-offs

SYNOPSIS: Rajasthan Royals move to 16 points, second only to Lucknow Super Giants, after their strong attack comfortably defends what appeared to be a par total.

ABHISHEK PUROHIT
MUMBAI, MAY 15

IT WAS a strange sort of Powerplay from Lucknow Super Giants. Even if the ball was coming on to the bat, the Brabourne Stadium pitch wasn't an outright belter. Still, Quinton de Kock tried to force Trent Boult on the up through a cordon of backward point, point and cover, and found the middle fielder. Ayush Badoni was sent at No.3 for some quick runs but Boult trapped him plumb in front first ball with an inswinger. After seeing two wickets falling in two deliveries, KL Rahul went into a shell for a couple of overs, even leaving regulation length balls outside off.

Was it because Yashasvi Jaiswal had taken 20 off the last over of RR's Powerplay, or was it because LSG were 23 for 2 after five overs? Suddenly, Rahul, on 4 off 16, switched to hyper-attack mode; he lofted Prasidh Krishna for a gorgeous six over extra cover, but then sliced a short ball into point's hands two balls later. From 29 for 3, it was going to take some chasing against the likes of Yuzvendra Chahal and Ravichandran Ashwin. Chahal went for a few, unlike the unhittable Ashwin, but also had Deepak Hooda stumped for 59 off 39 in the 16th.

If the spin duo wasn't enough, left-arm seamer Obed McCoy, in just his third IPL game, was hard to get away with his slower-ball variations, from dipping full deliveries to sticky bouncers.

Padikkal presses on

Since he almost messed up RR's chase against Punjab Kings with a 32-ball 31 last week at Wankhede Stadium – where he was mishitting even wide balls to fielders – Devdutt Padikkal has been a transformed batsman. On a difficult DY Patil Stadium surface where the ball was holding up, he began to play attacking strokes as soon as he came in against Delhi Capitals. It was not a pitch where he would get everything off the middle of the blade, but the intent was unmistakable. To that 48 off 30, he added 39 off 18 at the Cricket Club of India on Sunday.

These were much better batting conditions, of course, but Padikkal is usually someone who likes to get at least some feel of the

Trent Boult struck early to remove Quinton de Kock and Ayush Badoni. sportspics

IPL TABLE

TEAM	M	W	L	PT	NRR
GT	13	10	3	20	0.391
RR	13	8	5	16	0.304
LSG	13	8	5	16	0.262
RCB	13	7	6	14	-0.323
DC	12	6	6	12	0.210
KKR	13	6	7	12	0.160
PK	12	6	6	12	0.023
SRH	12	5	7	10	-0.270
CSK	13	4	9	8	-0.206
MI	12	3	9	6	-0.613

Gujarat Titans secure top-2 finish

Mumbai: Wriddhiman Saha's solid 67 not out after a top-class bowling performance set up Gujarat Titans' seven-wicket win over Chennai Super Kings in the IPL securing a top-two finish in the team standings.

Gujarat bowlers put up a clinical show to restrict CSK to a below-par 133/5 despite a fine half-century by Ruturaj Gaikwad. Saha, who struck eight boundaries and a six in his 57-ball knock, anchored the chase nicely to get Gujarat home.

While CSK were already out of the play-off race, the win for Gujarat guarantees them a top-two finish on the points table in their debut season, providing them with two opportunities to reach the final.

Saha first added 59 runs in just 7.1 overs with Shubman Gill (18; 3x4) to lay the foundation of the win. CSK tried to make a mini comeback by grabbing two quick wickets in the middle overs.

BRIEF SCORES: CSK 133 for 5 in 20 overs (Ruturaj Gaikwad 53, N Jagadeesan 39 not out; Mohammad Shami 2/19, Rashid Khan 1/31) lost to GT 137/3 in 19.1 overs (Wriddhiman Saha 67 not out; Matheesha Pathirana 2/24).

Heat puts athletes' health at risk in Delhi state competition

ANDREW AMSAN
NEW DELHI, MAY 15

THE DELHI state meet last week was one of the most gruelling athletics events of this season. It wasn't the level of competition that drained the athletes though but the unforgiving heatwave. Temperatures have been rising unabatedly in the Capital with the mercury soaring beyond 45 degrees at the measuring station closest to Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium on Sunday.

Athletes, coaches and officials could be seen with towels wrapped around their heads as they carried on with the show. But the worn-out practice area, open on all sides, unlike the main stadium, provided no respite. The worst-affected were, unsurprisingly, the athletes who not only had to compete in such extreme weather but also warm up and cool down.

Dr Rajesh Prasad, an orthopaedic and sports science specialist, says competing in such harsh conditions will not only hamper performance but in extreme cases, can also cause health complications.

"One should not try to run in such adverse conditions unless you're adequately hydrated and acclimatised to the heat. Enzyme activity drops at higher temperatures and adversely affects an athlete's performance. There are chances of heatstroke, muscular cramps, nausea, and heat syncope (fainting)," Dr Prasad said. "Cramps and exhaustion are fine but heat syncope can be dangerous and lead to further complications."

The participants had no option but to bear the oppressive conditions. "I usually train at six in the morning to avoid the heat. But here, I had no choice and the weather was really harsh. My performance was affected by the heat. I could have definitely done better," said Ananya Singh, the winner of the U-20 3000m event on Sunday.

Ananya, who was left drenched in sweat after her race, wasn't alone. Several athletes complained of cramps and dehydration post their events. "The heat is unbearable. My throat is dry and hurting because of the heat. It was even tougher for me because I had to compete in two events," complained Keshav Tanwar who won gold in the men's 400m and 400m hurdles.

Official explanation

Delhi State association secretary Sandeep Mehta admitted that the heat was a serious cause of concern and was deliberated upon in the run-up to the event. "We have to follow the international calendar and organise competitions timely. We scheduled the long-distance events in the early morning and started an hour later in the evening. If we don't conduct the meet, how will we select a team for the upcoming Inter-State meet in Chennai?" explained Mehta.

An athlete cools down at the JLN Stadium in New Delhi on Sunday.

Despite the planning, organisers had to conduct the 3000m and 3000m steeplechase in Sunday's evening session when temperatures were above 40 degree Celsius, as "no other slots were left."

"A lot of my athletes were drained by the heat. They could have pushed the evening sessions further and ended around 8," said a coach.

Athletes who had travelled from the outskirts in groups camped under trees waiting for their turns. "My competition is in the evening but I have come with my team so will have to wait here till 4," said a junior athlete resting on a mat under one of the trees.

Usually at state-level meets, athletes are mostly seen buzzing around the results desk to get instant updates. But this week, most athletes were seen hovering near the water stations set up for the event. "The water station is a lifesaver. They are giving us chilled water and cold drinks for free. We can take as many servings as we like," said an athlete as she gulped down a bottle.

Despite the postponement of the Asian Games this year, it is a busy athletics calendar with the Junior Worlds, World Championships and Commonwealth Games. The next major domestic competition is the Inter-State Meet in Chennai slated for June. "I think Delhi athletes will do better there because we have already faced such harsh conditions," joked a middle-distance runner.

BRIEFLY

Zareen, Anamika, Parveen enter quarterfinals

New Delhi: Asian Championships bronze medallist Nikhat Zareen (52kg) continued her splendid run as she stormed into the quarterfinals alongside Anamika (50kg) and Parveen (63kg) in the World Boxing Championships in Istanbul on Sunday. Nikhat made light work of Mongolia's Lutsaikhan Altantsetseg to win by a 5-0 unanimous verdict. Parveen then displayed her attacking prowess to out-punch former Youth Olympic champion Jajaira Gonzalez of USA 5-0, while Anamika dispatched world championships bronze medallist Kristy Lee Harris of Australia with a similar margin. But, it was curtains for Shiksha (54kg), who went down by a 2-3 split decision to Youth Asian bronze medallist Yesugen Oyuntsetseg of Mongolia. Nikhat was the first Indian in action on Sunday and she completely dominated from start to finish in her round of 16 bout. The Telangana boxer used her quick hands to great effect and landed a flurry of straight punches on her rival's face in all the three rounds. The highlight of Nikhat's display was her immaculate footwork and speed, which the Mongolian found difficult to handle. PTI

Djokovic beats Tsitsipas for first title of the year

Rome: Novak Djokovic raised his first trophy of the year at the Italian Open on Sunday and showed that he's back in top form exactly a week before the French Open starts. After missing a large portion of the season because he wasn't vaccinated against the coronavirus, the top-ranked Djokovic beat Stefanos Tsitsipas 6-0, 7-6 (5) for his sixth Rome title. "I've been building my form the last few weeks," Djokovic said. "It couldn't be better timing coming into Roland Garros." "Perfect scenario for me," Djokovic added later. Earlier on the red clay, Iga Swiatek defended the women's title by overwhelming Ons Jabeur 6-2, 6-2 to extend her winning streak to 28 matches. Djokovic didn't drop a set all week, having won his 1,000th career match over Casper Ruud in the semifinals. AP

GOTTA BE TOUGH. GOTTA BE THE TOUGH URBAN.

Tough, sporty and comfortable. That's the Tough Urban. Now, tackle the city in style.

CREATE. INSPIRE.

Scan the QR code for more details about the Ignis.

Also available Via subscription. Scan to know more.

IGNIS

COMPACT URBAN SUV

17.78 cm Smartplay Studio (Available from Zeta variant onwards)

High Ground Clearance and SUV-LIKE stance

Auto Gear Shift

Spacious and Comfortable Interiors

1.2L VVT Petrol Engine

NEXA Safety Shield
Standard Across All Variants

- DUAL FRONT AIRBAGS
- ABS WITH EBD
- PEDESTRIAN PROTECTION COMPLIANCE
- COMPLIANT WITH -
 - FULL FRONTAL IMPACT
 - FRONTAL OFFSET IMPACT
 - SIDE IMPACT

Features and accessories shown may not be part of standard fitment. Black Glass Shade on the vehicle is due to the lighting effect. Images used are for illustration purposes only.

VISIT YOUR NEAREST NEXA DEALERSHIP OR LOG ON TO www.nexaexperience.com TO AVAIL EXCITING OFFERS UP TO ₹ 36 000*.

Contact us at 1800-200-6392
1800-102-NEXA

www.nexaexperience.com
NOW YOU CAN ALSO BOOK ONLINE

*Finance scheme details mentioned above are at the sole discretion of financier and terms and conditions as specified by the financier shall apply. For more details, please contact your nearest NEXA dealership. Features and accessories shown may not be part of standard fitment. Black glass shade on the vehicle is due to the lighting effect. Images used are for illustration purposes only. Offers vary across variants. Maruti Suzuki India Limited reserves the right to discontinue offers without notice.

NORTH DELHI NEXA PITAMPURA KRISH MOTORS PH: 783855047 NEXA DWARKA SECTOR 9 MAGIC AUTO PH: 7290075604	NEXA WAZIRPUR COMPETENT AUTOMOBILES PH: 9811478982 NEXA AKSHARDHAM FAIRDEAL CARS PH: 9999525161	NEXA ROHINI SECTOR 10 JAGMOHAN AUTOMOTIVES PVT. LTD. PH: 7290054935 NEXA PATparganj MAGIC AUTO PH: 8929400503	NEXA NARELA DD MOTORS PH: 9081900800 NEXA DILSHAD GARDEN COMPETENT AUTOMOBILES PH: 8377007962	NEXA GT KARNAL ROAD RANA MOTORS PH: 7289999111 NEXA GOKULPURI VIPUL MOTORS PVT. LTD. PH: 9870194313	NEXA RAJOURI GARDEN TR SAWHNEY AUTOMOBILES PH: 9999525750 NEXA PREET VIHAR TR SAWHNEY AUTOMOBILES PH: 7290091122	NEXA MOTI NAGAR AAA VEHICLES PVT. LTD. PH: 8448993400 NEXA DARYAGANJ TR SAWHNEY AUTOMOBILES PH: 8929200160	NEXA DWARKA SECTOR 14 COMPETENT AUTOMOBILES COMPANY PH: 9599947807 NEXA OKHLA PHASE 1 PREM MOTORS PH: 011-42900000, 7065074531	NEXA PUNJABI BAGH DD MOTORS PH: 7838555076 NEXA EAST OF KAILASH RANA MOTORS PH: 9999788886	NEXA MAYAPURI KRISH AUTOMOTORS PH: 7838555076 NEXA MATHURA ROAD PASCO AUTOMOBILES PH: 9999120572
NEXA LAJPAT NAGAR BAGGA LINK MOTORS PH: 9818199367 NEXA NIT BVA AUTO PH: 129471212	NEXA SAFDARJUNG ENCLAVE TR SAWHNEY AUTOMOBILES PH: 7290099520 NEXA PALWAL CENTRAL AUTOMATION PH: 9311864040	NEXA SECTOR 1 ROHAN MOTORS PH: 9811800980 NEXA MG ROAD PASCO AUTOMOBILES PH: 9711290001	NEXA SECTOR 63 VIPUL MOTORS PH: 9999499797 NEXA SECTOR 10 FAIR DEAL CARS PH: 9953993450	NEXA INDIA AREA GREATER NOIDA ROHAN MOTORS PH: 8376800044 NEXA SECTOR 29 GURUGRAM TR SAWHNEY AUTOMOBILES PH: 9999525740	NEXA IMT MANESAR PLATINUM MOTO CORP PH: 9953345301 NEXA INFOCITY SEC 34 COMPETENT AUTOMOBILES PH: 7290025353	NEXA SAHIBABAD MOTORCRAFT SALES PH: 8130582222 NEXA UDYOG VIHAR VIPUL MOTORS PH: 7404666666	NEXA IDC SEC 14 GURUGRAM PREM MOTORS PH: 0124-4444000, 7065074501 NEXA IDC SEC 14 GURUGRAM PREM MOTORS PH: 7082100301	NEXA BATA CHOWK VIPUL MOTORS PH: 9599814771 NEXA SOHNA PASCO AUTOMOBILES PH: 9899961000	NEXA DELHI ROAD DINCO 4 WHEELS LLP PH: 7082100301

SMART FINANCE
AN ONLINE END-TO-END CAR FINANCE SOLUTION

Scan to know more.

Multiple financiers
Digital Document Upload
Live Loan status
Complete transparency (associated fees & charges)